State the need and purpose of the course. Indicate how the course relates to the primary goals of the academic unit/school/college/university.

This course will explore the many complex relationships between religion and environmental movements. Students will learn to analyze the beliefs and practices of a range of religious traditions and their differing views of nature, with a focus on North America and differences between Native American and Christian perspectives, but with attention to world traditions as well.

Indicate the nature of the program adjustments, new funding, and/or withdrawals that make possible the implementation of this new course. Evidence must be given of whether the budget support will come from reallocation of existing resources or from new program funds.

This course is an addition to the department's religious studies offerings. It will be yearly by a current faculty member.

Is approval of this request contingent upon the approval of other course or curricular requests? Yes No
