TO: Larry Krissek, CCI Chair
FROM: James Fredal, CCI Sciences Subcommittee Chair
RE: Semester Conversion Proposals for Communication Minors

Date: April 11, 2011

Larry:

The Sciences subcommittee of the CCI reviewed semester conversion proposals for three Communication Minors (Organizational Communication, Communication, and Media in Society) at their meeting on January 24 and voted unanimously to approve all three with a few minor contingencies, which have been addressed. Though a couple of the minors are listed as new, they are all in fact straight conversions from their quarter versions (as explained in Gene Mumy's letter).

We also approved the Communication Technology Minor on April 11 with two contingencies:

- They need to include a statement to the effect that 6 hours of electives must be taken at the 3000 level or above (it is currently possible to take only two credit hours at the advanced level).
- They also need to rephrase their learning goals to be student centered (and parallel with their other minors). Alternatively, they could simply delete those goals.

With the unanimous approval of the subcommittee, I forward these 4 Communication minor proposals to the full CCI with a recommendation for approval.

Thanks very much.

Jim

Chairs of Arts and Sciences CCI and CAA

Dear Chairs:

At the undergraduate level the School of Communication has two major programs:

The Communication Bachelor of Art with three areas of concentration: 1) Strategic Communication; 2) New Media and Communication Technology; and 3) Communication Analysis and Practice.

The Public Affairs Journalism Bachelor of Art (a tagged degree).

In her cover letter, School Director Carroll describes the careful consideration given by the School to the semester conversion plans for all programs, especially these two majors and the minimal changes made to the majors in the conversion. The only changes worth noticing at all are the repackaging of some courses into more concentrated modules.

It also needs to be noted that even though the Journalism BA is a tagged degree students taking that degree do the regular GE for BAs in Arts and Sciences. As a result the credit hour table in PACER is filled in following the rules for an untagged degree rather than accounting for all of the GE in hours for the major.

The conversion plans for both majors were reviewed and endorsed by the Social Sciences Disciplinary Advisory Panel (SS DAP). As a result I approve Communication's conversion plans for its two majors and submit them for CCI's consideration.

At the undergraduate level Communication also has four minors. In addition to the General Communication minor, there are three specialized minors:

- A) Communication Technology
- B) Media and Society
- C) Organizational Communication

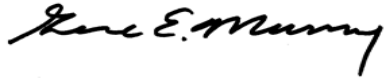

The three specialized minors were developed during 2007 and were approved as new minors in Spring 2008; and the general minor was reassessed at the same time. Because of technical issues with PACER the Communication Technology and Organizational Communication minors are listed as new, when they are in fact straight conversions of the minors approved in 2008 at 20 quarter credit hours. Indeed all of the minors are straight conversions because they are new or were reconsidered as part of the 2007-2008 process. As a result the SS DAP has endorsed the semester versions and I have approved them and submit them for CCI's consideration.

At the graduate level Communication offers the Ph.D. and MA. In her letter, School Director Glynn notes that much thought was given to the structure of the programs but in the end the faculty was satisfied with the current structure of the programs and both were converted with very minimal change.

The approval process for all Ph.D. and MA programs in SBS was that all of them were first examined and discussed for feedback and improvement by the SBS Graduate Committee, which is made up of the graduate directors. When ready for final consideration in the Division they move to the Social Sciences Disciplinary Advisory Panel (SS DAP). For other graduate programs in SBS the departments work with the associate dean and then the programs are sent to the SS DAP when ready.

The SS DAP has approved the Communication Ph.D. and MA programs after minor changes and I endorse that decision and now submit them to CAA and the Graduate School for their consideration.

Sincerely,

Subject: Program Conversion

The School of Communication is pleased to recommend the adoption of the enclosed materials for semester conversion. These materials include templates for the following programs:

Program:

Ph.D., Communication
M.A., Communication
BA, Communication (sub-plan in Strategic Communication)
BA, Communication (sub-plan in New Media and Communication Technology)
BA, Communication (sub-plan in Communication Analysis and Practice)
BA in Journalism, Public Affairs Journalism

Minors:

Communication (general)
Organizational Communication
Communication Technology
Media and Society

Our conversion, as with all major curriculum initiatives and revisions, followed the School of Communication Pattern of Administration guidelines through discussions and deliberations involving all department faculty. In this instance, these discussions and deliberations were pursued by our Semester Conversion Committee, discussions with all departmental faculty by area and at faculty meetings, discussions amongst the chairs of the Undergraduate and Graduate Studies committees with the department chair, and solicited input (including focus group discussions) from undergraduate and graduate students. In addition, we sought advice and information about experiences from benchmark institutions that had undergone calendar conversion in recent years.

Our Associate Director for Planning and Research and our Associate Director for Undergraduate Studies worked with our Undergraduate Program Coordinator and members of the faculty representing each area of study to develop our undergraduate plans. The Director of Graduate Studies and members of the School of Communication Graduate Studies Committee worked together to put together the M.A. and Ph.D. semester conversion graduate programs.

Votes were taken within committees and at faculty meetings to develop consensus in support of the programs. The plans were presented to the full School of Communication faculty and feedback was provided and taken into account in revisions. A final vote was taken and results were strongly supportive of the proposed semester conversions of our undergraduate and graduate programs as reflected in these documents.

We believe that we have followed all guidelines and provided what is required at upper administrative levels. While our programs fall within the scope of 'minimal programmatic changes,' our faculty and staff had put a great deal of thought and effort into the conversion. In addition, we have sought input from our graduate and undergraduate students, conducted focus groups on semester conversion as well as on what they would like to see changed, examine potential overlap in courses with the transition to semester, run simulations for course enrollments for majors and non-majors with the move to semesters. In addition, we have developed plans for staffing courses with faculty and graduate teaching assistants, assessing our needs and running simulations based on projected enrollments. The results reflect, I think, the best programs we can develop that will insure that all of our students can remain on track for graduation while obtaining a high-quality education in Communication and Journalism.

A number of courses have been dropped, or merged, there are several new courses, and we have considered the implications of all the changes for our undergraduates. Minimal programmatic change also reflects the fact that our curriculum has been in continual update and change for the past 10 years. We have seen a number of programs at our peer institutions follow our lead in developing concentrations within communication, and reforming our journalism major to keep apace with industry evolution. Because of these efforts, much of our work was focused on maintaining the integrity of our programs while converting to semesters, identifying weak spots and/or potential problems, and ensuring that students in the transition years will not be harmed by the process.

I recommend approval of our plan for semester conversion.

Rationale for Program Changes – Communication Media & Society Minor

The minor in media and society is designed for students who have an interest in aspects of media and society, are planning to enter graduate school in communication, or are planning to work in media, but are majoring in other areas. The Communication minor was re-evaluated during 2008 when three new specialized minors were developed and approved. Because of the scrutiny the minor received then the conversion to semesters contains only small changes in course numbering and is a straightforward conversion from quarter courses.

Table highlighting credit hour changes

Minor Area: Communication	Quarter Hours	2/3 of Quarter Hours	Proposed Semester Hours
Core Requirements	5	3.35	3
Electives	15	10.05	9

Rationale for credit hour changes

Our credit hours remain as close as we can get to our quarter programs, subject to rounding error and straight conversion of courses.

Transition policy

Our changes to the minors only involve a conversion of credit hours and no changes in the requirements. We will continue to offer the same courses in the minors with good frequency, just as we have under the quarter system. As a result, we do not expect to have significant transition issues for the minors. We are committed to ensuring that students will not be penalized or delayed as we transition to semesters.
