Re: Arts and Sciences Program Proposals from the Arts and Humanities Division

Arts and Sciences is pleased to submit the following programs from the Arts and Humanities Division to the Office of Academic Affairs for conversion from quarters to semesters. The programs have been approved by the faculty members and chair of the originating unit, and reviewed and approved by the divisional advisory panel, a subcommittee of the ASC Committee on Curriculum and Instruction (CCI), and the full CCI. The vote for approval of all programs at the full CCI was unanimous.

Arts and Sciences General Education (GE) Program: The GE program for untagged B.A. and B.S. degrees in Arts and Sciences was approved by the Council on Academic Affairs on May 26, 2010, after receiving approval from the Arts and Sciences Faculty Senate. All the programs presented here follow the approved GE program.

College of Arts and Sciences Transition Policy: The College of Arts and Sciences is committed to the principles outlined in the university's Pledge to Undergraduate Students. Each unit has a plan on how best to assist its majors and minors through the transition. And the Arts and Sciences Academic Advising Services will advise students on how to transition their GE program. Dual advising is the existing process used in Arts and Sciences and will continue under semesters.

Program Learning Goals

Note: these are required for all undergraduate degree programs and majors now, and will be required for all graduate and professional degree programs in 2012. Nonetheless, all programs are encouraged to complete these now.

- Program Learning Goals
- Students exhibit broad knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of literatures written in English, especially the British and American traditions, including main literary-historical periods, major authors, and history of the English language.
 - Students demonstrate high levels of proficiency in oral and written communication, the ability to write persuasively and elegantly using the skills of argumentation, rhetoric, style, and bibliographic citation.
 - Students demonstrate skill in using the critical tools and terminologies needed to analyze and assess a range of texts and the ability to identify the formal properties of texts as well as major literary forms and genres.
 - Students display an informed awareness of different critical theories, methodologies, and approaches to studying texts.
 - Students demonstrate understanding of the historical and cultural contexts in which texts are produced, disseminated, and received, and skill at relating texts to these contexts.

Assessment plan includes student learning goals, how those goals are evaluated, and how the information collected is used to improve student learning. An assessment plan is required for undergraduate majors and degrees. Graduate and professional degree programs are encouraged to complete this now, but will not be required to do so until 2012.

Is this a degree program (undergraduate, graduate, or professional) or major proposal? Yes

Does the degree program or major have an assessment plan on file with the university Office of Academic Affairs? Yes

Summarize how the program's current quarter-based assessment practices will be modified, if necessary, to fit the semester calendar.

No current quarter-based assessment practices will be revised beyond modifications necessary to conduct assessment on a semester basis. However, we have taken the opportunity of semester conversion to refine program learning goals for honors majors and pre-education majors, both honors and non-honors.

Program Specializations/Sub-Plans

If you do not specify a program specialization/sub-plan it will be assumed you are submitting this program for all program specializations/sub-plans.

Re: English BA, English Minor, and Minor in Creative Writing

Dear Professor Krissek:

The CCI's Arts and Humanities 2 subcommittee met on 18, 2011, and reviewed the semester conversion plans for the BA in English, the minor in English, and the minor in Creative Writing submitted by the Department of English. The subcommittee voted unanimously to send all three programs on to the full CCI, although we also asked that all three programs be revised beforehand in order to clarify and correct minor concerns. I have looked over the revised submissions and it appears that all the important changes the subcommittee requested have been made. There remain two fairly trivial concerns relating to the BA proposal. The first is that the goals statements scattered throughout are in non-standard form ("Students" + active verb), but they are understandable. The second is that the EDU PAES 650 course mentioned in the pre-education specializations should have a semester number (but it quite likely isn't available yet).

Sincerely,

Dear Larry,

The Department of English has completed and submitted its proposals for the semester versions of its BA major with four specializations that are transcriptable:

English BA
English BA Honors
English BA Pre-Education
English BA Pre-Education Honors

The Arts and Humanities Disciplinary Advisory Panel for Curriculum within the College of Arts and Sciences reviewed, provided feedback to the department, and unanimously approved the undergraduate programs during its meeting on May 11, 2011. We are now forwarding them for review at full CCI. All four transcriptable specializations require the completion of English 1110 and 2367 taken in any department/book 3 listing. Please note that the English BA with all subplans has an assessment plan on file with OAA, verified October 15, 2010.

