INSTRUCTOR

DANIELLE V. SCHOON, PHD

Senior Lecturer

371 Hagerty Hall

Please refer to me as Dr. Schoon (she/her).

Please email me at: schoon.2@osu.edu. I do not reply to emails on weekends or holidays.

I try to respond within 24 business hours. I expect the same from you.

Course Website: carmen.osu.edu

This course is delivered 100% online. Carmen Zoom will be used for office hours.

Office Hours: Students may schedule individual Zoom appointments with me via email.

Community office hours will be held weekly in Carmen Zoom on (TBA) and will involve class discussions and the opportunity to ask any questions of the instructor.

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND ORGANIZATION

Provides a sociological understanding of contemporary migration both globally and with a particular focus on the U.S. The course will examine why migration occurs; how it is sustained over time; and how immigrants are incorporated into the host society. Social relations as central to understanding immigration will be a focus of the course.

What drives international migration: the poverty in less developed countries, or the need for cheap labor in developed countries? What is better for immigrants: to assimilate into the society of destination, or to preserve their own cultures, identities, and forms of social organization? What is the solution of the current global “immigration problem”: more restrictive immigration laws and a more drastic enforcement of the borders, or a more open borders policy? This course will explore these questions from a sociological perspective.

We live in a global age of migration: today there are more people living outside of where they were born than at any previous time in history. About 258 million people currently live outside the country of their birth – an increase of 49% since 2000. The number of migrants as a fraction of the population residing in high-income countries rose to 14% in 2017; this means that more than one of every ten people residing in the most developed economies is an immigrant. More than six of every ten international migrants reside in Asia or Europe (80 and 78 million, respectively). Northern America hosts the third largest number (58 million), followed by Africa (25 million), Latin America and the Caribbean (9.5 million) and Oceania (8.4 million).

This is not a new phenomenon: together with Canada and Australia, the United States is a country founded by immigrants. Since the nineteenth century, international migrants from many different countries have been key actors in the expansion of the United States economy. The history of migration to the United States is divided into four periods: the colonial, the mid- nineteenth century, the turn of the twentieth, and post-1965. During each phase, a new distinct national, racial, or ethnic group arrived in the United States. Migrants from Northern Europe arrived during the mid-nineteenth century; in the early twentieth-century migrants were mainly from Southern and Eastern Europe; and the post-1965 migrants came mainly from Latin America and Asia. In this course, we will focus on this last period, also known as New Immigration, in which a new age of globalization has intensified the high demand for both high- skilled and low- skilled workers. Paradoxically, today, while we live in a world in which migrant flows are proliferating to the highest level in human history, restrictive immigration laws and the fortification of national borders are becoming more drastic and vigilant. Every nation state seeks to maximize the opportunities from transnational corporations, market expansion, flow of capital, and economic integration, yet closes its legal doors to the labor migration stimulated by these economic forces. One of the consequences of both the fortification of national borders and the radicalization of global inequalities between the rich North and the poor South is a large increase in the flow of unauthorized migrant workers.

This course provides a sociological understanding of contemporary migration with a focus on the case of the United States. Through the lens of sociology, we will analyze the forces that have intensified this global movement of people and the economic, social, and cultural consequences of crossing international borders and settling in a new society. Why does migration occur? What are the demographic trends of contemporary immigration? How are immigrants incorporated into host societies? We will also consider concerns about national security after the attacks of September 11th, as well as the war against immigrants that has intensified after the 2016 elections in the United States, and how these are affecting the lives of immigrants already living here, but especially the ones that are just arriving.

This is an intensive reading and writing course. Students are expected to complete the assigned readings prior to each discussion topic. The readings are made up of a mix of chapters from a required textbook and academic articles. The course is organized around the following 11 main themes:

1. Phases of U.S. immigration: xenophobia in a “nation of immigrants”
2. Theories on immigration: why do people migrate?
3. New destinations and discrimination
4. Making it in America
5. Your family immigration story
6. Transnationalism and cross-border ties
7. Language, diversity, and resilience
8. The Second Generation and the “American Dream”
9. Muslims in America
10. Controlling immigration
11. Immigrants and immigration in the news

GE LEARNING OUTCOMES

Sociology 3200 meets the GE Diversity: Social Diversity in the US. By the end of this course, students should be able to:

- Describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.
- Recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

REQUIRED READING MATERIALS

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK: Alejandro Portes and Rubén Rumbaut, Immigrant America: A Portrait, Fourth Edition (Berkeley: University of California Press, 2014).

