Course Change Information

What change is being proposed? (If more than one, what changes are being proposed?)

Add online delivery method for the course, in addition to in-class.

What is the rationale for the proposed change(s)?

This course continues to have a large enrollment (299 each semester) with up to 60 others waitlisted. An online delivery method will enable accommodating all of these students, and provide a choice of delivery method, thereby enhancing flexibility in scheduling and perhaps reducing time to degree.

What are the programmatic implications of the proposed change(s)?

(e.g. program requirements to be added or removed, changes to be made in available resources, effect on other programs that use the course)?

The same lecturer will teach both sections. This course is currently both a required course for majors and a GE course under Historical Studies.

Is approval of the request contingent upon the approval of other course or curricular program request? No

Is this a request to withdraw the course? No

Consumer Science: Fashion and Retail 2374

I am sorry for any confusion about this class format.   The idea here is to present another delivery method of a class that is currently taught face-to-face. The current face-to-face class has continually been closed out and wait-listed. The thought is that an online class would be a way to reach more students. This online section is an alternative format to the face-to-face section that will continue to be taught as well. I have refined a lot of the course since I submitted this proposal in May. I have been working with Sara Bear and Jennifer Cooke in EHE Education Technology and am currently in the 6 week UCAT online class to continue to improve the structure and content of this class.

The Panel did not take a vote on the course but would like clarifications about the following first:
- The Panel does not really understand what is going on in the course. For example:
    o How do students meet the instructor in the distance learning environment? I have recorded a video introduction to meet the students and explain the overall goals of the class.. It will appear in the first Content Page in the Modules section of Canvas. In addition, we are creating a 7 minute video on space fashion from the 1960's with the help of Eric Neeb, Senior Video Producer at EHE Education Technology. Our hope is to create more specialized topics over time. We are also writing a syllabus quiz that the students must pass in order to proceed in the class. This will help to ensure that they have studied the syllabus which explains how the class will work. Are there any lectures? Lectures are recorded through Mediasite and are almost complete. They will be released weekly through the modules available on Canvas. There will be assignments due each week. We are in the process of structuring the Master Class now. Are the discussions synchronous or asynchronous? Discussions are asynchronous and will be formatted through Canvas. How do students receive feedback from the instructor? Feedback will be through Canvas and email. There is a great video feedback option on Canvas so I can actually speak to the students with my feedback too.
    o Office hours: Are these in person or virtual or both? Office hours have been removed from the syllabus and information will be included about how to contact me via email and how quickly the student can expect a response. If a student requests a face-to-face meeting, this can be arranged.
    o How are discussions fostered in the discussion forums and how are the contributions graded? I will initiate a topic for discussion and have them respond. In addition, I am completing a rubric for grading. Students will also have ungraded peer discussions for further involvement. The thought is to have them engage with myself and other students. I am working with Sara Bear in EHE Education Technology and UCAT to learn best practices for online teaching.
- How is safety of on-line quizzes and exams guaranteed? Online quizzes and exams are done through Canvas. There is a bank of questions (say 60 for an exam of 50).   Each student's exam is a different random selection from this bank. In addition, the possible answers are randomly arranged by question and by student to ensure safety. The exams can also be times, just as a face-to-face exam would be. These are great options provided by Canvas.
- P. 2 of both syllabi: The term "GEC" has not been used since semester conversion. Please use "GE.". I will correct this and thank you

Final Historicism Project	PURPOSE: 1. To demonstrate student knowledge of the influence of historic costume on contemporary fashion design. 2. To demonstrate student ability to use primary sources to determine which period of historic costume influenced a particular style of contemporary dress during the twentieth century.

3. To explain (through analysis of current themes or trends in society) why students believe the historic style was used by the contemporary designer.

METHOD:

Step 1. Choose images from primary sources (current fashion publications) of ten fashion items (2015-16) that you believe have been influenced by historic styles of dress. Or you may use photographs of actual garments currently for sale or recently purchased. (For this project they are primary sources.) The current fashion items may include men's and women's clothing, accessories, and jewelry.