Most specifically, I have highlighted the important changes for the programs below:

Bachelor of Arts in English: The BA in English was last revised and approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no electronic ASC or CAA records after 2006 that indicate approval. The BA in English is changing with re-envisioned status. There were 60 credit hours required on quarters, and there are 36 hours required under semesters. Re-envisioned changes come from the reduction of survey requirements in the major from three courses (201, 202, and 290 or 291) to two courses: 2201, British Literature Survey and 2290 American Literature Survey, and the addition of a diversity requirement in the major program. The diversity requirement may be “double counted” if students take a course that fulfills two experiences, such as fulfilling the ‘pre-1800’ requirement and the ‘diversity requirement.’ The core course 398 remains the same and takes the number of 3398, Critical Writing. The category courses remain the same: pre-1800, pre-1900, post-1900, and a non-literature course.

Bachelor of Arts in English Honors: The BA in English Honors was last revised and approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no electronic ASC records after 2006 that indicate approval. The major specialization is changing with minimal conversion. There were 60 credit hours required on quarters, and there are 36 hours required under semesters, with 24 of the credit hours at the 4000-level or above spread across three distribution requirements: two discrete historical periods; two areas of English study, such as literature, folklore, rhetoric, creative writing, etc.; and a diversity course. The core requirement of 3398 remains as it was under quarters, as does the option of a 2000-level elective course. The option of graduation with distinction remains the same, and is in addition to the English BA Honors requirements, however requirements for graduation with distinction are noted on the English BA Honors advising sheet in semesters just as they were under quarters.

Bachelor of Arts in English Pre-Education: The BA in English Pre-Education was last revised and approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no electronic ASC records after 2006 that indicate approval. The major specialization is changing with minimal conversion. There were 60 credit hours required on quarters, and there are 36 hours required under semesters, with the same reduction in the survey courses from three courses on quarters to two courses on semesters, 2201, British Literature Survey and 2290 American Literature Survey. The program still retains the requirement of 3398, Critical Writing and has added the diversity requirement. Unlike the BA in English, students in the Pre-Education program take a prescribed set of seven courses at the 4000-level or above, with limited options. This prescribed program prepares students for the entrance requirements for the M.Ed. and Licensure requirements. The courses were selected in consultation with the College of Education and Human Ecology and selection was also based on the previously successful program under quarters. In addition to the English requirements, students take two courses from Education, Teaching and Learning: EDTL 5191 and EDTL 5656.

Bachelor of Arts in English Pre-Education Honors: The BA in English Pre-Education Honors was last revised and approved by CAA previous to 2006 as there are no electronic ASC records after 2006 that indicate approval. The major specialization is changing with minimal conversion. There were 60 credit hours required on quarters, and there are 36 hours required under semesters, with 33 credits at the 4000-level or above. The same requirement of 3398 or 3398H, Critical Writing remains and the department has added the diversity requirement. Students in the Pre-Education Honors program take a prescribed set of nine courses (8 at the 4000-level or above) with limited options. This prescribed program prepares students for the entrance requirements for the M.Ed. and Licensure requirements. The courses were selected in consultation with the College of Education and Human Ecology and based on the previously successful program under quarters. In addition to the English requirements, students take two courses from Education, Teaching and Learning: EDTL 5191 and EDTL 5656. The option of graduation with distinction remains the same, and is in addition to the English BA Pre-Education Honors requirements, however requirements for graduation with distinction are noted on the English BA Pre-Education Honors advising sheet in semesters just as they were under quarters.

The Department of English has provided a thorough transition plan, one that provides credit for quarter courses taken on the new semester program. We are sending these undergraduate major programs forward for review and approval in the next stage of curricular review at the Arts and Sciences Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. The courses that are specific to all of the programs are listed under English. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to call or email me at 292-5727 or williams.1415@osu.edu.

Dear Valarie:

The Department of English is pleased to submit the enclosed materials for semester conversion for the following program plans and sub-plans:

M.A. – Ph.D., English (Integrated)

English Minor Honors

Development of proposals for conversion of English programs from quarters to semesters has been an inclusive process capturing input and feedback from faculty, staff and students beginning in earnest in January of 2010. Detailed and rigorous review of all course materials by teaching and programs areas was undertaken first. Proposals for innovation in both the undergraduate major and M.A./Ph.D. programs were considered and subsequently approved at all levels of Department administration. The Undergraduate Studies, Graduate Studies and the Graduate Program and Policy committees were instrumental in coordinating development and review of program proposals and the English Department Council (EDC), the departmental governing body, has reviewed, debated, and approved proposals as they developed and in final form.

