Community Arts University Without Walls (CAUWW) is a special course of study for those interested in the impact and role of cultural arts in engaging issues of social justice within communities. The courses taught by renowned community experts and scholars culturally grounded in the arts, public policy and advocacy will present and engage with students on best practices that have made positive and significant contributions to diverse communities. The 2 ½ weeks intensive course of study focuses on the legacy of the Civil Rights Movement, important contemporary issues including cultural equity, social and economic justice and their continuing impact on the present and future generations of cultural arts activists. The program is a unique study abroad program where students from universities and colleges across the US attend with artists who work in communities where art has an impact on community development and social justice.

Syllabus: Community Arts University Without Walls Puerto Rico 2016

Central to the process is the commitment to embrace and honor the cultural histories and traditions that inform the aesthetic and artistic expressions of the diversity of communities of color, poor white, and culturally grounded communities. CAUWW has at its fundamental theoretical approach and praxis:

1. Core values that include varied cultural perspectives and equitable standards,
2. First voice for community leadership in policies addressing their community issues and solutions,
3. Cross disciplinary work to include culture and art as integral to public policy,
4. Equal valuing of community cultural arts, artists and organizations, and
5. Support for local and global connectiveness to honor cultural perspectives as equal contributors to culture and art.

Collectively this underlies the global spectrum of cultural experiences that is the nexus of achieving cultural equity.

The Next Generation of Cultural Arts Advocates

CAUWW is for those who are working within their core communities or who are committed to cultural arts as a means for change in community grounded programs and institutions focused on justice and equity. It is for cultural arts advocates seeking to continue expanding their understanding and knowledge of cultural arts transformative strategies, in order to deepen and expand their contributions within their programs, organizations and communities. Exchanges between cultural arts advocates in Puerto Rico and advocates participating in CAUWW will provide the opportunity for sharing of research, community work experiences, comparative strategies and collaboration on joint initiatives and or projects over time. The courses will focus on historical, theoretical and practical studies and research, in the field of community arts. Central to the process is establishing exchanges with cultural arts colleagues in Puerto Rico and internationally to develop a working network of cultural arts advocacy colleagues. Mentors in community arts advocacy will be guest lectures and supervise field experiences and mentorship projects.

Course

CAUWW Cultural Arts Ambassador, Advocacy and Social Justice
2-Weeks Intensive Program in Puerto Rico | June 19, 2016 - July 2, 2016

The course is designed to provide for reflection and examination of students core beliefs and assumptions in the areas of cultural equity, advocacy and art for change as it relates to their realities, ideologies and assumptions. Engaging with colleagues from diverse curricular areas with other working frameworks provides for critical analysis and exchanges to further enhance their praxis. The exchange of information and knowledge is designed to motivate creative and innovative thought; while exploring possibilities for joint work and collaborations with community cultural advocates in Puerto Rico and other locations during the 2-week on-site experience and over time as work with mentors continues.

Syllabus: Community Arts University Without Walls Puerto Rico 2016

This course includes a historical analysis of the challenges that motivated the emergence of the community arts advocacy field, the role of founding artists, cultural workers and organizations in Puerto Rico and the United States. The course will also cover the role of community-based programs and organizations established to address issues impacting the development and growth of communities. Students will meet and work with policymakers, scholars, community arts advocates, artists and cultural workers to collectively develop strategies to ensure equity at all levels of society, specifically within their communities.

The program is divided between classroom sessions and site-based study. The course provides cultural, historical and policy contexts while the site-based sessions afford practical experiential learning opportunities with established local community groups, artists, and community activists. This two-week intensive is designed to provide significant immersion into community engagement strategies focused on cultural equity.

The Community Arts Imperative: The Right to Cultural Equity, Arts Policy and Advocacy in Puerto Rico

This course brings together analysis of global contexts and local innovations to develop an understanding of a movement for cultural equity through advancing community arts. The continuous challenges posed by racial and cultural diversity within nations and globally insist upon the need for understanding how cultural issues of equity and inequity are addressed in varied locations. The course also focuses on how communities generate forms of cultural expression and ways of life that affirm and express their values and sensibilities. Understanding the global landscape necessitates an understanding of the global issues impacting cultural communities that are a reflection of public policy that determines the social status of varied communities ranging from cultural issues to economic opportunities.

The why and art of community cultural work are important to understand the art of meaning and intent that addresses issues and solutions. These narratives have been marginal and/or excluded from the traditional arts narrative from the perspective and voice of the culturally grounded communities that are the articulators of their political and creative work.

