

Proposed Revisions to NELC Programs of Study

Summary

The Department of Near Eastern Languages and Cultures (NELC) is proposing a variety of changes to many of its programs of study. Here is a brief description of the rationale and changes, with details for each major and minor explained in greater detail below. Supporting documentation is also attached.

Current Issues:

1. No significant changes have been made to NELC department majors and minors since the semester conversion in 2012. At the same time, NELC faculty has changed dramatically.
2. Upper-level language courses are extremely small in Hebrew, Persian, and Turkish.
3. NELC majors and minors typically require three semesters of language study and a culture course as prerequisites (15 credits), representing a considerable prerequisite load.
4. NELC majors do not take many courses in other subfields in NELC.
5. Jewish Studies became part of NELC in 2017. There is a great deal of overlap between Hebrew and Jewish Studies majors and minors.

Proposed Changes:

1. New learning objectives have been developed for all majors and minors. New assessment plans have been developed for all majors.
2. Require only the introductory language sequence as prerequisite for majors and minors, moving culture course requirements inside of the majors and minors.
3. Allow majors to take a cognate elective, to better situate their studies in Near Eastern Languages and Cultures and related fields.
4. Revise required courses and elective lists for majors and minors, maintaining academic rigor while relying on courses that are offered on a regular basis, so that majors can complete requirements within four years and most minors can complete requirements within two years.
5. Require 4 semesters (Persian and Turkish) or 5 semesters (Arabic and Hebrew) of total language study for language minors, instead of 6 semesters.
6. Combine Hebrew and Jewish Studies majors into a single major, with distinct language and interdisciplinary tracks.
7. Create a minor in Islamic Studies with no language requirement (submitted via curriculum.osu.edu).
8. Expand the existing Turkish minor into a minor in Turkish and Central Asia Studies, to take advantage of OSU's existing resources in Central Asia Studies.
9. Modify course numbers and create new courses to ensure that there are sufficient upper-division courses for majors and minors, taught in foreign languages and in translation. Semester conversion created few 3000 level courses in the department. We are trying to distribute department courses in a logical manner, guided by the following criteria:
 - a. 2000: Intermediate Undergraduate: introductory courses
 - b. 3000: Upper Level Undergraduate: topic or theoretical courses
 - c. 4000: Advanced Undergraduate: in-depth courses
 - d. 5000: Advanced Undergraduate and Graduate Courses

In February 2018, NELC underwent external review. In their report, dated March 3, 2018, the external review committee included the following comment: "The process of reviewing and reforming the Department's curriculum is on the right track, showing wide collaboration among faculty."

Administering Department: Near Eastern Languages and Cultures
Proposed Implementation Date: August 2019

Hebrew Minor

Currently there are 8 students minoring in Hebrew.

The Hebrew minor requires 4 prerequisite courses (15 credits) and the minor requires 4 courses (14 credits). The primary goal of this revision is to decrease the number of prerequisite courses, making it easier for students to complete a Hebrew minor within two years. It also increases flexibility in the minor, allowing students to specialize in modern or biblical Hebrew.

Comparison with peer universities:

University	Hebrew Minor Prerequisites	Hebrew Minor Courses
Ohio State - current	4 (15 credits)	4 (14 credits)
Indiana	0	5 (15 credits)
Michigan (Near Eastern Studies minor)	4 (16 credits)	4-5 (16 credits)
Maryland	4 (12 credits)	5 (16 credits)
Northwestern	2 years Hebrew	6 courses
Ohio State - Revision	3 (12 credits)	4 (13-14 credits)

Although we propose a merger of the Hebrew and Jewish Studies majors into a single program of study with two tracks, we plan to maintain the separation between the Hebrew minor and Jewish Studies minor. The relatively small scope of a minor makes it impractical to combine advanced language studies and interdisciplinary study.

Move non-language prerequisite inside of minor. The Hebrew minor currently requires one literature or culture prerequisite in addition to the 3-semester introductory language sequence. That literature or culture course would now be a requirement for the minor.

Allow specialization in Modern Hebrew or Biblical Hebrew. In 2014, NELC began teaching a one-year Biblical Hebrew language sequence (Hebrew 5100-5101) on a regular basis. Language minors would now take four semesters of Modern Hebrew, and then decide if they wanted to complete the fifth semester in Modern Hebrew or in Biblical Hebrew.

Transition Plan:

Changes to the requirements for fulfilling the Hebrew Minor will go into effect at the start of the 2019/2020 Academic Year. Students who entered OSU prior to the Autumn 2019 semester can choose to fulfill either the old or the new program requirements, in consultation with the NELC Academic Advisor. Students who enroll during or after the Autumn 2019 semester will be required to fulfill the new program requirements.

Subject: concurrence

Morgan,

Sorry for the delay in getting back to you – all the usual excuses! Anyway, here is IS's concurrence?

This is a note to confirm that International Studies endorses without exception the suite of changes that NELC is making to its undergraduate program. These changes are especially welcome to International Studies because they make NELC minors more flexible and accessible to its students at the same time as making it possible for them to complete their compulsory foreign language minor (Arabic, Hebrew/Persian or Turkish) in two instead of three years. Their choice of courses enhancing their knowledge of the culture and literature of the region is also improved.

To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing a letter of concurrence on behalf of the Melton Center for Jewish Studies in support of the new NELC Jewish Studies Major and Minor programs. The major and minor were always housed in the Center (since the late 1970s) and we always had a small but dedicated group of student majors and minors. In recent years, however, it has become increasingly clear that moving the programs over to a department would be beneficial for students, providing them with a larger and more diverse community of peers. Also, given the move toward program and course assessment, the departments are better equipped to handle these administrative matters. NELC has done a terrific of rethinking the Jewish studies majors and minors, and incorporating them into the existing department structure, which includes Hebrew, Arabic, and Islamic Studies programs.

For all these reasons, we strongly endorse the NELC curriculum revisions.

Sincerely,
T.M. Rudavsky
Professor of Philosophy
Director of the Melton Center for Jewish Studies
