Course Change Information

What change is being proposed? (If more than one, what changes are being proposed?)

1. Removal of the 2000-level prerequisite requirement
2. Addition of Global Studies GE.

What is the rationale for the proposed change(s)?

1. The History Department decided by faculty vote in Spring 2016 to remove the 2000-level prerequisite requirement from all 3000-level courses. This was decided with the goal of increasing enrollment in 3000-level History courses.
2. The material in this course focuses heavily on political, economic, cultural, social, and philosophical aspects of nations and cultures outside of the U.S.

What are the programmatic implications of the proposed change(s)?

(e.g. program requirements to be added or removed, changes to be made in available resources, effect on other programs that use the course)?

No programmatic implications.

Is approval of the request contingent upon the approval of other course or curricular program request? No

Is this a request to withdraw the course? No

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

This course will introduce students to the great commercial and cultural exchanges that took place in Central Asia—at the heart of the Eurasian landmass—from antiquity to the modern age. It is grounded in a survey of the geography, environmental factors, indigenous cultures and economies of the Chinese, Indian, European, Iranian, and broader Islamic civilizations in order to analyze the nature and mechanisms of the trade and artistic, religious, cultural, scientific and technological exchanges that took place along the routes known since the late nineteenth century as the “Silk Road.” As these exchanges occurred along the monsoon-driven sea-lanes as well as over the more famous Central Asian caravan routes, both sea and land routes comprise the “Silk Road(s)” of this particular course.

The course is not in any sense a survey of Eurasian history. It will focus on major themes, not chronologies of dynastic, administrative or military history, except in so far as these topics contribute to an understanding of Silk Road exchanges. The study of these commercial and cultural exchanges charts vibrant links among dynamic, sophisticated civilizations that are often, and incorrectly, believed to have developed in isolation prior to European expansion into Asia. Considerable attention will be directed to the merchant groups, soldiers, state actors, and pastoral-nomadic peoples who mediated these exchanges. It is an intellectually exciting and academically demanding exercise.

MAP QUIZ

In the first week of the semester I will provide you with a list of geographical terms and a blank map. You will be required to locate ten of these terms on an identical blank map in class.

EXAMINATIONS

Examinations will consist of a combination of multiple choice, short identifications and essay questions that you will be required to answer in class. Essay questions will be graded based upon how well your answer communicates in writing what you have learned. If you have to miss an exam because of illness or a verifiable emergency, you must contact me before the exam. Make-up exams will be given only in cases of serious illness or other documented emergency, and will consist entirely of essay questions. To make-up any exam, you will have to take it during one of the regularly scheduled exam sessions offered by the Department of History.

TERM PAPER ASSIGNMENT

For this course you are required to submit a well-crafted research paper of approximately ten pages, due in class on the date specified in the syllabus below. For your paper, you are encouraged to select one of the topics provided below. Alternatively, you may propose a different topic, but your topic must receive the instructor's approval. If you wish to proceed in this way, once you have determined a subject that interests you, you should consult the relevant recommended readings and compile a proposal and bibliography. Those materials are due in class on the date specified on the syllabus below. Please note that papers must incorporate a critical analysis of at least one primary source. Additional instructions will be distributed in class.

Learning how to express one's ideas clearly is an important goal of any education. For this reason, paper grades will be based not only on content, but also on grammar and your correct use of formal writing style. Papers should be typed and double-spaced in 12-point font, and they should make proper use of footnotes or endnotes, a title page and a bibliography. Useful resources include: Mary Lynn Rampolla, A Pocket Guide to Writing in History (5th ed.) and the OSU Writing Center (<http://cstw.osu.edu/writingCenter/>). Please note that papers will drop one full grade for each class period that they are late.

SUGGESTED PAPER TOPICS

1) Trade

Providing specific examples, examine how the need to exchange goods led to various types of cross-cultural interactions across space and time. How does trade connect disparate peoples and propel cultural exchange?

2) Religion

Many religions passed along the Silk Road. Choose one and explain how it was transmitted from one society to another. What led people to adopt it as their own? In what ways did the tradition itself change as it moved from one society to another?

3) Technology

What are some of the many technologies to have been transmitted along Central Asia's overland caravan routes? What were the mechanisms of transmission? How did they change peoples' lives and their societies?

4) Nomads

Scholarship has long focused attention on long distance caravan traders as the primary agents of cultural exchange along the Silk Road. Recognizing that there were multiple types of agents involved in the Silk Road exchange (caravan traders, soldiers, pilgrims, migrants, etc.), examine the role of the nomadic peoples that occupied the vast Inner Asian steppe. What made them particularly important? Why has that importance generally gone unrecognized?