The importance of cultural preservation through education and the arts is of paramount importance. Coursework will develop an understanding of community-based initiatives, varied narratives and organizational frameworks that assure the recognition of the heritage and legacies of cultural communities. Included in this pursuit are new heightened levels of public discourse, awareness and involvement leading to significant policy changes. Special emphasis will be placed on the analysis of goals, strategies and outcomes of student involvements. A first-hand dialogue with The University of Puerto Rico students actively involved in raising issues of social, cultural and economic equity will be provided.

Student Assessment (100 points total)

30 points

Participation is extremely important. All readings are to be done in a timely manner. Students are expected to bring assigned readings with them to every relevant class session. Participation includes: reading and understanding all readings and assignments; involvement in class discussions - asking questions, offering thoughtful insights and comments, responding to classmates' comments; completing site writing assignments on time; taking part in out-of-class discussions. Participation also includes being on time, engaging with speakers, following the University Code of Conduct and our class contract.

Participate in potential online and in-class discussions on required readings, films, videos, etc. Your active participation will be considered by the quality of your discussion responses, listening as well as responding, reflecting, and being an engaged and active part of the class.

30 points

During the trip, you will complete daily journal entries guided by prompts. It is due July 6th at the post-trip class meeting. The journal will be assessed for its clear evidence that you are making connections between the assigned literature and the experiences in Puerto Rico.

40 points

Submit a post-trip reflective portfolio. Students will produce a portfolio (documentation) containing layers of images, text, and/or other (video) material and visual culture. The final product may take on a traditional "portfolio," it may be done in digital format, online, etc. You should use photos from the in-country experience.

Graduate students must sign up for additional 1-3 credit hours of independent study with faculty to continue additional research.

Partner Institutions

The Ohio State University is a public research university in Columbus, Ohio. Founded in 1870, as a land-grant university and ninth university in Ohio with the Morrill Act of 1862.

The Lawrence & Isabel Barnett Center for Integrated Arts & Enterprise <https://barnettcenter.osu.edu/> educates and prepares students for successful careers in the arts and related entrepreneurial fields. The center advances and increases students' understandings of the business side of the arts and the worlds of arts management, policy, and culture by focusing on the entrepreneurial aspects of the arts. The Barnett Center was established in 2012 by a generous donation from Ohio State alumnus and entertainment industry leader, the late Lawrence Barnett and his wife Isabel. The Barnett Center expands the vision of Lawrence and Isabel Barnett who imagined creating a place where students could learn skills and abilities that would equip them to be successful in the arts. The Center opened January 2014 and collaborates with the Fisher College of Business, John Glenn School of Public Affairs, and multiple departments within the College of Arts and Sciences. Guests from local, regional, and national arts organizations provide leadership to students through collaborations with OSU departments, centers and community partners in the Greater Central Ohio areas. The center contributes to curricular offerings focused on arts entrepreneurship and arts management by offering programs, working with graduate students across disciplines, and supporting undergraduate student organizations.

Department of Arts Administration, Education and Policy

<https://aaep.osu.edu/>

The Department's undergraduate and graduate programs prepare future educators, researchers, and leaders in the areas of art education and arts policy and administration. Graduate students have the opportunity to specialize in our primary areas of focus: art education, cultural policy and arts management, or museum education; as well as interdisciplinary specializations, such as material culture studies, community arts, American Indian studies, disability studies, gender and sexuality studies, or a range of other university specializations.

Latina/o Studies Program <https://latino-astudies.osu.edu/> offers an interdisciplinary Minor and a Graduate Specialization in Latina/o Studies. As an academic inter-discipline, Latina/o Studies offers a unique education in the critical analysis of the experiences (social, political, medical, urban, gendered), histories, literatures, arts, and cultures of the multiethnic, multiracial, and multilingual population of Latina/os in the U.S. Latina/o Studies is a part of the Diversity and Identity Studies Collective at OSU \(DISCO\).

The Inter American University of Puerto Rico (UIPR)

<http://www.metro.inter.edu/index.asp> is an institution accredited by The Middle States Commission on Higher Education and the Consejo de Educación Superior de Puerto Rico (CES-PR). UIPR is the largest private university in the Western Hemisphere. Often referred as "Inter"— it is an Ecumenic Christian university dedicated to uniting academic excellence with leadership and service to society. It was founded in 1912 in San Germán, Puerto Rico. The University has nine campuses on the island, three professional schools and academic programs in 11 teaching units. In 1944 it became the first institution outside the continental United States to be accredited by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Schools. It is the leader in distance education with 8 academic programs offered entirely online and more than 300 online courses and the only higher education institution on the island that has an all English trimester program in the Metro Campus.

