Course Change Information

What change is being proposed? (If more than one, what changes are being proposed?)

Credit hour change from three (3) credits to (4) credits for the Graduate Introduction to Latina/o Studies course.

Content change to this course will include the addition of instruction in teaching an Introduction to Latina/o Studies course at the undergraduate level.

What is the rationale for the proposed change(s)?

This credit hour and content change will allow faculty to guide students in developing a syllabus and pedagogy for teaching Latina/o Studies at the undergraduate level. These changes will benefit students by enhancing their preparation for future partial or full employment in the growing field of Latina/o Studies. At conversion, the GIS as approved by CAA stated that this course was supposed to be 4 credits. This change will bring the GIS in line with the new semester requirements that all GIS programs consist of at least ten (10) credits.

What are the programmatic implications of the proposed change(s)?

(e.g. program requirements to be added or removed, changes to be made in available resources, effect on other programs that use the course)?

The goal of the GIS is to assist graduate students in gaining advanced knowledge of Latina/o Studies and training in its interdisciplinary methods while also providing students with a transcript legible certification in this area of study. The change from a three (3) credit course to a four (4) credit course will allow the Latina/o Studies Program and faculty to enhance training in interdisciplinary teaching so as to make our students more competitive in securing post-graduation employment.

Is approval of the request contingent upon the approval of other course or curricular program request? Yes

Please identify the pending request and explain its relationship to the proposed changes(s) for this course (e.g. cross listed courses, new or revised program)

Comp Studies 6425 course change request.

Is this a request to withdraw the course? No

Proposed Revision to CS 6425/SPAN 6705: Graduate Introduction to Latina/o Studies

What is the change?

Credit hour change from three (3) credits to (4) credits for the Graduate Introduction to Latina/o Studies course.

Content change to this course will include the addition of instruction in teaching an Introduction to Latina/o Studies course at the undergraduate level.

Rationale for proposed changes?

This credit hour and content change will allow faculty to guide students in developing a syllabus and pedagogy for teaching Latina/o Studies at the undergraduate level. These changes will benefit students by enhancing their preparation for future partial or full employment in the growing field of Latina/o Studies. This change will also bring the GIS in line with the new semester requirements that all GIS programs consist of at least ten (10) credits.

Programmatic Implications?

The goal of the GIS is to assist graduate students in gaining advanced knowledge of Latina/o Studies and training in its interdisciplinary methods while also providing students with a transcript legible certification in this area of study. The change from a three (3) credit course to a four (4) credit course will allow the Latina/o Studies Program and faculty to enhance training in interdisciplinary teaching so as to make our students more competitive in securing post-graduation employment.

Course goals?

As the gateway course into the GIS, CompStd 6425 / SPAN 6705 explores Latina/o Studies research in multiple disciplinary fields while providing an overview of the history and current state of field to offer students a comprehensive grounding in this interdisciplinary field. Assignments include A) develop and write Latina/o Studies research projects in student's particular graduate fields B) plan and prepare an undergraduate Latina/o Studies syllabus C) teach one Latina/o Studies lesson plan. Therefore, goals of this course include:

- Students gain knowledge of key Latina/o Studies research in multiple fields
- Students gain understanding of interdisciplinary methods and approaches
- Students gain understanding of history and current state of field
- Students are prepared to teach an undergraduate Latina/o Studies course

Sample Syllabus

Course Title: Comparative Studies 6425 / Spanish 6705: Introduction to Latina/o Studies

Course Description and Goals:

As the gateway course into the GIS, CompStd 6425 / SPAN 6705 explores Latina/o Studies research in multiple disciplinary fields while providing an overview of the history and current state of field to offer students a comprehensive grounding in this interdisciplinary field.

Latina/o Studies offers a unique education in the critical analysis of the experiences, histories, literatures, arts, and cultures of the multiethnic, multiracial, and multilingual population of Latinas/os in the U.S. In this course students will examine the educational, cultural, social, political, geographic, economic, artistic, and literary phenomena created and influenced by Latinas/os, as well as the impact of trends in these areas on Latina/o populations.

- Students gain knowledge of key Latina/o Studies research in multiple fields
- Students gain understanding of interdisciplinary methods and approaches
- Students gain understanding of history and current state of field
- Students are prepared to teach an undergraduate Latina/o Studies course

Assignments:

- 30% Regular attendance and participation in class discussion.
- 40% Research project and final paper of 20-25 pages in length on that project.
- 20% Create and workshop an undergraduate syllabus in Latina/o Studies.
- 10% Plan and execute an undergraduate Latina/o Studies lesson.

Learning Accommodations

If you need an accommodation due to the impact of impairment, please arrange an appointment with me as soon as possible so that we can discuss potential options. If you have not already done so, please contact the Office for Disability Services as well so that they can assist us appropriately.

OSU Policy: "Students with disabilities that have been certified by the Office for Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated and should inform the instructor as soon as possible of their needs. The Office for Disability Services is located in 150 Pomerene Hall, 1760 Neil Avenue; telephone 292-3307, TDD 292-0901; <http://www.ods.ohio-state.edu/>."

Academic Honesty

Presenting the work of another as your own is plagiarism and University sanctions this quite severely. Learn and apply the rules for proper citation of sources in your work. If you don't know them, ask. Misrepresenting your work or that of someone else is simply not acceptable.

OSU Policy:

"It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct http://studentlife.osu.edu/pdfs/csc_12-31-07.pdf."