CLASS PARTICIPATION AND ATTENDANCE

Attendance and active participation in class discussion is required for this course. The lectures for this course augment the required readings, and exam questions will be taken from both. If you miss a class, it is your responsibility to find out what you have missed and to collect lecture notes and information regarding any changes to the syllabus from other students. Chronic absences, more than two, may result in a penalty of one full letter grade.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

Plagiarism is representing someone else's words or ideas as your own. It is a form of academic dishonesty and it is not tolerated. Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to: handing in someone else's work as your own; taking credit for ideas that are not your own; including in your work phrases, sentences, paragraphs or any text from a book, article, or web site without marking the text as a quotation and citing the source; and paraphrasing text from a source (i.e., taking an idea from a source while not quoting it exactly) without citing the source. Any student found to have plagiarized on any assignment may receive a failing grade for the semester.

Additionally, the instructor will notify the Committee on Academic Misconduct. See http://cstw.osu.edu/writingCenter/handouts/research_plagiarism.cfm for further discussion of plagiarism.

DISRUPTIVE BEHAVIOR

Disruptive behavior will not be tolerated. Students may be dismissed from class should they arrive late, depart early (without having previously notified the professor of a compelling reason to do so), converse during class, or (especially) receive a cellular telephone call during class. Text messaging during class is also forbidden. Chronic disruptive behavior will result in the student receiving a failing grade.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Students with disabilities (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions) that have been certified by the Office of Student Life Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated and should inform the instructor as soon as possible of their needs. The Office of Student Life Disability Services is located in 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue; telephone 614- 292-3307, slds@osu.edu; slds.osu.edu.

IMPORTANT REGISTRATION INFORMATION

All students must be officially enrolled in the course by the end of the second full week of the semester. No requests to add the course will be approved by the Chair of the Department after that time. Enrolling officially and on time is solely the responsibility of the student.

THE HISTORY MINOR/MAJOR

For students working on the quarter system, this course fulfills half of the GEC Category 3: Historical Study requirement. In the history major, it is a Group A, Area 4 course, dealing with the pre-1750 period. For students working on the semester system, this course fulfills the GE Historical Study requirement, or the Global Diversity requirement.

Please note: If you are, have, or are planning to take two or more history courses at the 2000-level or above, and are currently neither a history major nor a history minor, you may earn a history minor with relatively little additional coursework. Only 12 credit hours (four 2000-and-above courses, at least two of which must be at the 3000 level or higher) are required for the history minor and six of these hours may overlap with general education requirements. Please see <http://history.osu.edu/undergrad/minor> for additional details and either Maria Mazon (mazon.1@osu.edu) or Raymond Irwin (irwin.8@osu.edu) with specific questions. Your major advisor will also be able to add the minor for you.

DIVERSITY: GLOBAL STUDIES GOALS

Students understand the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the United States and across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

DIVERSITY: GLOBAL STUDIES EXPECTED LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S.

As a history of Eurasian transregional historical integrations, this course is designed specifically to expose students to the political, economic, and cultural exchanges of multiple Eurasian peoples and cultures. Students will be immersed in studies of Chinese, Indian, Central Asian and Middle Eastern exchanges in terms of populations, regions, languages, cultures, technologies, scientific knowledge, and much more.

2. Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.

One of the most important objectives of this course is for students to learn how today's nation states are constructs that took shape over time. In terms of the course material, students will examine diversity in the shaping of contemporary national identities in China, India, Central Asia and the Middle Eastern countries.

HISTORICAL STUDIES GOALS

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.

HISTORICAL STUDIES EXPECTED LEARNING OUTCOMES

1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

RATIONALE FOR FULFILLING THE GE LEARNING OUTCOMES FOR HISTORICAL STUDY

Students will engage with both primary and secondary sources to examine the nature and mechanisms of the trade, artistic, religious, cultural, scientific and technological exchanges that took place along the "Silk Road," and how those exchanges created dynamic links between civilizations and peoples. In a term paper, midterm and final exams, students will have the opportunity to explain the impact of the commercial and cultural exchanges in Central Asia from antiquity to the modern age.

RESERVE CLAUSE

The professor reserves the right to make changes in the syllabus when necessary or beneficial to meet the objectives of the course, to compensate for missed classes or schedule changes, or for similar legitimate reasons. Students will be notified of any such changes to the syllabus in adequate time to adjust to those changes.