The Caribbean Cultural Center African Diaspora Institute (CCCADI)

<http://cccadi.org/> commonly known as the Caribbean Cultural Center, was conceived in 1976 by Dr. Marta Moreno Vega who had a vision to create an international organization to promote and link communities of African descendants wherever our communities are present. CCCADI is dedicated to promoting and promulgating the cultures of people of African descents in the Americas. Connecting communities from the Diaspora to our root cultures, where possible provides a comprehensive understanding of the sacred, aesthetic, philosophical thought and practices that our Diaspora communities have gifted the world. Through concerts, gallery tours, workshops, performances, conferences, professional development sessions, spiritual gatherings, and teaching artists residencies and social media present programs that reach a multi-generational audience. For over 36 years CCCADI have worked toward the social, cultural, and economic equity of African Diaspora communities in New York City and State and around the world.

RE:Arts Education 5798: Community Arts University Without Walls (Study Away, Puerto Rico, Summer 2016)

Proposal: New Offering

Reviewing Academic Unit: Latina/o Studies

Response from the Academic Unity Reviewing:

As coordinator of Latina/o Studies, I am supporting the proposal. This is an innovative, intensive exposure to community based arts as a tool for advocacy and social change, as it is experienced in Puerto Rico. The course is critically interesting, and timely, and it links students to an interesting group of people working in a varied range of cultural advocacy programs. The proposal was reviewed by the Latina/o Studies Faculty Advisory Committee at a meeting on September 10, 2015, and it was unanimously supported. Thank you for your attention.

Best, Miranda Martinez

Greetings Jonathan,
Thank you for sending the email concurrence. To answer your questions:

1. There are no prerequisites for this course. The three pre-trip study dates are meant to acclimate the students.
2. Students are not required to have proficiency in Spanish although knowledge is helpful.
3. The intended audience are students who are interested in understanding in the impact and role of cultural equity in the arts, communities, and society. It is open to both undergraduate and graduate students.

In Peace
Sonia

Dear Sonia,

I understand from the College of Arts and Sciences Curriculum and Assessment Operations Manual (Appendix 5) that an email can be substituted for the Concurrence Form.

The Undergraduate Studies Committee met on Monday (Jan. 25) to review the new course proposal, "Community Arts University Without Walls: Puerto Rico 2016. Thank you for informing us of this new course. The committee unanimously supports it. The members did have a couple of questions, that you might be able to answer, just for our information.

- (1) Are there any pre-requisites for the course?
- (2) Will the students be required to have proficiency in Spanish?
- (3) What is the intend ended audience for the course.

The Undergraduate Studies Committee feels that this course will enrich the education of our own students, as well as art student, and arts activists. Thanks again for sharing it with us.

All the best

Greetings Miranda and Glenn,
The attached course was approved last semester by Latina/o Studies to be included as a curricular offering. As you can see from below I need "concurrences from (1) Spanish and Portuguese (Professor Glenn Martinez) & (2) Latina/o Studies Program (Professor Miranda Martinez)." Please let me know what I need to do for this. This is my first time going through this process. Let me know if you have any questions that I can answer. I'm hoping to offer this study away this summer.

Life is not about waiting for the storms to pass, it's about learning to dance in the rain!

We are here to Create, not merely survive.

On Tuesday, January 12, the Arts and Humanities Panel of the ASC Curriculum Committee reviewed a course proposal for Art Education 5798.02 (new course). Please find below the feedback of the Panel:

- Art Education 5798.02: Course unanimously approved with three contingencies:
 - This course will very likely count in the major as an elective. If that is indeed the case, an updated curriculum map needs to be uploaded.
 - Request concurrences from (1) Spanish and Portuguese (Professor Glenn Martinez) & (2) Latina/o Studies Program (Professor Miranda Martinez).
 - Form in curriculum.osu.edu: request to address some inaccuracies:
 - Remove cross-listing with Comparative Studies. There does not appear to be any such proposal in the works. If that is not the case and a version of this course is supposed to be created in the Dept of Comparative Studies, that dept should be requested to create their version of the course as soon as possible.

- Uncheck freshman and sophomore ranking. Indeed, the Graduate School does not consider that courses at the 5000 level are intended for freshmen and sophomores.

As for 5798.02, I will return the course via curriculum.osu.edu in a minute to enable the Department to address the points above.

Should you have any questions about the feedback above, please feel free to contact Janice Aski (Chair of the Arts and Humanities Panel; cc'd on this message), or me.
