Dear Alison,

Thank you for sending along this concurrence. That means that your freshman seminar is now fully approved.

I am including Todd Bitters (Director of Freshman Seminars) and his assistant Dawn Nolen on this e-mail. They schedule freshman seminars and will be able to take it from here. I will let them answer your question about whether it is still possible to teach the seminar this fall considering that it would be offered during second session.

All best wishes,
Bernadette

Dear Meg Daly and Bernadette Vankeerbergen,
Below, please see the required email of "support" from Carl Maresh for my proposed Freshman Seminar entitled "Yoga and the Quest for Creative Freedom". I am sorry that it has taken me so long to forward this email to you but I have been in Boston on a fellowship for the month of July and have been really immersed in my research. It took me a couple of weeks to get this positive response, via his assistant Christina Frisdon, from Professor Maresh and by the time it arrived, I was caught up in the process of preparing for my transition to Boston and dropped the ball.

Please know that I am still very interested in teaching this course. In a perfect world, I would like it to be a seven week seminar during second session. Is there any chance we can still run it this fall? If so, I would be very excited to teach it later this fall. I just need to find the right space and have the required text ordered. Thank you for your time in responding to this email and I hope that you are both enjoying very relaxing and productive summers.

Kind regards,
Alison