FROM: Paula Baker, Chair, Undergraduate Teaching Committee, Department of History

RE: Assessment Plan for proposed GE courses: Historical Study Category, Social Diversity in the U.S., and Diversity: Global Studies

Assessment Goals and Objectives

1. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for all History courses might be summarized as follows:

Historical Study GE Requirements:

Goals:

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

Goals of the courses that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes:

History courses develop students' recognition of how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition through the following ways:

1. Critically examine theories of history, and historical methodologies
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on specific regions, time periods and themes of the human past.
3. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students will access and critically examine social, political, economic, military, gender, religious, ecological, and ethnic/racial/national movements in a wider socio- cultural context.
4. Students will carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct historical moments, social movements and their effects

2. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for History courses requesting Social Diversity in the U.S. might be summarized as follows:

Social Diversity GE Requirements:

Goals:

Courses in social diversity will foster students' understanding of the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the United States in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.
2. Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

Goals of the course that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes: Students will achieve the social diversity goals and learning outcomes by

1. Completing readings, attending lectures, and participating in class discussions and in-class assignments that will help students understand how the categories of race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation have shaped peoples' identities and the distribution of power and resources in the U.S. and elsewhere
 2. Describe theories of racial, ethnic, class, national, gender, and religious formation on exams and written assignments.
 3. Critically examine theories of race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation
 4. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation.
 5. Access and critically examine movements framed by race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and/or nation in a wider socio-cultural context.
 6. Carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct moments of ethnic, racial, nationalist, gender, class, and/or religious mobilization or social movements and their effects.
3. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for History courses requesting Diversity: Global Studies might be summarized as follows:

Global Studies GE Requirements:

Goals:

Courses in Diversity – Global Studies will foster students' understanding of the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S.
2. Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.

Goals of the course that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes: Students will achieve the social diversity goals and learning outcomes by

1. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students critically examine the political, economic, social, cultural and philosophical development in the World.
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on the differences and similarities between cultures and peoples.
3. Access and critically examine ethnically, nationally or religiously framed movements in a wider socio-cultural and global context.
4. Carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct moments in human history and how they shaped the world in the past and today.
5. Completing readings, attending lectures, and participating in class discussions and in-class assignments that will help students understand the complexity of debates over international issues. They will describe theories of international issues on exams and written assignments.
6. Students will understand the roots and structures of today's globalized world.

II. Methods

An assessment of whether these objectives are met is effectively carried out by an examination of the work students are actually required to do for the course. Contributions in class discussions will be considered, but weighted more lightly, given the tendency for more confident students to contribute more to such discussions. Paper and exams will provide an understanding of students' abilities to think historically and to engage in analysis. This can be gauged by their responses to specific exam questions—asking students to provide a perspective on history and relate that perspective to an understanding of the factors that shape human activity. Thus, exams for Historical Study courses will have at least one question that requires students to provide a perspective on the factors that shaped an event or theory. Similarly, for courses that include Diversity in the U.S. GE requirements, we will have at least one question that requires students to provide a description of the roles of categories such as race, gender, class, ethnicity and religion and how those roles have helped shape either their perspective or the country's perspective on diversity. For courses that include Diversity: Global Studies, we will ask one question that requires students to provide an understanding of some combination of political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical differences in or among the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S. In this way, we hope to measure the courses (and the students') progress toward the multiple objectives of the GE. In this way we should be able to ascertain whether they are acquiring the desired skills and not simply learning (and regurgitating) specific information.

Summary of Data:

A committee, appointed by the UTC Chair, will be asked to evaluate a sample of questions and papers, and to gauge how well the goals of the course seem reflected in them. Assessment of Historical Study, Social Diversity, and Diversity: Global Issues from the GE goals will be carried out primarily through the evaluation of formal graded assignments and ungraded in-class assignments. The committee will rank the assignments across a four-category scale that captures students' mastery of the GE goals. Students will complete an informal feedback survey halfway through the semester to assess their own performance, the pace of the class, and the instructor's effectiveness. A brief summary report will be written by the UTC Chair, and that, as well as the sampled questions themselves, will be made available to the instructor and to the Chair of the department. We intend to insure that the proposed courses adequately articulate these goals, teach toward them, test for them, and help students realize their individual potential to meet them. Assessments will be summarized and used to alter the course for the next teaching.

Curricular Map that shows how, and at what level, the program's courses facilitate students' attainment of History learning goals.