 Do not repeat any style of clothing or accessory items. Example: you may use a necklace only once. There are many items to choose from because there are many styles and elements of dress. You may separate out elements of dress. For instance, you may focus on a type of sleeve, a neckline, or skirt style that was borrowed from the past.   You are not limited to the 20th century. You may pick styles of dress from ancient times through the 20th century. Sources of the earlier styles must be primary sources.

 Step 2. Capture an image of each of the ten clothing items (women's, men's, or accessories, jewelry, etc.). Be sure to

a. Describe it in full, name it, date it, and give designer if available.

b. Where did you find the image? Give a full citation for each of the ten items.

 List title of the book, journal, magazine, and provide date, page numbers, etc.

Step 3. Determine which period or decade from costume history served as inspiration for each of the ten items that you have chosen. For historic periods, you may use those from Tortora's Survey of Historic Costume*; for the twentieth century use decades.*

Step 4. Find photographic images of primary sources that show the historic styles. These primary sources are available in library books or magazines. What you will find are photographic images of primary sources such as those in your textbooks, which you may use. A primary source is a portrait, sculpture, painting, illustration or photograph, garment or other artifact produced at a particular period of time.

That is, the period you are using for comparison.

Example: You select a garment in Vogue that looks similar to a garment in Hogarth painting. A Hogarth portrait is a primary source for the 1750s or 60s. You may then use a photograph of the Hogarth painting that you found in a historic fashion or a book about Hogarth.

Step 5. Capture the image that you found in a publication

a. Document all primary sources found in books or magazines (artist's or designer's name and name of work of art, the period in which it was produced, location of the piece in a museum, or collection, etc.)

b. document all bibliographic data on the book or journal where you found the image of the primary source.

Step 6. Each page should include an image of the current fashion image next to the image of the "historic" inspiration taken from a primary source.

a.--Don't forget to include all information on primary sources, including bibliographic data. (That means page numbers too.)

b.--Label each period.

Step 7. For each of the ten items provide an explanation of the relationship between the two images, current and historic. Refer to specific elements of the clothing design using correct costume terminology for each, (for example, "leg of mutton sleeve"). Discuss why you believe the contemporary designer might have been inspired by the historic period. What was happening that made the earlier sty acceptable for today's fashion. Did it correspond in some way to the current thinking of the clothing artist? Reflect current trends?

	Criteria for Evaluation of Project Possible Points 100 •20 points Follow assignment correctly. Be sure to document both the current fashion source and the historical item source! • 20 points Organization • 20 points Accuracy of interpretation • 20 points Mechanics • 20 points Format (correct bibliographical information); consistency Key to success on this project: Accuracy--- of descriptions, primary source citations, analysis, comparisons, and interpretation.
Extra Credit	There are two optional films available on Netflix for you to watch and take a quiz. You may choose one quiz only for a possible maximum of 20 extra points. The film quiz options will be posted on Canvas.

Grades will be assigned according to The OSU Standard Grade Scheme as follows:

100-93%=A, 92.9-90%=A-, 89.9-87%=B+, 86.9-83%=B+, 82.9-80%=B-, 79.9-77%=C+, 76.9-73%=C, 72.9-70%=C-, 69.9-68=D+, 66.9-60%=D, below 60%= E.

Online Course Policies:

1. Sending and receiving e-mail: The University's official mode of communication is via University email. Students must use their buckeyemail when emailing their professor, and faculty will use their OSU email when emailing students. When sending e-mail, please be sure to put FRS 2374 in the Subject Line and address me as Ms.Goldstein. Students can expect an email response to questions within 24 hours during school days.

2. Netiquette Policy: Netiquette is the proper way to communicate electronically with others.
   1. Only say something in an email that you would say in person. Likewise, when in doubt, leave it out.

   2. Because email can be easily forwarded, assume everyone has access to your email.

   3. Do not forward or post another person's email without their permission.

4. Avoid using all CAPS, as it is considered shouting.

5. Keep in mind that because nonverbal elements such as tone of voice and facial expressions are nearly nonexistent, anything that could be taken as rude or offensive probably will be.

