Revised Proposal for New Undergraduate Major in World Literatures

Note: This proposal is being returned from the meeting of February 3rd

Approved with suggestions and reservations. 1 dissenting vote.

- Include more examples of constructions that students can make and how the program can be structured.
- Include a sample program that shows the major can be constructed historically.
- AAAS 367 needs to be removed from the course list. By definition, 367s are U.S. social diversity-based and cannot fit into a global category.
- Turkish 641 - this course appears to consist of outside perspectives talking about Turkey. It was suggested that this course be reconsidered.
- Stipulate that the oversight committee should include 1 member from Comparative Studies and 1 member from English, as a literature department with the highest number of courses included.
