COURSE DESCRIPTION

The goal of this course is to explore, discuss, and better understand the relationship between perceptions of racial identity, attributions of racial difference, and politics, broadly defined. While the focus of this course is on how these dynamics are manifest in society at the current moment, it is also designed with an appreciation of the complex histories of racial politics in the United States. "Race" and "Ethnicity" are examined broadly to include concepts of identity, immigration, citizenship, class, ethnicity, gender, and multiple dimensions of identity are engaged simultaneously. "Politics" is also examined broadly to include civic engagement, protest politics, political talk, organizational behavior, and the like. We will read and discuss scholarship in political science, sociology, ethnic studies, and other social sciences.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

1. Attend class.

Regular, and on time, attendance is necessary in order to do well in this course. Lectures build on the reading, and include new information and analysis. Attendance will be taken regularly at the start of class, and in-class short quizzes will be part of your final grade.

2. Do the reading.

The syllabus lists reading assignments for each day of class, which must be completed before that day's lecture. All readings will be available on the Carmen website. To help motivate you to keep up with the reading, unannounced in-class short-quizzes and writing assignments will be conducted. When you read, you should be able to summarize each assigned piece in four parts:

1. What is the question that author is trying to answer?
2. What's their argument?
3. What evidence do they present to support the argument?
4. Do you buy the argument? Why? Why not?

If you can succinctly answer these questions about each reading, you will be well-prepared for discussion, in-class quizzes and the exams.

3. Participate in class.

Lecture will include discussions. Contribute to the class by actively, and respectfully, talking and listening.

4. Complete readings, assignments and exams on time.

All exams must be taken when scheduled and assignments must be turned in on time, with exceptions made only for the following excused absences:

- Documented University sanctioned event.
- Documented death in the family.
- Observation of a religious holiday.
- Documented illness or injury that prevents attendance.

If an exam is missed due to an excused absence, a make-up exam will be scheduled through the OSU Testing Center's Make-Up Examination Program. Exams missed due to an unexcused absence will receive a grade of 0 and cannot be made up. Unexcused late assignments will be penalized a letter grade for each 24-hour period they are turned in after the due date and time.

ASSIGNMENTS AND EXAMS

The Assignments and Examinations in this course are designed to incentivize you to learn the material as we go through the semester, and provide you with an opportunity to synthesize the ideas and data that we cover.

1. In-Class Quizzes (15%)

Unannounced quizzes covering the assigned reading for that day will occur throughout the semester. The three lowest quiz scores will be dropped and the average of your remaining scores will be your final quiz grade. Makeups are not allowed for any circumstance for quizzes.

2. Essay (15%)

Early in the course students will complete a short essay. This essay is an opportunity to reflect on how you view the landscape of race and politics at the beginning of the course. You will receive full points for completing the essay as it is detailed in the assignment, and turning it in on time.

3. Two Midterm Exams, 20% each (40%)

The two exams held in weeks 6 and 9 will be held in class. They will include a combination of short written answers, multiple choice, fill in the blank, and true or false questions. The exams are not cumulative, so the first midterm will cover material from weeks 1-5, and the second will cover material from weeks 5-8.

4. Final Exam (30%)

The Final exam will be held during the University scheduled final exam time slot, and cover material from all of the weeks after spring break. The format will be similar to the midterm, with the addition of an essay.

Letter grades correspond to the following percentages:

A: 93-100

A-: 90-92

B+: 87-89

B: 83-86

B-: 80-82

C: 73-76

D+: 67-69

E: <60

C+: 77-79

C-: 70-72

D: 60-66

COURSE POLICIES

Learning and participation – as students or as instructors – is expected to be communal and collaborative. This means you can expect your instructor to be prompt and prepared for class, professional in her attitude, productive about feedback and criticism, and accessible and responsive to course-related issues. As students, you are expected in turn to be prompt and prepared for class, professional in your attitude, attentive to course requirements and deadlines, willing to share your views with others, open to being intellectually challenged, and active and serious about your own learning. Students should not tolerate any harassment or an environment otherwise hostile to learning.

Distractions

Do not multi-task during lecture. When in class, turn off all electronics except what you need to take notes. Put away all reading material unrelated to class. Be present.

Email

Please include the course number for this class in the subject line of any email correspondence. I typically will respond to emails in one business day. If you have a question that can be answered by reading the syllabus, you should do so.

Academic and Personal Integrity:

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct: <http://studentaffairs.osu.edu/csc>.

Students with Disabilities:

Students with disabilities (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions) that have been certified by the Office of Student Life Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated and should inform the instructor as soon as possible of their needs. The Office of Student Life Disability Services is located in 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue; telephone 614-292-3307, slds@osu.edu.

Short Essay Due 01/19

Write a 1000-word essay that reflects your opinion on the following question. This is not necessarily a research paper, but an opportunity to collect your thoughts on the current state of race, ethnicity and politics in the United States. The essay should have a clear opinion, supporting examples from your own experiences, reading and thoughts, and an explicit concluding paragraph. There is no "wrong" answer, and Professor Phillips will be the only one reading this piece, so feel free to be candid, respectful, and professional.

Would you characterize the current moment in the United States as a new turning point in racial politics? Or is it a reflection of an ongoing pattern?

Dr. Skinner,

As I was working on the course request for Dr. Philipps new course, I realized that we already have a course numbered 4145 (Asian American Politics). This course was put into "limbo" last year. I totally forgot.

I have renumbered the course POLITSC 4143 and Dr. Philipps has updated her syllabus with the correct course number. The updated syllabus is attached.

Thank you! I look forward to hearing back from you regarding our request for concurrence.

Hi Charles

Sorry for the delay getting back to you-the person teaching our Race and Ethnicity course found your proposed course fundamentally different from ours, so Sociology is happy to offer is concurrence and support for the class!

My pdf program is acting weird so I can't digitally sign the form. If you need me to, I can print and scan it back to you if this email doesn't suffice.

Best