You can buy this book online. This book is also available for free as an eBook at the OSU-Library system. This textbook will provide you with the main theories and concepts needed to understand and analyze the immigrant issues we will discuss every week. A complete and careful reading of the textbook will help you to dismantle many dominant stereotypes about immigrants in the United States and to understand the complexities of this historical social process. The concepts and information presented in the textbook are also essential to succeed in the exams.

ARTICLES

Additional articles and chapters will be available to students through Carmen. These readings could occasionally change throughout the semester. If there are changes, you will be responsible for reading what is posted on Carmen (not the ones listed initially on the syllabus), so check Carmen regularly.

MOVIES AND VIDEO CLIPS

You are also required to watch some movies and video clips posted on CARMEN. These are usually links to YouTube or an OSU library link.

COURSE TECHNOLOGY

All course materials, including recorded instructor lectures, will be delivered in Carmen. For help with your password, university e-mail, Carmen, or other technology questions or requests, contact the OSU IT Service Desk. Standard support hours are available at <https://ocio.osu.edu/help/hours>, and support for urgent issues is available 24x7.

Baseline technical skills necessary for online courses:

- ❑ Basic computer and web-browsing skills
- ❑ Navigating Carmen

Technology skills necessary for this specific course:

- ❑ Recording a slide presentation with audio narration
- ❑ Recording, editing, and uploading video

Necessary equipment:

- ❑ Computer: current Mac (OS X) or PC (Windows 7+) with high-speed internet
- ❑ Webcam: built-in or external webcam, fully installed
- ❑ Microphone: built-in laptop or tablet mic or external microphone

Necessary software:

- ❑ All Ohio State students are now eligible for free Microsoft Office 365 ProPlus through Microsoft's Student Advantage program. Each student can install Office on 5 PCs or Macs, 5 tablets (Windows, iPad® and Android™) and five phones.
  - Students are able to access Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Outlook and other programs, depending on platform. Users will also receive 1 TB of OneDrive for Business storage.
  - Office 365 is installed within your BuckeyeMail account. Instructions for downloading and installation can be found at <https://ocio.osu.edu/kb04733>.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING

COURSE GRADING

The course offers 100 total possible points that you can earn by submitting the following assignments ON TIME (see class schedule):

1. 9 reading summaries of required articles posted on CARMEN (2 points each = 18 points)
2. 11 original posts and 22 responses (1 point each = 33 points)
3. Two essays with class Zoom discussions (15 and 16 points = 31 points)
4. 3 Quizzes (6 points each = 18 points)

You are required to post ALL your assignments on CARMEN. Assignments submitted by email will not be accepted or graded under ANY circumstances. The guidelines for the assignments and discussion posts are in the Dropboxes used to submit your assignments. Before submitting any assignment on CARMEN you must be sure that you followed ALL the required guidelines.

As indicated in all the guidelines, you are required to include the total number of words at the end of ALL your assignments and discussion posts. IF YOU DO NOT FOLLOW THIS SIMPLE GUIDELINE, YOUR ASSIGNMENT OR POST WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED AND WILL RECEIVE 0 POINTS!

Technological problems are not valid excuses for not completing an assignment or posting it late on CARMEN.

Grading scale:

A (94-100) A- (90-93) B+ (87-89) B (83-86) B- (80-82) C+ (77-79) C (73-76) C- (70-72)
D+ (67-69) D (60-66) E (below 60)

FACULTY FEEDBACK AND RESPONSE TIME

I am providing the following list to give you an idea of my intended availability throughout the course. (Remember that you can call 614-688-HELP at any time if you have a technical problem.)

Grading and feedback

For large weekly assignments, you can generally expect feedback within 14 business days.