In preparation for semester conversion of undergraduate programs both the Director of Undergraduate Studies and Associate Director for Curriculum and Assessment participated in curriculum review workshops. The Undergraduate Studies Committee met to discuss initial curriculum review models. At that time the committee formed a revision subcommittee which was charged with focusing on the current undergraduate curriculum and making recommendations for revision of that curriculum. Two models for revision were developed, each of which was put forward on a department wiki-page for faculty and student review. Feedback was taken into account as the subcommittee refined the models for two extensive departmental meetings. Following EDC approval of proposed changes for incorporation into the re-envisioned undergraduate major, a subcommittee was formed to address the implementation of changes, in particular the shape and purpose of the new English survey courses and a diversity requirement. Those models were also approved at a general meeting of the EDC in the spring of 2010. The undergraduate major is proposed for semester conversion as re-envisioned accordingly. The Department determined to convert its undergraduate minors, English, English Honors, and Creative Writing, as they are currently offered without revision.

Also in the spring of 2010 the Graduate Program and Policy committee (GPPC) submitted a proposal for a revised Ph.D. program, responding to two significant changes in the Department's approach to graduate education: the shift to directly admitting students with the B.A. into the Ph.D. program and the (impending) shift to the semester calendar. The proposal replaces the current M.A. and the current Ph.D. with a single, integrated Ph.D. program. The spring 2010 proposal prompted discussions in the GPPC as a whole and a subcommittee was charged with looking at practices at benchmark institutions and developing some possible models for the new program. The subcommittee brought three models to the larger committee, and, after further discussion, settled on two. These models were then posted on a blog where general departmental discussion took place. Models were also discussed at two town meetings. The discussions were lively and helpful, and the resulting model incorporated suggestions and recommendations broadly from colleagues. The agreed-upon model and associated proposal was further contemplated at the annual Graduate Studies Retreat at the end of March 2011 and subsequently approved at a meeting of the EDC. The Department determined to convert its graduate program in Fine Arts, the M.F.A. incorporating little change, requiring one less Graduate Workshop and the addition of three thesis credits to provide M.F.A. students sufficient time to devote to the thesis.

Much thought and careful consideration have been given by faculty, staff and students to the structure and integrity of our programs throughout the process of developing semester conversion proposals to meet the needs of our constituents. We have been attentive to the development of advising models and materials, to ensure the smoothest possible transition from quarters to semesters for our students, and we believe we have met appropriate standards for rigor and transparency of review of all English programs for implementation under semesters consistent with our commitment to excellence and service.

I endorse all English Department program proposals and request conversion from quarters to semesters accordingly.

Sincerely,

Richard Dutton
Humanities Distinguished Professor and Chair
Department of English

Undergraduate Major Programs

1. B.A. English
2. B.A. English Honors
3. B.A. English Pre-Education
4. B.A. English Pre-Education Honors

Summary of Changes:

The undergraduate major, honors major, pre-education major and pre-education major honors in English are re-envisioned with structural changes and changes in core requirements. Survey requirements have been reduced from three courses to two, a diversity requirement has been added, prerequisite completion of English 2367 for registration of the English major gateway course, English 3398, has been eliminated and the prerequisite for English 4520.02 (Shakespeare) has been removed. Further, the department has opted to create non-mandatory concentrations achieved through advising to assist students in shaping individual major programs. Few changes were made to the honors program. Non-mandatory concentration areas will apply to interested honors students. The diversity requirement will also apply to honors English majors.

Rationale for Proposed Undergraduate Major Program Changes:

Undergraduate major programs were reviewed during the 2009-10 external review of the English program. Prior to that, we reviewed the major gateway course, English 3398, and our advising model. The changes proposed and accepted by the English department faculty in response to semester conversion were in large part a response to the reports and recommendations put forth in 2009 and 2010. In order to encourage students to shape their majors more effectively we determined to advise students to concentrate their studies by areas. Area concentration is not mandated, nor must area hours be concluded in order for completion of the degree program, however it is recommended. In order to give students more elective choices, we streamlined the survey sequence from three courses to two. Students will now take a survey in both British and American literature and surveys will now encompass a broader literary historical scope. This will create more room for an additional elective course while maintaining a broad base in English literature for our majors as they enter into upper-division coursework. We have also dropped the 2367 writing course prerequisite for taking the major gateway course (3398) with the expectation that our majors will take the gateway course earlier. Distribution requirements have remained the same, although we have added a diversity requirement for our majors. An internal undergraduate studies subcommittee has designated courses which qualify for “diversity” designation on the major program.

