Dear Larry,

We are submitting the semester versions of the two interdisciplinary minors in the Arts: Minor in Media Production and Analysis and Minor in Video Arts. Historically, the minors were housed in Arts Administration, and with the re-organization within the College of Arts and Sciences, the administrative home will be with the Department of Theatre. The Department of Theatre's Administrative Associate worked with the Faculty Oversight committees to convert the quarter to semester programs. This letter serves as both the "Chair's Letter" and the "College Letter." After approval by the Oversight Committees, a subset of the Disciplinary Advisory Panel for Curriculum for Arts and Humanities within the College of Arts and Sciences reviewed and approved the minors at our last committee meeting on June 1, 2011. Due to this change, the PACER chart indicates "NEW" for Media Production and Analysis Minor, but in fact these are established programs. I have listed the quarter based credit hours for both minors. Due to the fact that these are interdisciplinary in nature, only the first line in PACER is completed, as there is no one "unit."

Minor in Media Production and Analysis: The Minor in Media Production and Analysis was approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no ASC or CAA electronic records indicating approval or revision after 2006. The quarter-based degree was 21 credit hours and its semester-based version is 15 credit hours. They are retaining their three core areas and the same core course selection, please note that three of the courses have changed "Criticizing Television" is now "Media Criticism" and "Comm Industry Research Methods" is now "Lantern Practicum" and "Communication Research Methods" is "Television Production." As stated in their transition plan, any course taken in this area under quarters will be counted under semesters, and vice-versa.

Minor in Video Arts: The Minor in Video Arts was last approved by CAA on April 9, 2008. There were no major revisions to the proposed semester-based program. The program converted from 25 quarter-credit hours to 17 semester-credit hours. They are retaining their four core areas with requirements: One 3 credit hour course in Foundation, 3-7 credits in Basic Tools and Concepts, 3-7 credits in Issues and Techniques, and if necessary, completion of the remaining credit hours under Electives. Students must still take courses from two of the four offering departments: Art, Dance, History of Art, and Theatre. Any course taken under quarters will be counted under semesters, and vice-versa.

The courses that are specific to all of the programs are listed under multiple Book 3 listings in PACER and have been advanced along with the program forms. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to call or email me at 292-5727 or williams.1415@osu.edu.

Media Production and Analysis Minor Program Rationale Statement

The interdisciplinary minor in Media Production and Analysis provides students with an understanding of the societal impact of contemporary media practices and provides opportunities to develop specific media production skills. Students will both analyze and produce media content for distribution through a variety of means. This minor program was originally developed at the request of the Provost and in response to student demand for the continued operation of the Buckeye-TV station and the opportunity for students to have an outlet for hands-on media creation and analysis. The quarter based minor was approved in 2006.

Minimal changes have been made to the foundational courses of the minor, which serve to provide students with a better understanding of both the technology and the impact of media. Students will continue to select one course in media and criticism from Communication 2540: Introduction to Communication Technology (the semester equivalent to COMM 240) or Theatre 2367.03: Criticizing Television (Theatre 367.03); one course in field studies from Communication 4191: Internship (COMM 683) or Theatre 5189: Fieldwork in Theatre, Cinema or Video (Theatre 689); and at least two electives. The requirement to take one course in research methods (formerly COMM 460 or 463) has been replaced with a new practicum requirement which students fulfill by taking either Communication 2223: Lantern Practicum or Theatre 3351: Television Production 1 (Theatre 300). This new practicum requirement addresses a need for the students to have more hands-on time with the resources and equipment they will be expected to utilize in the field upon graduation.

The list of electives has not changed in the transition from quarters to semesters. Students must choose two courses from the following list: Arts College 5501: Concept Development for Time-based Media; Communication 2321: Writing for Strategic Communication, Communication 3425: Media Management (COMM 425), Communication 3554: Social Implications of Technology (COMM 654), Theatre 2351: Fundamentals of Radio and Television Production (Theatre 580), Theatre 3352: Television Production 2 (Theatre 405.10), Theatre 5321: Video Production 1 (Theatre 634), Theatre 5322: Editorial Process (Theatre 633), Theatre 5323: Video Production 2 (Theatre 635), and Theatre 5331: Screenwriting (Theatre 636).

The Media Production and Analysis minor requires the completion of five courses for at least 15 units, including four foundational courses. Students must take courses from each of the two departments. Overlap with the GE is permitted. If one or more of the foundational courses are counted toward a major, these courses must be replaced with additional courses from the list of electives.

This proposal has been reviewed and approved by the Department of Theatre and the School of Communication.

Transition Plan

Media Production and Analysis Minor

The transition for students pursuing the interdisciplinary Media Production and Analysis Minor will be fairly seamless given that the required and elective courses are being converted from quarter to semester equivalents. Students having completed the Research Methods requirement under the quarter program will not be required to complete the News and Production Practicum, Communication 2223: Lantern Practicum or Theatre 3351: Television Production 1 (Theatre 300), that has replaced the Research Methods requirement. Communication 221: Reporting and Editing for the News Media will still be honored as an elective credit for students having completed the course prior to Summer Term 2012. All courses taken under quarters will be counted under semesters.