6. Never send an email message when you are angry or upset. Give yourself time to "sleep on it." Draft your response and reread it in 24 hours. Chances are you will decide not to send it or you will rewrite a more appropriate response.

7. When reading and/or critiquing other students' work, keep in mind that we are all here to learn and whatever someone turns in is not expected to be perfect. Try to convey your feedback in a constructive, polite and rational way. Likewise, try to be open to constructive feedback.

8. Avoid using colors like red and green for accessibility reasons.

3. Assigned Course Material: Students are responsible for all material assigned in the text books, even if it is not covered during class.

4. Rules for Exams and Quizzes:
a. Students are expected to take exams when scheduled. Failure to do so will result in a zero. Make-ups will be given only when all 3 of these conditions are met: 1) the student notifies the instructor within 24 hours of the scheduled exam time that the exam will be/was missed, 2) the circumstances are extenuating, and 3) the student presents proof of the circumstances (original documents, no copies).

5. Assignments:
Assignments are due on the dates indicated on the syllabus. LATE ASSIGNMENTS WILL HAVE 3 POINTS DEDUCTED PER DAY. No assignments will be accepted one week past the due date, unless the professor is shown that circumstances are extenuating.

Academic Misconduct:
The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: "Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the University, or subvert the educational process." Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the University's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an "excuse" for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by University Rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the University's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the University. For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct (http://studentaffairs.osu.edu/info_for_students/csc.asp).

At the appointment, we can discuss the course format, anticipate your needs, and explore potential accommodations. The Office of Disability Services is relied upon for assistance in verifying the need for accommodations and developing accommodation strategies. If you have not contacted the Office for Disability Services, we encourage you to do so. Note: It is your responsibility to make your accommodation needs known to faculty. If a student with a disability does not request accommodations, instructors are under no obligation to provide accommodations. Please contact the Office for Disability Services at 614-292-3307 (V) or 614-292-0901 (TDD) in room 150 Pomerene Hall to coordinate reasonable accommodations; http://www.ods.ohio-state.edu/.

Hello,

Your syllabus has been submitted to EHE EdTech for review using the Curriculum Committee's approved QM Rubric and 11-Parts Checklist. Thank you for participating in a college-level informal QM syllabus review. The QM process aligns with the Instructional Design and Multimedia production goals we have set out to accomplish to support the college's needs. Additionally, the QM process and alignment to our college courses are proposed within the College Strategic plan. The QM process and later QM approvals will be quite beneficial to the course, the department, and the college, since it measures quality online aspects. The EHE EdTech team looked at the syllabus purely from the QM Rubric perspective.

 The complete 11-Parts of the Syllabus document can be found on the EHE Curriculum Committee website (http://ehe.osu.edu/assessment/governance/). Additionally, the reviewers have access to a more descriptive QM Rubric than what is represented here in the checklist. If you have completed QM's APPQMR training, you have access to the same Annotated Rubric, but if you have not, the lead reviewer is happy to schedule an appointment to discuss the QM Rubric in more detail.

Please understand that this is a review based on your syllabus only and without consultation with you. Thus, it is an informal review and is to be used as a means to discuss meeting QM and the EHE Curriculum Committee standards.

Please see the legend the bottom of page 3 of the checklist to understand the markings in the right-hand margin of the checklist.

On page two, the highlighted standards indicate items that could be found in a syllabus, and are what the reviewers are looking for in your syllabus. On page three, there are no highlights, but all are expected by the Curriculum Committee to be present in your syllabus. A checkmark in the right-hand column indicates whether or not the item was located by the reviewer.

In the textbox in the right-hand column next to the checkmark, you will see an indication of the page(s) where the reviewer found the item. Following that, there may or may not be QM and/or CC. If you do not see QM and/or CC, it means the reviewer matched the available criteria to what was found in the syllabus. If you see QM and/or CC, the reviewer is indicating that there may be additional items needed or modified in the syllabus.

Please contact ehe-edtech@osu.edu to schedule a consultation to discuss the results of this informal syllabus review.

Thank you,

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the University's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an "excuse" for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by University Rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the University's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the University. For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct (http://studentaffairs.osu.edu/info_for_students/csc.asp).

