- Understand theories and concepts
- Understand/apply methods and statistics
- Prepared for employment and graduate school
- Provide enhanced program for honors students

Assessment

Assessment plan includes student learning goals, how those goals are evaluated, and how the information collected is used to improve student learning. An assessment plan is required for undergraduate majors and degrees. Graduate and professional degree programs are encouraged to complete this now, but will not be required to do so until 2012.

Is this a degree program (undergraduate, graduate, or professional) or major proposal? Yes

Does the degree program or major have an assessment plan on file with the university Office of Academic Affairs? Yes

Summarize how the program's current quarter-based assessment practices will be modified, if necessary, to fit the semester calendar.

Our assessment plan will remain unchanged upon conversion to semesters.

Cover Letter for Proposals from the Department of Sociology

This cover letter reflects on the process by which the Sociology Department developed its proposals to convert major and minor programs from the quarter to semester academic calendar.

Having recently revised all of major and minor programs Sociology was in a good position to begin the conversion process. The department began with a long series of meetings among the Chair (Craig Jenkins), the Director of Undergraduate Studies (Paul Bellair), and the department's advising staff (Lindsey Chamberlain and Shannon Phlegar). Those meetings led to a finished proposal that was presented to and extensively discussed among our faculty during a faculty meeting in Winter and Spring 2010.

On the basis of those discussions and a unanimous vote among faculty in favor of adopting the proposals the changes were finalized. In general, we propose minimal change to the content, names and descriptions of the required courses that comprise the majors/minors and no changes to the structure of the programs. In the case of course changes our goal was to make changes so that the content of courses will be more transparent to our students.

Overall, our program proposals are consistent with the structure of Sociology programs in OSU benchmark institutions. Our assessment data was also consulted throughout discussions. Although assessment data indicate that our programs are effective in achieving learning outcomes, our goal is improvement in rigor of major and minor programs and hence improved performance on our assessment instruments.

The following are the undergraduate major programs in the department:

- 1. Sociology (BA)
- 2. Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies (BA)

The following are the undergraduate minor programs in the department:

- 1. Sociology
- 2. Criminology and Criminal Justice Studies

Program Rationale for the Sociology Major

The Sociology major program was recently revised and we have not had enough experience with those changes to evaluate whether additional revision is warranted. Therefore, we are converting to the semester calendar with a small number of changes. In general the required coursework in the major is identical. The pre-requisite, research methods, data analysis, theory, and core course requirement remain intact. We propose a few changes to course titles to make them consistent with usage in the discipline and with how the courses are described to students by advisors. The credit hour requirement does not convert to a whole number so we propose to slightly increase the credit hour requirement, which will increase the rigor of the program. Another change is how the required elective coursework will be distributed into lower and upper levels. Finally, we include an additional category of courses from which students may choose to satisfy the integrated elective requirement. We describe the proposed changes in more detail below.

Including pre-requisites the major program currently requires 60 credit hours and a total of 12 courses. Under the semester calendar that is equivalent to 40 credit hours $(60 \times .6666 = 39.99)$ and roughly 13.5 courses. Given that we do not offer 1 or 2 credit hour courses we propose to change the major program requirement including the prequisite to 42 hours and a total of 14 courses. The 2 additional courses students will take under semester conversion will be distributed into elective coursework.

We propose one change to the elective coursework requirement. Under the current program requirements students are required to take 3 classes or 15 hours of electives at the upper level (500-600) and the same number at the lower level (200-400). Under semester conversion students will be required to take 4 classes or 12 credit hours at the upper level (4000-5000), and 4 classes or 12 credit hours at ANY level (2000-5000). The change is made to accommodate students who may choose to take courses that are more academically challenging.

Finally, we propose to expand the options in the integrated elective requirement. Students currently satisfy that requirement by completing an internship (Soc 489), by getting involved in faculty research (Soc 699), or by writing a senior thesis (Soc H783). We propose that students be given the option of taking a graduate level course (6000 or above) as an additional pathway towards fullfilling the requirement. This change is consistent with the goal of the integrated elective, which is to connect students with the labor market for those who plan to work upon completion of their degree or connection to research for those who seek preparation for graduate or professional school. Students electing to take a graduate course will still need to petition in order receive undergraduate credit for a graduate level course. This is an option that will be restricted to highly motivated students.

Sociology (1)

In general, Sociology is a liberal arts/social science major that provides students with the scientific tools and social perspective necessary to better understand social issues and complex societal problems.

Specializations

Sociology is the study of group life. Sociologists investigate the structure of groups, organizations and societies. The goal is to understand the characteristics, causes and consequences of human behavior and social relationships in various kinds of group settings. Because human behavior is diverse, the field of Sociology covers a wide range of subjects. Sociologists may specialize in the following areas:

family
urban community social movements crime and law
work and occupations
gender and sex roles racial and ethnic minorities other areas of human behavior

Graduate, Professional & Law School

Sociology is also a valuable major for students planning to attend graduate or professional school. Sociology provides a rich foundation of knowledge regarding a variety of fields. Undergraduate Sociology majors frequently go on to post-baccalaureate programs in law, business, administration, social work, public health, urban planning, public policy management and other various social science fields.

Careers

There are few jobs that have the title "Sociologist" for those who hold Bachelor's degrees. However, Sociology is a relevant discipline that helps to prepare students for a variety of careers and for graduate or professional education. Major sectors of employment for graduates of our program include:

Community/Non-profit (fund-raising, social service organizations, or child welfare agencies)

Health and social services (family planning, substance abuse, rehabilitation counseling, group work with youth or the elderly, recreation, or administration)

Criminal justice and corrections (law enforcement, probation, parole)

Business community (advertising, marketing, consumer research, insurance, real estate, and personnel work or training)

Federal, state, or local government (transportation, housing, agriculture and labor)

Sociology majors compete with other liberal arts graduates for these types of positions. However, a strong program of study and careful selection of courses coupled with practical experience will produce a competitive advantage in the marketplace.

Transition policy

Required courses in the major will not change during semester conversion. We therefore expect students to complete the pre-requisite, 4 required courses, and the integrated elective.

However, the number of elective courses needed to complete the major program will increase and it is here that we will need to be flexible. Under the quarter system students are required to take a minimum of 12 courses in the major including the pre-requisite, with 6 of the 12 courses elective. Under semesters students will be required to take 14 courses including the pre-requisite, 8 of which are elective. We will advise students to complete 14 courses for graduation if it is possible, but we will be flexible with students that started their academic career at OSU under the quarter system. For those students we will accept no less than 12 courses in the major including the 6 required courses listed above to satisfy major program requirements.

Overall, we are committed to ensuring that students who began their degree under quarters will not be penalized under semesters, either in terms of progress towards their degree or their expected date of graduation.