E-mail

I will reply to e-mails within 24 hours on business days.

Discussion board

I will check and reply to messages in the discussion boards every 48 hours on business days.

ATTENDANCE, PARTICIPATION, AND DISCUSSIONS

Student participation requirements

Because this is a distance-education course, your attendance is based on your online activity and participation. The following is a summary of everyone's expected participation:

- Logging in: AT LEAST ONCE PER WEEK

Be sure you are logging in to the course in Carmen each week, including weeks with holidays or weeks with minimal online course activity. (During most weeks you will probably log in many times.) If you have a situation that might cause you to miss an entire week of class, discuss it with me as soon as possible.

- Office hours and live sessions: OPTIONAL OR FLEXIBLE

All live, scheduled events for the course, including my office hours, are optional. For live presentations, I will provide a recording that you can watch later. If you are required to discuss an assignment with me, please contact me at the beginning of the week if you need a time outside my scheduled office hours.

- Participating in discussion forums: 3+ TIMES PER WEEK

As participation, each week you can expect to post at least three times as part of our substantive class discussion on the week's topics.

Discussion and communication guidelines

The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: While there is no need to participate in class discussions as if you were writing a research paper, you should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation. Informality (including an occasional emoticon) is fine for non-academic topics.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online.
- Citing your sources: When we have academic discussions, please cite your sources to back up what you say. (For the textbook or other course materials, list at least the title and page numbers. For online sources, include a link.)
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your academic posts in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying into the Carmen discussion.

UNIVERSITY AND OTHER CLASS POLICIES

INCOMPLETES

Course incompletes will not be granted in this class. It is the student's responsibility to be aware of the last day to drop the course.

FINAL GRADES

Final grades are non-negotiable and I do not round up more than half a percent (.5%) If you are struggling, please contact me right away to work together to make this class a positive experience.

STUDENT SERVICES

Student academic services offered on the OSU main campus:

<http://advising.osu.edu/welcome.shtml>. _

Student support services offered on the OSU main campus: <http://ssc.osu.edu>.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY POLICY

Plagiarism is the representation of another's works or ideas as one's own. It includes the unacknowledged word for word use and/or paraphrasing of another person's work and/or the inappropriate unacknowledged use of another person's ideas. Please ask me if you have any questions about this. All suspected cases are reported to the Committee on Academic Misconduct, in accordance with university rules. Substantiated cases would mean a failing grade in the course and possibly expulsion. I use anti-plagiarism software to check for undocumented source material. Collaboration and sharing ideas, however, is encouraged. Just make sure you acknowledge your sources and do something with the ideas of others: evaluate them, relate them to other ideas, argue for or against them, give your own examples illustrating them.

Policies for this online course:

- Quizzes: You must complete all quizzes yourself, without any external help or communication.
- Written assignments: Your written assignments, including discussion posts, should be your own original work. In formal assignments, you should follow ASA style to cite the ideas and words of your research sources. You are encouraged to ask a trusted person to proofread your assignments before you turn them in-- but no one else should revise or rewrite your work.
- Reusing past work: In general, you are prohibited in university courses from turning in work from a past class to your current class, even if you modify it. If you want to build on past research or revisit a topic you've explored in previous courses, please discuss the situation with me.
- Falsifying research: Any research you will conduct in this course is intended to be a learning experience; you should never feel tempted to make your research look more successful than it was.
- Informal peer-review: The course includes opportunities for peer-review of each other's writing. Remember that comparing answers on an assignment is not permitted.

Ohio State's academic integrity policy

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

STATEMENT ON TITLE IX

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at <http://titleix.osu.edu> or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator, Kellie Brennan, at titleix@osu.edu

The Ohio State University affirms the importance and value of diversity in the student body. Our programs and curricula reflect our multicultural society and global economy and seek to provide opportunities for students to learn more about persons who are different from them. We are committed to maintaining a community that recognizes and values the inherent worth and dignity of every person; fosters sensitivity, understanding, and mutual respect among each member of our community; and encourages each individual to strive to reach his or her own potential. Discrimination against any individual based upon protected status, which is defined as age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status, is prohibited.

