Jesus Christ is a major religious figure about which there is considerable academic and theological debate. This course examines this debate and thus explores the problem of how historical facts and religious persuasion are related where a religion, such as Christianity, lays claim to historical truth. Since the Enlightenment this has been a matter of considerable intellectual and cultural interest. The basic questions are: Who was Jesus? What can we know about him that will satisfy ordinary standards of historical knowledge? What difference does it make? Attempts to answer these questions have resulted in what is usually called the "quests" for the "historical Jesus." This course will analyze those previous quests for the historical Jesus and their analysis of the early Christian Gospels. Each student will write a final paper arguing for his or her own particular reconstruction of the historical Jesus, using the methods of critical analysis that he or she is learning in the course.

Required Texts: (Also on reserve in Thompson Library).

The HarperCollins Study Bible, edited by Harold W. Attridge and Wayne A. Meeks et al. (HarperSanFrancisco, 2006).

Bart D. Ehrman, Jesus: Apocalyptic Prophet of the New Millennium (Oxford University Press, 1999).

Paula Fredriksen, Jesus of Nazareth: King of the Jews. Vintage Books, 1999.

Keith F. Nickel, The Synoptic Gospels: An Introduction. Revised Edition. Westminster/John Knox Press, 2001.

E. P. Sanders, The Historical Figure of Jesus. Penguin Books, 1993.

Burton H. Throckmorton, Jr., Gospel Parallels: A Comparison of the Synoptic Gospels, 5th ed. (Thomas Nelson, 1992).

Additional e-Readings (marked on syllabus), posted on Carmen (under "Resources")

Important Library Resource: The Anchor Bible Dictionary (6 vols.). The standard academic reference work on the Bible. The entries for each gospel are particularly helpful. Located in the reference area, BS440 .A54 1992

General Education (GE) Requirement: This course fulfills the following General Education (GE) Requirements:

1. Historical Study

For Historical Study the Goals and Expected Learning Outcomes are specified as follows:

Goals:

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

The course readings and assignments address the learning outcomes of Historical Study in the following ways:

This course allow students to recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition in the following ways:

1. Critically examine theories of history, and historical methodologies
Students will analyze the historical contingency of Jesus as an ancient Galilean Jew. Claims (both ancient and modern) about Jesus are contradictory, neither self-evident nor inevitable. Students will encounter social, cultural, economic, and social explanations for changing ideas and images of Jesus as part of the history of early Judaism.
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on specific regions, time periods and themes of the human past.
This course highlights how the figure of Jesus never exists in isolation as a single set of "facts." The complicated relationships among history and beliefs are continuously defined by social and cultural ideas, and they change over time.

3. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students will access and critically examine social, political, economic, military, gender, religious, ecological, and ethnic/racial/national movements in a wider socio- cultural context.

Students will study a finite corpus of evidence, the New Testament writings in concert with extra canonical gospels (i.e, the Gospel of Thomas), as primary sources in order to gain insight into past beliefs about Jesus, such as the claims about his teachings and actions, and how and why those beliefs changed over time.

4. Students will carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper comparing distinct historical moments, social movements and their effects.

This course covers a distinct historical moment in the Roman empire, the first two centuries of the Common Era, and the papers, and especially the final exam, require students to analyze how social, political and religious changes shaped the rise of early Christianity as a religion distinct from its parent, Judaism.

5. The courses addresses (1) mastery of content; (2) articulation of ideas; (3) capacity to work toward accomplishing goals both independently and cooperatively; (4) knowledge of and respect for individuals and groups who are different from the student; (5) development of multiple literacies (in the philosophy of history) and information literary of the past; (8) a literary aesthetic; (9) self-reflection; and (10) historical consciousness.

Requirements:

Class Participation. For each class session, you are to email to the instructor one (1) question based on the homework reading. Questions are due the night before class. Attendance at all class sessions is expected and role will be taken. The course will be primarily lecture with discussion. All students are expected to come to class having read and understood the materials for that session. Students must be prepared to contribute to discussion each day.