Our intent in revising the major was to maintain the high standard of training in the writing, evaluating, and analyzing of literary, social, and critical texts, while giving students added flexibility in shaping their learning experience. Our revised model allows for that flexibility, while also giving students an added tool in the form of non-mandatory concentration areas. Areas are created by faculty members, area conveners, and various program directors. Students will consult with faculty in choosing concentration areas and we expect that these areas will continue to evolve in the future.

In order to maintain excellence in the undergraduate major program of study, we have moved to a professional advising system, so that students all confer with our department advisor for formal advising. Students will be encouraged to confer with faculty for “content” advising and for the pursuit of concentration areas.

The revisions made to the undergraduate major program thus strengthen our ability to direct students towards more specific areas of study in confluence with their burgeoning interests, while maintaining a strong and deep understanding of general literary and critical history and its contexts, and in the instruction and practice of strong writing skills. Non-mandatory concentration areas will apply to interested honors students. The diversity requirement will also apply to honors English majors.

Please note that an assessment plan and associated reports are on file for the undergraduate major in English with the Office of Academic Affairs. No current quarter-based assessment practices will be revised beyond modifications necessary to conduct assessment on a semester basis. However, we have taken the opportunity of semester conversion to refine goals for honors majors and pre-education majors, both honors and non-honors, specific to the needs of students pursuing those plans.

B.A. English: Requirements and other components of the semester program

1. Completion of a minimum of 36 hours of coursework in the English Department (or in other departments as approved by the major adviser). The first and second GE writing courses (i.e. English 1110 and 2367) do not count towards the 36 hours. A minimum of 24 hours must be at the 4000-level or above. Note that in addition to non-literature English courses at the 4000-level or above, English 3378, 3405, 3465, 3466, 3467, and 3468 can also be used to fulfill this requirement.
2. A cumulative minimum grade point average of 2.0 (C) for all courses in the major program, and a minimum grade of C- for an individual major course. A minimum grade of C is required in English 3398.
3. As part of the required 36 hours, students must complete the following courses (taken in any order); students must take the two required surveys by the end of their sophomore year: English 2201: Selected Works of British Literature: Origins to Present, and English 2290: Colonial and U.S. Literature (Note: Honors students are not required to take these courses.)
4. As part of the required 36 hours, students must complete English 3398 (Critical Writing). English 3398 may be taken before the second GE writing course (2367) is completed and must be taken by the end of the junior year.
5. The 24 hours of upper division coursework must be distributed as follows:
 - a. Two courses in literature written before 1900 (including at least one course in literature written before 1800);
 - b. One course in literature written after 1900;
 - c. One course in an area of English study other than literature (e.g., creative writing, critical theory, film, folklore, language, rhetoric).
 - d. Four elective courses at the 4000- to 5000-level in English, one of which needs to be a diversity course. Any course in the Department of English designated as a “D” course will fulfill the diversity requirement for the major. In the case of pre-education English majors, who already are required to take a diversity course, there will be no extra requirement. English 3361, 3372, 3378, 3405, 3465, 3466, 3467, and 3468 can also be used to fulfill this requirement.
6. Up to three (3) hours of English 5193 (Individual Study) may be used as part of the required 36 hours. Although English 5193 is repeatable to six hours, only three hours may be counted towards the major.

Program Learning Goals: B.A. English (English Major)

- (1) Students exhibit broad knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of literatures written in English, especially the British and American traditions, including main literary-historical periods, major authors, and history of the English language.
- (2) Students demonstrate high levels of proficiency in oral and written communication, the ability to write persuasively and elegantly using the skills of argumentation, rhetoric, style, and bibliographic citation.
- (3) Students demonstrate skill in using the critical tools and terminologies needed to analyze and assess a range of texts and the ability to identify the formal properties of texts as well as major literary forms and genres.
- (4) Students display an informed awareness of different critical theories, methodologies, and approaches to studying texts.

B.A. English Honors: Requirements and other components of the semester program

Students who fulfill the basic requirements are strongly encouraged to enter the English Department Honors program. Students should first meet with an Arts and Sciences Honors Counselor in Enarson Hall (<http://aschonors.osu.edu/advising.cfm>). The English Department offers a wide variety of Honors classes—from special sections of regular course offerings to special seminars. All Honors classes are small and challenging and are taught by faculty.

There are three Honors options available to English majors. Students can work toward (1) graduation with honors in the Liberal Arts with a major in English; (2) graduation with distinction in English; or (3) both of the above.