Disability Services:

Anyone who feels the need for an accommodation based on the impact of a disability should contact the instructor for an appointment, no later than the second week of class. At the appointment, we can discuss the course format, anticipate your needs, and explore potential accommodations. The Office of Disability Services is relied upon for assistance in verifying the need for accommodations and developing accommodation strategies. If you have not contacted the Office for Disability Services, we encourage you to do so. Note: It is your responsibility to make your accommodation needs known to faculty. If a student with a disability does not request accommodations, instructors are under no obligation to provide accommodations. Please contact the Office for Disability Services at 614-292-3307 (V) or 614-292-0901 (TDD) in room 150 Pomerene Hall to coordinate reasonable accommodations; http://www.ods.ohio-state.edu/.

Specific procedures are outlined in Faculty Rule 3335-7-23, which is available from the Office of Student Life, 208 Ohio Union." "Grievances against graduate, research, and teaching assistants should be submitted first to the supervising instructor, then to the chairperson of the assistant's department. "

Statement on Diversity:
 The Department of Consumer Sciences affirms the importance and value of diversity in the student body. Our programs and curricula reflect our multicultural society and global economy and seek to provide opportunities for students to learn more about persons who are different from them. Discrimination against any individual based upon protected status, which is defined as age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status, is prohibited.

Costume Collection (CC)

There are 5 Costume Collection quizzes which are designed to help you identify primary sources of clothing to help you understand the resources available on the web for historic research. This is will help you dramatically for your final project! Some garments may be viewed on https://Fashion2Fiber@osu.edu. Fashion2Fiber is a reference resource of historic costume and textiles ranging in date from 1800 to 2010 selected from the Ohio State University Historic Costume & Textiles Collection. The site is unique resource of in-depth information of clothing artifacts useful for many disciplines including the areas of theatrical costume design, fashion design, history, textile history, popular culture, textiles and textile conservation. Fashion2Fiber has been developed in part through the support from the Friends of the Historic Costume & Textiles Collection and from the Institute for Museum and Library Services.

The quiz questions will be available on Carmen and will be open for one week. They generally cover two decades. The questions will provide sources for different online costume collections. The numbers in parentheses, in the questions, are the acquisition numbers specific to the collection you are directed to.

You will need to search for the item by acquisition number (Eg. 1999.43.2) on each site. There are different search options for each collection (though they are similar). You will have plenty of time to leave the quiz and review websites to explore these primary sources. Please complete the quiz by midnight of the due dates on the course outline.

There will be opportunities for you to view historic artifacts of clothing from the Ohio State University Historic Costume Collection in class. The curator, Gayle Strege, or I will present items from the collection to you.

Historical Activities (His Act)

There are 5 Historic activities (20 points each) that are required. They are included as assignments on your Course Outline. They can be found on Carmen under Quizzes/ Historical Activity. Please follow the instructions and answer the questions. These activities are designed to help you learn more about historical research and will be open for one week before they are due. They must be completed by midnight on the due dates on the course outline.

Quizzes

There are 3 (25 pt each) online quizzes that cover reading materials posted on Carmen. They are included as assignments on the Course Outline. You may take the quiz anytime during the day it is due. Once you begin, you will have ½ hour to take each 11 question quiz. Your results will post immediately.

There is 1 (25 pt) online Exhibit quiz. View the American Aesthetics exhibit at The Historic Costume & Textile Collection. You may take the Exhibit Quiz online anytime during the semester before the due date on the syllabus. Your results will post immediately.

The exhibit is located in 279 Campbell Hall at 1787 Neil Ave. Hours are Tuesday-Thursday 10-5, Friday 10-4, non-football Saturdays 12-4.

Films
There are 4 required films for your viewing pleasure this semester. They are listed on your course outline under readings.   The first is available on YouTube. It is the full length version of Mr. Sears Catalogue. The other 3 films are available in the OSU Secured Media Library(SML). You can access them at https://drm.osu.edu/media. To watch them find the film, click on it to select it, and open it by clicking on the type of device you are using. In most cases standard will work! If you are having problems you can switch devices…. computer, tablet, phone.