A Midterm Examination on February 8.

Term Paper (8–10 pages) on the historical Jesus. All papers are to be typed with 12-point Times New Roman font and double-spaced. E-Mail attachments or FAX are not acceptable options for submitting papers in this course. You have the option of meeting any of three deadlines:

Deadline I (re–write option). April 5 If you turn in your paper by this date, I will return it with criticisms and suggestions on April 12 so that you can submit a revised paper (along with your first draft) by Deadline III (April 19).

Deadline II. April 12. If you turn in your paper by this date, I will grade it and make comments and criticism. There is no re-writing with this option.

Deadline III. April 19 If you turn in your paper by this date, I will grade it without comments and criticism. There is no re-writing with this option. Late penalties start to apply for papers submitted after the end of class.

The purpose of this system is to allow each student as much feedback from me as she or he wants. The criteria for evaluating the papers are the same for each deadline. Your paper will not be graded more or less strictly depending on which deadline you meet. That is, a Deadline II paper could get an A, a Deadline I paper a C.

Final Examination: Thurs. May 5, 10:15 a.m.–12:15 p.m.

Grading: 25% Test
 25% Term Paper
 25% Final Exam
 25% Class Participation

Grading Policy: An A indicates excellence of the highest quality. A B indicates above average work, meeting more than the minimum. A C indicates that the student minimally does the requirements of the course. In grading papers, I give a grade in the “B” range to papers I judge basically successful, and a grade in the “C” range to papers I judge basically unsuccessful. A paper will have to impress me strongly, one way or the other, to get a higher or lower grade. An “A” paper therefore will be a paper that is not merely good, but genuinely outstanding.

Grade scale: A, 100-93%; A-, 92-90%; B+, 89-87%; B, 86-83%; B-, 82-80%; C+, 79-77%; C, 76-73%; C-, 72-70%; D+, 69-65%; D, 64-60%; E 59% and below.

Attendance Policy. It is a requirement of this course that you attend every class session and that you arrive on time. Three absences for any reason will cost a grade step (e.g., a final grade of B– will be lowered to C+). A word of warning: you had better save your absences for times when you are truly ill or otherwise unable to attend class. The policy does not mean that you get two class “cuts” plus additional “excused” absences. Exceptions are granted only rarely, at the professor’s discretion.

BRING YOUR BIBLE TO EVERY CLASS

Course Policies:

Absences from Exams: If there will be a problem with the exam dates, you must let me know NOW during the first week of class.

Acceptance of Late Papers. Written work is to be submitted on time, that is, by the start of class the day the paper is due. An essay assignment submitted after the start of class is late (by one day). Late papers will result in the loss of a step in grade for every day after the due date (e.g., a paper with the grade of B will become B– if one day late, C+ if two days late, and so forth). All essays must be submitted before the last day of class.

Academic Misconduct. It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

Disability Statement. Students with disabilities that have been certified by the Office for Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated and should inform the instructor as soon as possible of their needs. The Office for Disability Services is located in 150 Pomerene Hall, 1760 Neil Avenue; telephone 292-3307, TDD 292-0901; <http://www.ods.ohio-state.edu/>.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee (ASCC)

FROM: Paula Baker, Chair, Undergraduate Teaching Committee, Department of History

RE: Assessment Plan for proposed GE courses: Historical Study Category, Social Diversity in the U.S., and Diversity: Global Studies

Assessment Goals and Objectives

1. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for all History courses might be summarized as follows:

Historical Study GE Requirements:

Goals:

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

Goals of the courses that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes:

History courses develop students' recognition of how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition through the following ways:

1. Critically examine theories of history, and historical methodologies
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on specific regions, time periods and themes of the human past.
3. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students will access and critically examine social, political, economic, military, gender, religious, ecological, and ethnic/racial/national movements in a wider socio- cultural context.
4. Students will carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct historical moments, social movements and their effects

2. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for History courses requesting Social Diversity in the U.S. might be summarized as follows:

Social Diversity GE Requirements:

Goals:

