1. Provide the rationale for proposing this course:

The challenges of viewing, analyzing and composing verbal texts about the ephemeral artform of dance is an appropriate intellectual endeavor for the Honors and Scholars population, requiring keen skills of observation, higher order thinking skills, and sophistication in the use and deployment of language. In addition, this is a course driven by the research interests of the instructor, one that necessitates close, ongoing interaction and feedback between professor and student. Finally, the College of the Arts is engaged in an effort to expand its Honors and Scholars offerings; this is the first Honors/Scholars course to be offered by the Department of Dance.
