Course Summary and Objectives

This section of the African civilization survey examines Africa through a multi-disciplinary lens beginning with Ancient Kingdoms and moving through the Atlantic Slave Trade. In this course, we will explore major themes in Africa's political, social and economic history, while engaging issues within specific African Kingdoms and Empires, as well as in the global world. As such, we will begin by discussing the origins of cultures and move through discussing kingdoms such as Egypt, Kmt, Kush, Nubia, Zimbabwe, Ghana, Mali, and Songhai. We will end at the peak of the Atlantic Slave Trade. This course moves thematically through areas such as spirituality, culture, identity, and trade relationships, along with many of the issues that have arisen in the documentation of African history. This course should provide students with the tools to examine Africa's past. Students should leave this course with the ability to engage in well-informed discussions on modern Africa and place Africa's current problems and issues in their wider historical context.

GE Course Information:

- Diversity: Global Studies
 - Goals
 - Students understand the pluralistic nature of institutions, society, and culture in the United States and across the world in order to become educated, productive, and principled citizens.
 - Expected Learning Outcomes
 - Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S.
 - Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.
- Historical Study
 - Goals
 - Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.
 - Expected Learning Outcomes
 - Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
 - Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
 - Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

Textbooks:

The following required readings are available for purchase at Barnes and Noble Campus Bookstore and SBX, but you should feel free to order them from any online bookstore of your choice. All books listed are required.

Shillington, Kevin. History of Africa, 3rd Ed. ISBN 9780230308473

Niane, DT. Sundiata: An Epic of Old Mali ISBN 9781405849425

Collins, Robert. Problems in African History ISBN 9781558763609

Additional readings will be provided as handouts or as documents on the Carmen course page.

Carmen:

Carmen will be our primary form of communication for this course. You will need to check the homepage for our course frequently as I will post announcements there instead of flooding everyone's e-mail accounts. It is your responsibility to keep up with all announcements posted.

Videos:

Assigned videos/documentaries will be made available via either a YouTube link or through the university media streaming services. You will need to download the appropriate software to view the videos made available through the media library. The website for the University website is: <https://drm.osu.edu/media/>

A Note on Laptops/Cellphones in class:

Cell phone use is unacceptable and I will ask you to leave the classroom, as it is disruptive to myself and other students who are sitting around you. If I ask you to leave the classroom you will be counted as absent for the day. If your cell phone tempts you during class, please shut it off or simply do not bring it with you. This course requires you to be actively listening and participating. The same goes for laptops in class. I would prefer that you not use them in class as social media is addictive and unfortunately it does not help you to understand the material we are covering. Therefore, if you choose to use a laptop/iPad in our classroom be sure to keep it related to our class.

Course Requirements:

Class Discussion (25%)

Class discussions are a vital component of our course. You will need to come to class having read and completed all assignments. You should be prepared to speak and engage in class discussion in a meaningful manner.

Quizzes/In Class Assignments (25%)

There will be in-class assignments and/or quizzes that will occur over the course of the semester, short responses or group work that will need to be turned in. These could be readings responses, group assignments, etc. THERE ARE NO MAKE-UP QUIZZES, if you will be missing class for an excused absence there is the option to complete an alternative assignment.

Exams (30%)

There will be both a midterm and final exam that will both consist of 2-3 IDs and 1 essay question. We will discuss the format more clearly over the course of the semester. Each exam is worth 15% of your final grade.

Papers (20%)

Over the semester you must choose two paper options and submit your paper by the appropriate due date. Please reference the writing guidelines post on Carmen to ensure that they are written properly. Each paper is worth 10% of your final grade. No late papers will be accepted.

These papers are all related to topics in your Problems in African History text. You need to submit a 3-4 page paper that aligns with one (or more than one) of the stances related to the particular issue you have chosen. For example, after reading the section on Africa and Egypt, do you understand Ancient Egypt as being a Black civilization? Why? Why not? This should be a scholarly response that you support with sources throughout, NOT an opinion-based paper. The best way to complete these papers is to read the first section of each problem and choose two that you are actually have an interest in, then read all of the arguments and choose which argument (or arguments) you align with most clearly and why.