Courses in social diversity will foster students' understanding of the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the United States in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.
2. Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

Goals of the course that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes: Students will achieve the social diversity goals and learning outcomes by

1. Completing readings, attending lectures, and participating in class discussions and in-class assignments that will help students understand how the categories of race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation have shaped peoples' identities and the distribution of power and resources in the U.S. and elsewhere
 2. Describe theories of racial, ethnic, class, national, gender, and religious formation on exams and written assignments.
 3. Critically examine theories of race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation
 4. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation.
 5. Access and critically examine movements framed by race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and/or nation in a wider socio-cultural context.
 6. Carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct moments of ethnic, racial, nationalist, gender, class, and/or religious mobilization or social movements and their effects.
3. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for History courses requesting Diversity: Global Studies might be summarized as follows:

Global Studies GE Requirements:

Goals:

Courses in Diversity – Global Studies will foster students' understanding of the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S.
2. Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.

Goals of the course that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes: Students will achieve the social diversity goals and learning outcomes by

1. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students critically examine the political, economic, social, cultural and philosophical development in the World.
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on the differences and similarities between cultures and peoples.
3. Access and critically examine ethnically, nationally or religiously framed movements in a wider socio-cultural and global context.
4. Carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct moments in human history and how they shaped the world in the past and today.
5. Completing readings, attending lectures, and participating in class discussions and in-class assignments that will help students understand the complexity of debates over international issues. They will describe theories of international issues on exams and written assignments.
6. Students will understand the roots and structures of today's globalized world.

II. Methods

An assessment of whether these objectives are met is effectively carried out by an examination of the work students are actually required to do for the course. Contributions in class discussions will be considered, but weighted more lightly, given the tendency for more confident students to contribute more to such discussions. Paper and exams will provide an understanding of students' abilities to think historically and to engage in analysis. This can be gauged by their responses to specific exam questions—asking students to provide a perspective on history and relate that perspective to an understanding of the factors that shape human activity. Thus, exams for Historical Study courses will have at least one question that requires students to provide a perspective on the factors that shaped an event or theory. Similarly, for courses that include Diversity in the U.S. GE requirements, we will have at least one question that requires students to provide a description of the roles of categories such as race, gender, class, ethnicity and religion and how those roles have helped shape either their perspective or the country's perspective on diversity. For courses that include Diversity: Global Studies, we will ask one question that requires students to provide an understanding of some combination of political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical differences in or among the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S. In this way, we hope to measure the courses (and the students') progress toward the multiple objectives of the GE. In this way we should be able to ascertain whether they are acquiring the desired skills and not simply learning (and regurgitating) specific information.

Summary of Data:

A committee, appointed by the UTC Chair, will be asked to evaluate a sample of questions and papers, and to gauge how well the goals of the course seem reflected in them. Assessment of Historical Study, Social Diversity, and Diversity: Global Issues from the GE goals will be carried out primarily through the evaluation of formal graded assignments and ungraded in-class assignments. The committee will rank the assignments across a four-category scale that captures students' mastery of the GE goals. Students will complete an informal feedback survey halfway through the semester to assess their own performance, the pace of the class, and the instructor's effectiveness. A brief summary report will be written by the UTC Chair, and that, as well as the sampled questions themselves, will be made available to the instructor and to the Chair of the department. We intend to insure that the proposed courses adequately articulate these goals, teach toward them, test for them, and help students realize their individual potential to meet them. Assessments will be summarized and used to alter the course for the next teaching.

Dear Professor Shank,

The Department of History is seeking concurrence from the Department of Comparative Studies for adding History 3219, The Historical Jesus. I've attached a copy of the syllabus and a copy of the concurrence form (or you can just email back to me, whichever you prefer). If I have not heard back from the department within two weeks (August 31, 2015) I will assume concurrence has been approved.

This is a course that was offered in Classics and is now moving to History along with its teacher, Bert Harrill. Please let me know if you have questions.

Sincerely,

David Stebenne
Professor of History and Law and
Chair, History Undergraduate Teaching Committee
