What it's About

Just as Christianity, Judaism and Islam believe that there was a specific beginning to the world in time, they have also believed that the world will come to an end at some specific time. Our course will explore how this event—generally understood to be preceded by enormous wars and disasters as well as the judgment of people and a reckoning of their deeds—was imagined over two millennia by Christians, Jews and Muslims. The journey will take us from ancient Judea to modern Latin America, and from the biblical prophets to the imams of ISIS, with many stops in between. Our reading will include samples from fictional bestsellers about the apocalypse as well as primary and secondary historical works. Through this course, students will gain an understanding of how the end of the world has been imagined over time and within the different major religions of the world. We will work with primary and secondary documents to discover the origins and contexts of apocalypticism and their impact on current events, and will explore the interaction of psychological, sociological, political, economic and religious elements in apocalypticism.

Required Reading

>The Continuum History of Apocalypticism, ed. B. McGinn and J.J. Collins (Bloomsbury Academic, 2003)
 >Jean-Pierre Filiu, Apocalypse in Islam (University of California Press, 2012)
 >Documents and supplemental readings through our CARMEN website

Books may be purchased at SBX or Barnes & Noble.

We will often be reading primary sources together in class and in some cases I may ask you to prepare them at home.

Enrollment

All students must be officially enrolled in the course by 22 January 2015. No requests to add the course will be approved by the Chair after that time. Enrolling officially and on time is solely the responsibility of the student.

General Education (GE) Historical Study

This course fulfills Ohio State's GE Historical Study requirement, whose expected goals and learning outcomes are as follows:

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition. 1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity. 2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues. 3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

This course will fulfill the Historical Study GE in the following ways. Its exploration of the apocalyptic mindset in the past will directly enlighten us on the working of that same thinking in today's world—thinking that has a deep impact on current events. We will find that apocalypticism, Mahdism and messianism involve the interaction of psychological, sociological, political, economic and religious elements. We will, of course, be investigating and writing about various perspectives on these phenomena, and examining their respective merits, within our own intellectual laboratory.

General Education (GE) Diversity: Global Studies

This course fulfills Ohio State's GE Diversity: Global Studies requirement, whose goals and learning outcomes are as follows:

(Diversity) Students understand the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the United States and across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens. (Global Studies): 1. Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S. 2. Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.

This course will fulfill the Diversity: Global Studies GE in the following manner. We will be seeing how Muslims, Jews, and various denominations of Christians in many lands approached the idea of the world's end and its implications. This will help us comprehend how people of widely varying backgrounds make sense of the events that unfold around us every day. This kind of understanding is the bedrock of responsible US and global citizenship.

Academic Misconduct

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct (<http://www.sja.osu.edu/page.asp?id=1>) .

DISABILITY ACCOMODATIONS STATEMENT

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. You are also welcome to register with Student Life Disability Services to establish reasonable accommodations. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. SLDS contact information: slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307; slds.osu.edu; 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue.

Purposes

The purposes of this course are: to learn about the origins and history of apocalyptic thinking; to understand something of the deep human impetus to prepare for the world's end; to consider the impact of apocalyptic thinking in our own world; and to practice the analytical and communications skills called for in working with both secondary and primary sources.

Reading and Lecture

Please be aware that, while we will discuss the readings in lecture, the main part of the lecture and discussion will often cover topics entirely different from the day's reading as well. Come to class having already read the assignment listed for that day.

Writing Ability

If you are concerned that your writing is not proficient enough, both technically and conceptually, to succeed in a 2000-level history course, contact the Writing Center: <http://www.cstw.osu.edu> . I will grade down for poor grammar and other technical errors as well as content problems.

Grading

I may consider improvement when determining final grades. The usual breakdown is: A: 92 and above; A-: 89-92; B+: 87-88; B: 82-86; B-: 79-82; C+: 77-78; C: 72-76 C-: 69-72; D+: 67-68 D: 62-66; E: below 62.

Your grade will be based on the following assignments. I may adjust a borderline grade either up or down depending on active participation in class discussions. Each grade is expressed as a number of points. Each point equals 1% of your grade in the class. So, for example, a quiz is worth five points. 5/5 is an A; 4/5 is a B, etc.

Quizzes =50%

12 quizzes will be given @ 5 points each; lowest 2 dropped. They will be multiple choice and given at random to make sure students are keeping up with the assigned readings.

Paper =30%

6-8 pages based on research chosen by the student and approved by the instructor, explaining an apocalyptic movement or figure in more depth than we cover in class. Due Week 14.

Final exam =20%

The final exam will be comprised of several short essays (1-2 bluebook pages) selected from a list, along with short answer questions. It will be comprehensive but will also ask students to extrapolate from what they have learned to understand a passage or different situation.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee (ASCC)

FROM: Paula Baker, Chair, Undergraduate Teaching Committee, Department of History

RE: Assessment Plan for proposed GE courses: Historical Study Category, Social Diversity in the U.S., and Diversity: Global Studies

Assessment Goals and Objectives

1. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for all History courses might be summarized as follows:

Historical Study GE Requirements:

Goals:

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

Goals of the courses that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes:

History courses develop students' recognition of how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition through the following ways:

1. Critically examine theories of history, and historical methodologies
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on specific regions, time periods and themes of the human past.
3. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students will access and critically examine social, political, economic, military, gender, religious, ecological, and ethnic/racial/national movements in a wider socio- cultural context.
4. Students will carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct historical moments, social movements and their effects

2. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for History courses requesting Social Diversity in the U.S. might be summarized as follows:

Social Diversity GE Requirements:

Goals:

Courses in social diversity will foster students' understanding of the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the United States in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.
2. Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

Goals of the course that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes: Students will achieve the social diversity goals and learning outcomes by

1. Completing readings, attending lectures, and participating in class discussions and in-class assignments that will help students understand how the categories of race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation have shaped peoples' identities and the distribution of power and resources in the U.S. and elsewhere
2. Describe theories of racial, ethnic, class, national, gender, and religious formation on exams and written assignments.
3. Critically examine theories of race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation
4. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and nation.
5. Access and critically examine movements framed by race, gender, class, ethnicity, religion, and/or nation in a wider socio-cultural context.
6. Carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct moments of ethnic, racial, nationalist, gender, class, and/or religious mobilization or social movements and their effects.

3. Both the GE and course-specific learning objectives for History courses requesting Diversity: Global Studies might be summarized as follows:

Global Studies GE Requirements:

Goals:

Courses in Diversity – Global Studies will foster students' understanding of the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.

Expected Learning Outcomes:

1. Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S.
2. Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.

Goals of the course that fulfill the GE Learning Outcomes: Students will achieve the social diversity goals and learning outcomes by

1. Through reading in primary and secondary sources and in-depth class discussion, students critically examine the political, economic, social, cultural and philosophical development in the World.
2. Engage with contemporary and historical debates on the differences and similarities between cultures and peoples.
3. Access and critically examine ethnically, nationally or religiously framed movements in a wider socio-cultural and global context.
4. Carry out in-depth analysis in a final paper, exam, or project comparing distinct moments in human history and how they shaped the world in the past and today.
5. Completing readings, attending lectures, and participating in class discussions and in-class assignments that will help students understand the complexity of debates over international issues. They will describe theories of international issues on exams and written assignments.
6. Students will understand the roots and structures of today's globalized world.

II. Methods

An assessment of whether these objectives are met is effectively carried out by an examination of the work students are actually required to do for the course. Contributions in class discussions will be considered, but weighted more lightly, given the tendency for more confident students to contribute more to such discussions. Paper and exams will provide an understanding of students' abilities to think historically and to engage in analysis. This can be gauged by their responses to specific exam questions—asking students to provide a perspective on history and relate that perspective to an understanding of the factors that shape human activity. Thus, exams for Historical Study courses will have at least one question that requires students to provide a perspective on the factors that shaped an event or theory. Similarly, for courses that include Diversity in the U.S. GE requirements, we will have at least one question that requires students to provide a description of the roles of categories such as race, gender, class, ethnicity and religion and how those roles have helped shape either their perspective or the country's perspective on diversity. For courses that include Diversity: Global Studies, we will ask one question that requires students to provide an understanding of some combination of political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical differences in or among the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S. In this way, we hope to measure the courses (and the students') progress toward the multiple objectives of the GE. In this way we should be able to ascertain whether they are acquiring the desired skills and not simply learning (and regurgitating) specific information.

Summary of Data:

A committee, appointed by the UTC Chair, will be asked to evaluate a sample of questions and papers, and to gauge how well the goals of the course seem reflected in them. Assessment of Historical Study, Social Diversity, and Diversity: Global Issues from the GE goals will be carried out primarily through the evaluation of formal graded assignments and ungraded in-class assignments. The committee will rank the assignments across a four-category scale that captures students' mastery of the GE goals. Students will complete an informal feedback survey halfway through the semester to assess their own performance, the pace of the class, and the instructor's effectiveness. A brief summary report will be written by the UTC Chair, and that, as well as the sampled questions themselves, will be made available to the instructor and to the Chair of the department. We intend to insure that the proposed courses adequately articulate these goals, teach toward them, test for them, and help students realize their individual potential to meet them. Assessments will be summarized and used to alter the course for the next teaching.

Hi, Chris,

I'm cc'ing Justin Acome, NELC's Academic Program Coordinator. He is able to set up a NELC version of this course. I hope that Ashley Bowerman can provide him with materials identical to those you are using so that we don't need to make up new stuff for the exact same course.

Justin, would you be in touch with Ashley Bowerman about making a NELC 2680 to mirror the proposed History 2680? Thank you! (You have the syllabus that was proposed in a cc I sent to you on Wednesday at 9:52am, but the final syllabus, being submitted by Matt Goldish, may look different.)

Thanks to all.

I'll get back to you, Chris, about the new concurrence request.

Kevin

Hi Kevin,

We're fine with the crosslisting. NELC will have to submit their own new course proposal identical to ours, with its own unique NELC number. It's an easy process, but you should be in touch with whoever coordinates your schedule to work with our programme coordinator, Ashley Bowerman (cc'ed here)

Also, while we're on such matters, here is another concurrence request for a class in medieval history by our new chair in British history, Sara Butler.

Could you get back to me by November 1 with any thoughts on this? If I hear nothing, I will assume all is well!

Cheers,

Dear Barry,

The Department of History is seeking concurrence from your department for a new course on the history of apocalypticism. I've attached a copy of the syllabus here for you or the relevant committee to review. Would it be possible for you to get back to me within 2 weeks about this? If I don't hear from you by then, I'll assume that you have no problems with it!

Thanks!
