Program Learning Goals

Note: these are required for all undergraduate degree programs and majors now, and will be required for all graduate and professional degree programs in 2012. Nonetheless, all programs are encouraged to complete these now.

- Program Learning Goals
- 1. Examine the complex roles of teaching Family and Consumer Sciences in secondary programs.
 - 2. Survey family and consumer sciences content in human ecology.
 - 3. Develop pedagogical skills of teaching family and consumer sciences.

Assessment

Assessment plan includes student learning goals, how those goals are evaluated, and how the information collected is used to improve student learning. An assessment plan is required for undergraduate majors and degrees. Graduate and professional degree programs are encouraged to complete this now, but will not be required to do so until 2012.

Is this a degree program (undergraduate, graduate, or professional) or major proposal? No

Program Specializations/Sub-Plans

If you do not specify a program specialization/sub-plan it will be assumed you are submitting this program for all program specializations/sub-plans.

Pre-Major

Does this Program have a Pre-Major? No

RE: Semester Conversion Package for School of Physical Activity & Educational Services

I am pleased to present the complete package of semester conversion materials for the School of Physical Activity & Educational Services. In what follows, I will outline unique college and school contexts that have shaped this package. I will include tables summarizing constituent programs/courses and describe any other pertinent considerations. Finally, you will find Dean's level approval.

College Contexts

The College of Education and Human Ecology was formed in 2006 by merging two colleges (Human Ecology and Education). Curriculum across the new college, however, has remained relatively unchanged. Given this situation, we view the semester conversion process as a fresh opportunity to deepen the merger by building curricular collaborations among our units. We also wish to rethink our pre-existing programs and find ways to make them stronger, more coherent, and streamlined.

To these ends, we have asked faculty in our units to purge their curricula of little-used or less-than-relevant courses. We have challenged faculty to reach across unit lines to forge curricular collaborations by creating new degrees, interdisciplinary specializations, or co-taught courses. We are re-instituting a number of undergraduate teacher preparation programs (B.S.Ed.), each of which draws from courses in units around our college as well as across the university. We have encouraged five of our six units to address findings of the 2008 OSU Doctoral Program Assessment and Plan by strengthening their Ph.D. programs and making them more coherent. They have responded by: 1) defining their Ph.D. programs in alignment with their units -- rather than with their pre-merger college (i.e., Ph.D. in Consumer Science rather than Ph.D. in Human Ecology); and 2) creating true cores for their Ph.D. programs if they did not previously exist. Additionally, an Ed.D. degree in Educational Leadership is being proposed to address the need of school administrators to pursue advanced degrees geared for practitioners. With approval of the Ed.D. and also with recent B.O.R. approval of our other practitioner-oriented programs, an Ed.S. (Education Specialist) program in School Psychology and another in Teaching and Learning, fewer graduate students in the college will pursue Ph.D.s by default than in the past.

We believe that, taken together, these changes will greatly strengthen our programs and clarify our new college identity.

School Notes

Physical Activity & Educational Services (PAES) is one of five units in the college to change its Ph.D. program to align with school boundaries rather than those of its previous college. PAES faculty have proposed that the degree name change from “Ph.D. in Education” to “Ph.D. in Physical Activity & Educational Services.” The “Education” designation no longer makes sense because the college of that name does not exist. Also, Ph.D. degrees from other units with the “Education” designation have very little in common with each other as there is no common core. However, with the proposed Ph.D. in Physical Activity & Educational Services, a new two-course common core will provide enhanced cohesiveness to the degree program that will span eight separate specializations.

RE: Letter seeking approval of the Family and Consumer Education Minor in EHE PAES

Dear Office of Academic Affairs:

This letter is in support of the conversion of the Family and Consumer Education Minor in PAES from quarters to semesters. The review process began in Winter Quarter of 2010 with the program PAES identifying the goals and objectives for the semester curriculum. The program looked at its current goals and objectives and licensure agency. From this study, the program constructed its program template. After the goals were identified, the program coordinator changed the curriculum to meet the new goals and objectives. After this process was completed, the coordinator filled in the course templates and forwarded them for approval. The program has been examined for academic rigor and consistency of the goals to the program and School's mission. Every course was scrutinized for its relationship to the program's goals. Courses were also examined for consistency and accuracy of title, numbering, audience, and subsidy level before submission for review by the college.

Attached is the program being proposed by the School of PAES and the courses needed by the Family and Consumer Education Minor.

I am recommending approval of these courses and this program.

If you have any questions or need more information, please contact me. I am at your service.

Sincerely,

Joe E. Wheaton, Ph.D.
Interim Director
School of Physical Activity and Educational Services

FCS ED: The last significant change in the FCS ED minor was 2003. The Family and Consumer Sciences Education Minor semester program has a few course changes: The two required course in the unit have remained the same. One course was dropped as a restricted elective in the Schools and Education section of the minor. The Human Ecology content restricted elective courses have been reduced so that the lowest level of content course are available to choose from, making sure students in the minor do not need to be concerned about pre-requisites.

For semesters, the minimum grade per course and cumulative point hour ration guidelines will also change. In order to be consistent with the requirements of the Family and Consumer Sciences Education major, students pursuing the minor should have at least a cumulative GPA of 2.75. In addition, courses that count toward completion of the minor should have a grade of B- or better.

Transition Policy for the Family and Consumer Sciences Education Minor (Revised June 6, 2011)

There are a few changes the minor that will not negatively affect students. More courses are available to students in the quarter version of the minor than there will be in semesters. However, if a student completes a course listed as an option on the quarter advising sheet and does not complete the minor and graduate before the transition to semesters, he or she will be permitted to use the old quarter course in semesters in order to finish. All other courses in the minor are a one-to-one transfer from quarters to semesters, and courses completed in quarters will be applied as such.

Students in the Family and Consumer Sciences Education minor who began their degree under the quarter system and must transition to the semester system before graduation will not be delayed nor disrupted toward progress toward their degree. The following policies may be used by advisors when working with students to assure their progress toward degree:

- a. Allow students to move from their original quarter advising sheet to the new semester advising sheet if advantageous
- b. Waive pre-requisites for newly formed semester courses when possible
- c. For courses that have minimal changes and have gone from 5 quarter hours to 3 semester hours an automatic transfer of credits may be used

An example of how a student might transition from a minor started in the quarter system to completing a minor in the semester system:

Year/Qtr/Sem	Courses	Required or "choose "	Qtr Crdts	Sem Crdts
AU Quarter System	FCS ED 289	R	2	2
WI Quarter System	FCS ED 742	R	3	2