1. Africa and Egypt (Due Jan 28)
2. Islam in Africa (Due Feb 6)
3. Slavery in Africa (Due Feb 27)
4. Women in African Societies (Due April 10)

Extra Credit

I absolutely LOVE extra credit as it requires to engage the material and topics outside of our course syllabus. I will regularly offer topics for extra credit in class, at time they may be an article, a book, a movie or video, or even local events. I also encourage suggestions for extra credit assignments. ALL extra credit requires a written response that is at least 1-2 pages typed and printed. This should not be a report, but should place whatever it is in context with the topics we have discussed in class...so it must have a connection to our course!

Attendance Policies:

You are required to do the assigned readings before coming to lecture. Regular attendance at lectures is obligatory. To enforce this requirement, attendance will be taken periodically at the beginning or toward the end of lectures and more than three unexcused absences will result in one point lower final grade (e.g. from A to A-). Documented emergency situations, including illnesses will be excused. We also understand that students have other commitments and may occasionally encounter urgent situations. Please let us know if such situation arises. I also very strongly discourage you from coming to class with the intention of leaving before the end of the lecture since such behavior disrupts the class.

My Commitment to Your Success

The instructor is committed to helping you succeed in this course, so please consult me if you are having difficulties in the course and I will make every effort to accommodate your needs but in ways that will not give you undue advantage over your colleagues. You may find helpful hints on study strategies at <http://all.successcenter.ohio-state.edu/>

Academic Misconduct

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term academic misconduct includes all forms of misconduct wherever committed, including but not limited to cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. I am required to report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee. Please consult the Code of Student Conduct at (http://studentaffairs.osu.edu/resource_csc.asp) for additional information. Here is a direct link for discussion of plagiarism: http://cstw.osu.edu/writingCenter/handouts/research_plagiarism.cfm.

Disability Services

Students with disabilities (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions) that have been certified by the Office of Student Life Disability Services will be appropriately accommodated and should inform the instructor as soon as possible of their needs. The Office of Student Life Disability Services is located in 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue; telephone 614- 292-3307, slds@osu.edu; slds.osu.edu.

OSU Writing Center

I strongly recommend that you make good use of the Writing Center for assistance. Seeking assistance from the Writing Center DOES NOT constitute academic misconduct. Consult the Center's website for further information. <http://cstw.osu.edu>

Discussion Board

Each week you must make at least one initial post and one response post related to that weeks readings.

Length:

Initial posts need to be at least 250 words in length and must be posted by 11:59pm on Tuesday of each week. You must also include at least one question for classmates to respond to, the question should be well thought out and require some critical thinking skills.

Response posts need to be at least 150 words in length and must be posted by 11:59pm on Friday of each week.

Substance:

A substantive post consists of a well-thought-out response to the question or prompt. It should respond to the prompt in a way that clearly supports a position, begins a new line of thought, or somehow adds to the discussion by critically reflecting on what is being discussed or moving the discussion in a related direction. Replies to classmates' posts should likewise be substantive. Simple replies like, "I agree, your point was well taken" or "I understand your point of view," general comments on the quality of the original post, or simply restating the idea of the person you are responding to do NOT qualify as substantive posts. In addition to being substantive, it is important to recognize that although this is a "discussion," certain linguistic conventions are not appropriate in written form. As our discussion takes place in a written format, it is expected that you will take time to formulate your ideas, organize them, and compose them in the formal style you would use in a term paper.

Exams:

Both the midterm and final exam that will both consist of 2-3 IDs and 1 essay question. Once you open the exam you will have 24 hours to submit your responses to the drop box. Each response will need to include appropriate in-text citations and include details from the texts as well as information gleaned during our discussion posts. Exams will be proctored utilizing Proctorio via our Carmen site.

1. Each ID needs to be at least two paragraphs in length and must address the "who, what, when, where, and significance" of the term. Why is the term important? What impact has the term had on this time period in African history?
2. Your essays need to be a full essay of at least 5-7 paragraphs. It must include an introduction, at least 3 body paragraphs and a conclusion.
3. You must have appropriate citations throughout.

