Description:

In this class we'll examine the representation of marginal subjects in Latin American contemporary cultures. How are these subjects represented discursively and visually? Can they speak by themselves? Or are they always represented through the Other's discourse? We will reflect on these topics from four different axes: the ethnic (indigenous women), the sexual and gender (diverse sexualities), the racial (shantytown youth) and the crazies. From these multiple social, political, and cultural differences (age, gender and sexuality, class, racial and ethnicity), an analysis on the strategies, the possibilities, the contradictions, and the limits of representation of these marginal subjects through narrative, poetic and visual texts will be performed.

Expected Learning Outcomes: Students are expected to consolidate their competence in Spanish, particularly their oral fluency through class participation and oral presentations, their reading abilities through the in depth use of primary texts and intermediate theoretical and critical essays, and their writing skills through the formulation of comments and questions and the writing of a research paper. The latter will ultimately prepare them for their transition to graduate studies.

Grading scale

Research project draft	15%
Final essay (research project)	30%
Question/comments for each class	20%
Oral presentations	20%
Participation	15%

Requirements:

Participation: A senior seminar is a discussion based class. Your consistent participation is a key component of our learning environment. In this class, reading all readings for the week is absolutely required. We expect you to come to class ready to discuss the readings, to articulate questions about what you did not understand, and to help your classmates understand something you did understand. Therefore, no more than two (2) unexcused absences will be allowed. In the case of more than two unexcused absences, your grade will be affected in the following way: each two unexcused absences, you will lose half a letter (from A to A-).

Questions: You are required to formulate one question/comment in relation to the text or texts to be discussed in each class. Send them by email to me the day before the scheduled class.

Research Project: You will pursue a research project that will focus on a specific topic chosen according to your interests but in consultation with the professor. A list of possible topics will be posted in Carmen. Moreover, Carmen will be used to flesh out the ideas and concepts previously discussed in class. The project will be presented in two steps: first, a midterm draft (4-5 pages) due April 23rd, in which the main topic and major lines of argumentation are discussed; it should include the bibliography. Second, the midterm should be reworked and edited as a final paper (8-10 pages) due June 4th. All of these must be written in Spanish. For this paper, students must use the contents of texts and ideas discussed in class and a minimum of five scholarly bibliographical sources.

Oral presentations: You will organize two in-class presentation-discussions. The first one will deal with one of the texts discussed within the class schedule. The second one will be about your research project for the final paper. A written outline of the main points to be discussed is due two weeks before the presentation.

Academic Misconduct: Plagiarism is the representation of another's works or ideas as one's own: it includes the unacknowledged word for word use and/or paraphrasing of another person's work, and/or the inappropriate unacknowledged use of another person's ideas. All cases of suspected plagiarism, in accordance with university rules, will be reported to the Committee on Academic Misconduct.

Disability: Students with disabilities that have been certified by the Office for Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated, and should inform the instructor of their needs. The Office for Disability Services is located in 150 Hall, 1760 Neil Avenue; telephone 292-3307, TDD 292-0901; <http://www.ods.ohio-state.edu/>.

In the unlikely event of class cancellation due to emergency, I will contact you via email and request that a note on department letterhead be placed on the door. In addition, I will contact you as soon as possible following the cancellation to let you know what will be expected of you our next class meeting.

Any essay that is not turned in on due time will be penalized with a weekly lower letter or half a letter by missed class. For instance, if your grade is an A but it was turned in a week after the deadline, your grade will be lowered to a B. If your grade is an A but the essay was turned in just one day of class late, the grade will be an A-