YOUR MENTAL HEALTH

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know are suffering from any of the aforementioned conditions, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) by visiting ccs.osu.edu or calling 614-292-5766. CCS is located on the 4th Floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th Floor of Lincoln Tower. You can reach an on call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766 and 24 hour emergency help is also available through the 24/7 National Suicide Prevention Hotline at 1-800-273- TALK or at suicidepreventionlifeline.org

ACCESSIBILITY ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES:

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. You are also welcome to register with Student Life Disability Services to establish reasonable accommodations. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. SLDS contact information: slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307; slds.osu.edu; 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue.

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND ORGANIZATION

Provides a sociological understanding of contemporary migration both globally and with a particular focus on the U.S. The course will examine why migration occurs; how it is sustained over time; and how immigrants are incorporated into the host society. Social relations as central to understanding immigration will be a focus of the course.

What drives international migration: the poverty in less developed countries, or the need for cheap labor in developed countries? What is better for immigrants: to assimilate into the society of destination, or to preserve their own cultures, identities, and forms of social organization? What is the solution of the current global “immigration problem”: more restrictive immigration laws and a more drastic enforcement of the borders, or a more open borders policy? This course will explore these questions from a sociological perspective.

We live in a global age of migration: today there are more people living outside of where they were born than at any previous time in history. About 258 million people currently live outside the country of their birth – an increase of 49% since 2000. The number of migrants as a fraction of the population residing in high-income countries rose to 14% in 2017; this means that more than one of every ten people residing in the most developed economies is an immigrant. More than six of every ten international migrants reside in Asia or Europe (80 and 78 million, respectively). Northern America hosts the third largest number (58 million), followed by Africa (25 million), Latin America and the Caribbean (9.5 million) and Oceania (8.4 million).

This is not a new phenomenon: together with Canada and Australia, the United States is a country founded by immigrants. Since the nineteenth century, international migrants from many different countries have been key actors in the expansion of the United States economy. The history of migration to the United States is divided into four periods: the colonial, the mid- nineteenth century, the turn of the twentieth, and post-1965. During each phase, a new distinct national, racial, or ethnic group arrived in the United States. Migrants from Northern Europe arrived during the mid-nineteenth century; in the early twentieth-century migrants were mainly from Southern and Eastern Europe; and the post-1965 migrants came mainly from Latin America and Asia. In this course, we will focus on this last period, also known as New Immigration, in which a new age of globalization has intensified the high demand for both high- skilled and low-skilled workers. Paradoxically, today, while we live in a world in which migrant flows are proliferating to the highest level in human history, restrictive immigration laws and the fortification of national borders are becoming more drastic and vigilant. Every nation state seeks to maximize the opportunities from transnational corporations, market expansion, flow of capital, and economic integration, yet closes its legal doors to the labor migration stimulated by these economic forces. One of the consequences of both the fortification of national borders and the radicalization of global inequalities between the rich North and the poor South is a large increase in the flow of unauthorized migrant workers.

This course provides a sociological understanding of contemporary migration with a focus on the case of the United States. Through the lens of sociology, we will analyze the forces that have intensified this global movement of people and the economic, social, and cultural consequences of crossing international borders and settling in a new society. Why does migration occur? What are the demographic trends of contemporary immigration? How are immigrants incorporated into host societies? We will also consider concerns about national security after the attacks of September 11th, as well as the war against immigrants that has intensified after the 2016 elections in the United States, and how these are affecting the lives of immigrants already living here, but especially the ones that are just arriving.

This is an intensive reading and writing course. Students are expected to complete the assigned readings prior to each discussion topic. The readings are made up of a mix of chapters from a required textbook and academic articles.

The course is organized around the following 11 main themes:

1. Phases of U.S. immigration: xenophobia in a “nation of immigrants”
2. Theories on immigration: why do people migrate?
3. New destinations and discrimination
4. Making it in America
5. Your family immigration story
6. Transnationalism and cross-border ties
7. Language, diversity, and resilience
8. The Second Generation and the “American Dream”
9. Muslims in America
10. Controlling immigration
11. Immigrants and immigration in the news

GE REQUIREMENTS AND COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

Sociology 3200 meets the GE Diversity: Social Diversity in the US.