Papers:

Over the semester you must choose two paper options and submit your paper by the appropriate due date. Please reference the writing guidelines post on Carmen to ensure that they are written properly. No late papers will be accepted.

These papers are all related to topics in your Problems in African History text. You need to submit a 3-4 page paper that aligns with one (or more than one) of the stances related to the particular issue you have chosen. For example, after reading the section on Africa and Egypt, do you understand Ancient Egypt as being a Black civilization? Why? Why not? This should be a scholarly response that you support with sources throughout, NOT an opinion-based paper. The best way to complete these papers is to read the first section of each problem and choose two that you are actually have an interest in, then read all of the arguments and choose which argument (or arguments) you align with most clearly and why.

1. Africa and Egypt (Due:)
2. Islam in Africa (Due:)
3. Women in African Societies (Due.)
4. Slavery in Africa (Due:)

Late assignments

Late assignments are not accepted. You should not wait until the last moment to submit assignments/exams. It is your responsibility to ensure that you have a working internet connection and a computer that will be functioning. You should always know where the nearest space is with wi-fi and available computers in the case that you have an issue. These are NOT acceptable excuses for late assignments, therefore, late assignments will not be accepted.

Faculty feedback and response time

I am providing the following list to give you an idea of my intended availability throughout the course. (Remember that you can call 614-688-HELP at any time if you have a technical problem.)

Grading and feedback

For large weekly assignments, you can generally expect feedback within 7 days.

E-mail

I will reply to e-mails within 24 hours on school days.

Discussion board

I will check and reply to messages in the discussion boards every 24 hours on school days.

Attendance, participation, and discussions

Student participation requirements

Because this is a distance-education course, your attendance is based on your online activity and participation. The following is a summary of everyone's expected participation:

- Logging in: AT LEAST ONCE PER WEEK
Be sure you are logging in to the course in Carmen each week, including weeks with holidays or weeks with minimal online course activity. (During most weeks you will probably log in many times.) If you have a situation that might cause you to miss an entire week of class, discuss it with me as soon as possible.
- Office hours and live sessions: OPTIONAL OR FLEXIBLE
All live, scheduled events for the course, including my office hours, are optional. For live presentations, I will provide a recording that you can watch later. If you are required to discuss an assignment with me, please contact me at the beginning of the week so that we can schedule an appointment.
- Participating in discussion forums: 2+ TIMES PER WEEK
As participation, each week you can expect to post at least two times as part of our substantive class discussion on the week's topics.

Discussion and communication guidelines

The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: While there is no need to participate in class discussions as if you were writing a research paper, you should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation. Informality (including an occasional emoticon) is fine for non-academic topics.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online.
- Citing your sources: When we have academic discussions, please cite your sources to back up what you say. (For the textbook or other course materials, list at least the title and page numbers. For online sources, include a link.)
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your academic posts in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying into the Carmen discussion.

Other course policies

Academic integrity policy

Ohio State's academic integrity policy

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

Policies for this online course

- Exams: You must complete the midterm and final exams yourself, without any external help or communication.
- Written assignments: Your written assignments, including discussion posts, should utilize either MLA or Turabian style to cite the ideas and words of your research sources. You are encouraged to ask a trusted person to proofread your assignments before you turn them in--but no one else should revise or rewrite your work.
- Reusing past work: In general, you are prohibited in university courses from turning in work from a past class to your current class, even if you modify it. If you want to build on past research or revisit a topic you've explored in previous courses, please discuss the situation with me.
- Falsifying research or results: All research you will conduct in this course is intended to be a learning experience; you should never feel tempted to make your results or your library research look more successful than it was.

Your mental health!

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know are suffering from any of the aforementioned conditions, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) by visiting ccs.osu.edu or calling 614- 292-5766. CCS is located on the 4th Floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th Floor of Lincoln Tower. You can reach an on call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766 and 24 hour emergency help is also available through the 24/7 National Suicide Prevention Hotline at 1-800-273- TALK or at suicidepreventionlifeline.org
