

Prof. Ludmila Isurin was educated in Russia and the US and has taught in universities of three countries (Russia, Israel, and the US) and as a Visiting Fellow in Germany. During her career at OSU she has taught numerous undergraduate courses, including a few GE courses (Russian Culture, East European Experience in America; Bilingualism: Life in Two Worlds; she designed the latter). She is a very interdisciplinary scholar whose research interests encompass social sciences and humanities. In 2016 she received the award for the most outstanding article of the year (Journal of Language Learning). She is an author of five books including the most recent monograph on which the proposed seminar is partly based (Collective Remembering: Memory in the World and in the Mind, Cambridge University Press, 2017).