1. Requirements for graduation with honors in the Liberal Arts with a major in English:

a. Upon entering the Honors Program in English, each student should contact the Department Honors adviser to develop an Honors major. The student must also meet with the ASC Honors adviser to develop an Honors Contract, a Liberal Arts curriculum of superior strength and breadth.

b. The Honors major consists of a minimum of 36 hours in English beyond 1110 and excluding the second GE writing requirement (i.e., 2367), with a minimum of 24 hours at the 4000-level or above. The student will work with the Department Honors adviser in planning a well-rounded and demanding program that meets the following requirements:

(i) Coursework covering at least two discrete historical periods, with at least one and normally two courses in pre-1800 literature at the 4000-level or above (Note: one 5000-level course in pre-1800 literature is acceptable for students who have already taken 2201 or 2201H, or 2220 or 2220H);

(ii) Coursework in at least two of the following areas of English studies: literature, film, folklore, writing and rhetoric, creative writing, language, critical theory; at least three 4000-level Honors seminars.

(iii) Honors English majors are required to take a diversity course as part of their major requirements. The course must be an upper division course (4000-5000) and must be taken for three hours credit. Any course designated as a “D” course will fulfill this requirement.

c. English 3398 is required of Honors students. Because Honors students are expected to take more upper- than lower-division courses, they are not required to take English 2201 and 2290. They should follow a well-rounded program worked out with their Honors adviser and should take Honors versions of 2000-level courses whenever possible. It is not necessary to take the Honors version of 3398.

2. Requirements for graduation with distinction in English:

a. The Department Honors program, leading to graduation with distinction in English, may be pursued with or without entering candidacy for graduation with honors in the Liberal Arts. In either case, the Department Honors adviser will help the student shape a well-rounded major program and will act as the student's adviser.

b. Students are required to take a minimum of 36 hours in English beyond 1110 and excluding the second GE writing requirement (i.e., 2367). In addition, the student must complete six to nine hours of Honors Thesis Research (4999H), resulting in a minimum of 42 hours of coursework. The non-thesis hours may be freely chosen, but should include a minimum of 24 hours at the 4000-level or above. The student is expected to plan for a demanding and well-rounded major that meets the following requirements:

(i) Coursework covering at least two discrete historical periods, with at least one and normally two courses in pre-1800 literature at the 4000-level or above (Note: one 4000-level course in pre-1800 literature is acceptable for students who have already taken 2201 or 2201H or 2220 or 2220H);

(ii) Coursework in at least two of the following areas of English studies: literature, film, folklore, writing and rhetoric, creative writing, language, critical theory;

(iii) At least three 4000-level Honors seminars; and

(iv) Six to nine hours of 4999H Honors Thesis Research.

(v) English majors are required to take a diversity course as part of their major requirements. The course must be an upper division course (4000-5000) and must be taken for three hours credit. Any course designated as a "D" course will fulfill this requirement.

c. English 3398 is required of Honors students. Because Honors students are expected to take more upper- than lower-division courses, they are not required to take English 2201 or 2290. They should follow a well-rounded program worked out with their Honors adviser, and should take Honors versions of 2000-level courses whenever possible. It is not necessary to take the Honors version of 3398.

d. The student must complete an Honors Thesis, to be written under the supervision of two faculty members chosen by the student, one of whom will serve as director, the other as second reader. The second reader may be chosen from faculty outside the English department if that is appropriate to the subject of the thesis. The thesis will also be read by an outside examiner. Six to nine hours of course credit are normally given for work on the thesis. When the thesis has been completed, the student will be required to take a one-hour oral exam covering the thesis and its context. All three readers of the thesis will participate in this exam.

e. To graduate with distinction in English, the student must have an overall CPHR of 3.4 with a PHR of 3.6 in the major.

Program Learning Goals: B.A. English Honors (English Major Honors)

- (1) Students exhibit depth of knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of literatures written in English, especially the British and American traditions, including literary-historical periods, major authors, and history of the English language.
- (2) Students demonstrate high levels of proficiency in oral and written communication, the ability to write persuasively and elegantly using the skills of argumentation, rhetoric, style, and bibliographic citation.
- (3) Students demonstrate superior rigor in using the critical tools and terminologies needed to analyze and assess a range of texts and the ability to identify the formal properties of texts as well as major literary forms and genres.
- (4) Students display an informed awareness of different critical theories, methodologies, and approaches to studying texts and high levels of intellectual engagement in negotiating texts within critical frameworks.
- (5) Students demonstrate understanding of the historical and cultural contexts in which texts are produced, disseminated, and received, and skill at relating texts to these contexts to produce authentic and insightful essays and papers.

