Program Learning Goals

Note: these are required for all undergraduate degree programs and majors now, and will be required for all graduate and professional degree programs in 2012. Nonetheless, all programs are encouraged to complete these now.

Program Learning Goals •

Assessment

Assessment plan includes student learning goals, how those goals are evaluated, and how the information collected is used to improve student learning. An assessment plan is required for undergraduate majors and degrees. Graduate and professional degree programs are encouraged to complete this now, but will not be required to do so until 2012.

Is this a degree program (undergraduate, graduate, or professional) or major proposal? No

Program Specializations/Sub-Plans

If you do not specify a program specialization/sub-plan it will be assumed you are submitting this program for all program specializations/sub-plans.

Pre-Major

Does this Program have a Pre-Major? No

Lawrence Krissek, Professor of Earth Sciences
Faculty Chair, Committee on Curriculum and Instruc
College of Arts and Sciences

Dear Larry,

The Curriculum Committee of the Melton Center for Jewish Studies, led by Professor Matthew Goldish, Melton Center Chair in Jewish History, has completed and submitted its proposals for the semester versions of its programs:

B.A. in Jewish Studies
Minor in Jewish Studies
Minor in Jewish Oral History--new

The programs were reviewed and unanimously approved by the Arts and Humanities Disciplinary Advisory Panel for Curriculum within the College of Arts and Sciences on June 1, 2011. Please note that since these programs cross multiple units, only the first line on the PACER chart has been completed, and also note that the Jewish Studies BA filed an Assessment Plan with OAA verified October 15, 2010.

Most specifically, I have highlighted changes for the programs below:

BA in Jewish Studies: The BA in Jewish Studies was established and approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no electronic ASC or CAA records that indicate approval or revision after 2006. The program converted from 50 quarter credit hours to 30 semester credit hours and maintained its quarter requirements of four categories: Jewish Thought and Practice, 2 courses from the same selected list of four units; Hebrew Language and Literature, 2 courses beyond the 1103 pre-requisite from any Hebrew course taught in the language; Jewish History, 3 courses of the x330 series; and 3 courses from an Electives category. They are retaining the quarter-system pre-requisite of Hebrew at the 1103 (104) proficiency and the exemption for students who have also completed Yiddish 1103 (104) proficiency to only take 2 courses from the Elective Category. The transition plan will count any quarter course on the semester version of the proposal.

Minor in Jewish Studies: The Minor in Jewish Studies was established and approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no electronic ASC or CAA records that indicate approval or revision after 2006. There were minor revisions to the program. The program converted from 25 quarter credit hours to 15 semester credit hours and maintained the requirement of four categories, but changed one of the names of the categorical requirements: Jewish Thought and Practice (formerly Jewish Philosophy), 1 course from a selected list (the same as the BA); Hebrew or Yiddish, 2 courses from any Hebrew or Yiddish course taught in English; Jewish History, 1 course of the x330 series; and 1 course from a Jewish Studies Electives category. The minor required five courses on the quarter system, and will translate to five courses on the semester system. Quarter courses will be applied toward the minor in semesters.

Minor in Jewish Oral History: The Minor in Jewish Oral History is a new program that the Melton Center for Jewish Studies has created. The minor comes out of the projects in oral history that faculty and students have created together over the past two years and that were funded by private donors. The affiliated faculty with the Center, and the Chairs and Directors of English, Folklore, Near Eastern Languages and Cultures, Germanic Languages and Literatures, Philosophy, and History have all contributed courses to the minor program and provided feedback and unanimous support of the new program. This is the first program of its kind in the country that uses oral history, and the application of those methods, to the gathering of the stories of survivors of the Holocaust and the displacement of Jewish immigrants. The program is four courses, 12 credit hours, and will begin under the semester system in Summer 2012.

We are sending these undergraduate programs forward for review and approval in the next stage of curricular review at the Arts and Sciences Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. The courses that are specific to all of the programs are listed under multiple Book 3 Listings. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to call or email me at 292-5727 or williams.1415@osu.edu.

Thank you for your consideration of this request.

Sincerely,

Valarie Williams, M.F.A., Ph.D.

4 June 2011

Dear Valarie, Larry, and Committee Members,

On behalf of the faculty of the Melton Center for Jewish Studies I would like to move that the semester versions of the major and minor in Jewish Studies and the new minor in Jewish Oral History be approved by the Council on Academic Affairs.

Our Curriculum Committee met to discuss the major and minor in Jewish Studies and the new minor in Jewish Oral History. The committee decided that the JS major and minor were essentially fine the way they were. The only changes the committee recommended were to consider including a wider range of courses to fulfill some of the requirements (some of these courses are new in recent years), and to make minor changes in JS 201. The committee was also happy with the proposal for the new minor but left the details of its constituent courses up to Professor Shuman and me.

At the Melton Center faculty meeting on 26 May 2011 I discussed these semester conversion matters with the full board. After very brief discussion we received the board's approval of the recommendations from the committee and those working on the new minor. We also added one other small change, a request to make the Jewish Studies internship repeatable for two semesters, based on recent experience with this course.

Many thanks for your help with this process!

Rationale for Jewish Studies Minor

The rationale for the Jewish Studies Minor is to provide undergraduate students with an appreciation and understanding of Jewish culture, history, and thought from the biblical period to the post modern era. Learners planning a career in the Jewish Community or other related fields will be able to apply skills and knowledge gained from the minor to address contemporary issues. For those students not pursuing a career in Jewish communal services, the minor will have an appreciation of how Jewish culture, history, and thought can be applied to practices in the legal, educational, or other community service endeavors. The minor provides a learning opportunity for students to understand and value the contributions of an important world culture. This program brings together the instructional resources of the University which focus on Hebrew, Yiddish, Jewish History, Philosophy, and Culture to provide our students with the background needed to attain basic literacy in Jewish Studies.

In preparation for the semester system, we converted the minor from quarters with minimal changes to program goals and curricular activities. Given that our program is interdisciplinary we reviewed the courses within Jewish Studies and within the departments that provide courses for the minor. We decided to update our list of approved courses. Under semesters the Minor in Jewish Studies will remain the same in terms of the number of courses required under the quarter system.

Transition Plan for Jewish Studies Minor Students
Melton Center for Jewish Studies

The Jewish Studies Program is committed to enabling students to complete the minor begun under the quarter system without delay or disruption to their current program plan of study.

The Program has established general principles that assist students in the minor through the transition:

1. The Program Director, Jewish Studies will consider the needs of the student in relationship to program requirements. The proposed minor has the same number of courses in semesters as in quarters. Courses that were available to the student in quarters are available to the student in semesters.
2. The semester program has not added any new requirements for the minor.
3. In the event that there is a conflict with required courses or a course is not offered, the program director will work with the individual student to find a suitable replacement, group study option, or independent study project which meets the intent of the minor requirement.
4. Students currently enrolled in the minor will receive a document listing new course numbers and semester of offering.
5. Given that the minor requirements have not substantially changed from the requirements in the minor, there should be few if any issues regarding the transition. In cases where a course offered by units outside Jewish Studies is not available, a suitable substitute course meeting the intent of the original quarter course will be used. If a course is not available, an individualized study experience will be designed for the student. The Program Director in consultation with Jewish Studies faculty in allied units will determine alternative courses or independent study experiences.
