Steve,

My apologies for taking so long on this.

The College of Engineering concurs on all three proposals to create a minor in Design Thinking, to revise the current Design minor and to create an interdisciplinary minor in Science and Technology Studies.

We hope all are successful implementations.

Best regards,
David Tomasko

Hello David,

The Department of Comparative Studies has proposed a new minor in Science and Technology Studies (an existing track within their current major program as well). When this went through the ASC Curriculum committee, we should have sent it to you for concurrence. My apologies for that oversight. The proposal is now on the CAA agenda for this afternoon, but if you would look over the proposal and consider writing a brief concurrence letter (by e-mail is fine) and sending it directly to Katie Reed and copying me, Garrett Heysel, and Barry Shank (Chair of CS), we would certainly appreciate it. CAA approval may be contingent on your concurrence. If you have questions or concerns, please also share those with those of us indicated here from ASC.

FYI, I've also attached the proposals to revise the Design minor(s), since these may also be of interest to Engineering.

Regards, and thank you,

Steve