Additional Integrated Language Arts Licensure Requirements (grades 7-12)

The course requirements listed below are NOT requirements for the English Pre-Education major. These remaining requirements (like the majority of those listed above) cover the Ohio state-mandated competencies for adolescence and young adult licensure in integrated language arts (grades 7-12). Students who are planning to apply to/enroll in the M.Ed. program in Integrated Language Arts/English Education at Ohio State are expected to have completed these course requirements at the undergraduate level before beginning the university's M.Ed. program. Thus, the requirements below are listed here to remind English Pre-Education majors that they need to take these courses if they want to enter the M.Ed. program at Ohio State.

- Speech/Communication: Comm 1110 _____
- Introduction to Exceptional Children*: EDU PAES 5650 _____

It is recommended that students take this course prior to the start of the M.Ed. program; however, the course does not count towards the following licensure requirement: Students must earn a minimum of a 3.0 gpa across 36 credit hours of coursework, with at least 21 of those 36 hours earned through upper-level coursework.*

Additional Information for Honors Pre-Education Majors

- Students are encouraged to join the Ohio State University English Undergraduates Facebook page to receive information about new courses, internships, scholarships and awards, etc.
- Students are encouraged to stay in touch with their English Major Advisor throughout their undergraduate career. The department's English Major Advisors are Matt Cariello (cariello.1@osu.edu; students with last names A – M) and Ruth Friedman (friedman.194@osu.edu; students with last names N – Z). Please e-mail your advisor to make an appointment. Walk-ins are also welcome Monday – Friday, 8:30 AM – 5:00 PM.
- To maintain membership in the Arts & Sciences College (ASC) Honors Program, students must meet the following requirements:
 - Maintain a minimum 3.4 cumulative grade point average.
 - Complete at least six honors or 5000- or 6000-level classes over the course of their freshman and sophomore years.
 - Submit an Honors Contract or Honors Thesis Application at the Conclusion of their second year of study.

- To learn more about the M.Ed. Program in Integrated Language Arts / English Education (grades 7-12), students should schedule a meeting with an academic advisor in the OSU School of Teaching and Learning, part of the College of Education and Human Ecology. The Teaching and Learning Advising office is located in Arps Hall, room 227. To schedule an appointment with one of the Teaching and Learning academic advisors, call 614-292-2332 or e-mail edtl-oas@osu.edu.

How to Graduate With Honors Research Distinction

- Identify a faculty member in the Department of English to serve as your project advisor. The advisor will provide guidance to you throughout the research process.
- Submit the Application for Graduation with Honors Research Distinction at least two full semesters before your intended graduation.
- Complete 6 – 9 credit hours of 4999H research credit in the relevant discipline.
- Successfully defend the thesis during an oral examination.
- Meet any department-specific requirements, which may include a minimum grade point average within the field of distinction.
- Graduate with a minimum 3.4 cumulative grade point average.
- Maintain membership in the ASC Honors Program, which requires completion of the honors course work requirement.

Transition Policy:

The Department of English will ensure in transition that students carry no undue burden owing to semester conversion. English undergraduate major programs are structured typically by course and course components so that requirements can be considered fulfilled in transition, credit hours notwithstanding. There have been few course changes made to the curriculum and no new additional required courses that might add cumulatively to a program to impede student progress. Generally, in transition credit will be applied on a course to course basis in nearly all cases.

Survey requirements have been reduced from three courses to two in the re-envisioned major and two survey courses eliminated from the curriculum, English 202 and 291. Students will be granted credit in transition for English 202 or 291 as alternates to the newly integrated introductory courses English 2201 and 2290 as appropriate to satisfy the survey requirement.

For English majors the new diversity requirement can be satisfied easily through course work completed under the quarter system or available after semester conversion. It is a 0-credit requirement and the component can be considered satisfied retroactively where students have completed a quarter course, now designated “D” in the updated curriculum, equal to its counterpart semester equivalent. In the case of pre-education English majors, who already are required to take a diversity course, there will be no new requirement.

Further, the department has opted to create non-mandatory concentrations achieved through advising to assist students in creating cohesive and focused undergraduate programs through transition to semesters and beyond. Professional and faculty advisors will work with students to apply course work completed prior to conversion in the most appropriate fashion to ensure academic integrity and guarantee that planned progress within a given program leads to timely completion and graduation.