Students who take this course will:

- Understand the theories and methods of sociological inquiry applied to the study of individuals and groups, organizations and societies.

- Comprehend human differences and similarities in various psychological, social, cultural, historical, economic, geographic, and political contexts.
- Develop abilities to comprehend and assess individual and group values and recognize their importance in social problem solving and policymaking.
- Understand how social structures affect individuals and their environments.
- Understand how individuals contribute to the construction, reproduction, and change of society.

REQUIRED READING MATERIALS

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK

Alejandro Portes and Rubén Rumbaut, Immigrant America: A Portrait, Fourth Edition (Berkeley: University of California Press, 2014).

You can buy this book online. This book is also available for free as an eBook at the OSU-Library system.

This textbook will provide you with the main theories and concepts needed to understand and analyze the immigrant issues we will discuss every week. A complete and careful reading of the textbook will help you to dismantle many dominant stereotypes about immigrants in the United States and to understand the complexities of this historical social process. The concepts and information presented in the textbook are also essential to succeed in the exams.

ARTICLES

Additional articles and chapters will be available to students through Carmen. These readings could occasionally change throughout the semester. If there are changes, you will be responsible for reading what is posted on Carmen (not the ones listed initially on the syllabus), so check Carmen regularly.

MOVIES AND VIDEO CLIPS

You are also required to watch some movies and video clips posted on CARMEN. These are usually links to YouTube or an OSU library link.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS AND GRADING

COURSE GRADING

The course offers 100 total possible points that you can earn by submitting the following assignments ON TIME (see class schedule):

- 1) 9 reading summaries of required articles posted on CARMEN (2 points each = 18 points)
- 2) 11 original posts and 22 responses (1 point each = 33 points)
- 3) Two essays (15 and 16 points = 31 points)
- 4) Final Exam = 18 points

You are required to post ALL your assignments on CARMEN. Assignments submitted by email will not be accepted or graded under ANY circumstances. The guidelines for the assignments and discussion posts are in the dropboxes used to submit your assignments. Before submitting any assignment on CARMEN you must be sure that you followed ALL the required guidelines.

As indicated in all the guidelines, you are required to include the total number of words at the end of ALL your assignments and discussion posts. IF YOU DO NOT FOLLOW THIS SIMPLE GUIDELINE, YOUR ASSIGNMENT OR POST WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED AND WILL RECEIVE 0 POINTS!

Technological problems are not valid excuses for not completing an assignment or posting it late on CARMEN.

Grading scale:

A (94-100) A- (90-93) B+ (87-89) B (83-86) B- (80-82) C+ (77-79) C (73-76) C- (70-72)
D+ (67-69) D (60-66) E (below 60)

UNIVERSITY AND CLASS POLICIES

INCOMPLETES

Course incompletes will not be granted in this class. It is the student's responsibility to be aware of the last day to drop the course.

FINAL GRADES

Final grades are non-negotiable and I do not round up more than half a percent (.5%) If you are struggling, please contact me right away to work together to make this class a positive experience.

PLAGIARISM is the representation of another's works or ideas as one's own. It includes the unacknowledged word for word use and/or paraphrasing of another person's work and/or the inappropriate unacknowledged use of another person's ideas. Please ask me if you have any questions about this. All suspected cases are reported to the Committee on Academic Misconduct, in accordance with university rules.

Substantiated cases would mean a failing grade in the course and possibly expulsion. I use anti-plagiarism software to check for undocumented source material. Collaboration and sharing ideas, however, is encouraged. Just make sure you acknowledge your sources and do something with the ideas of others: evaluate them, relate them to other ideas, argue for or against them, give your own examples illustrating them.

ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487).

Assessing the effectiveness of the course on the ELOs will be evaluated through assignments and essay responses.

ELO 1) Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.

ELO 2) Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

Two examples of direct measures:

1. Students will be given 2 essay writing assignments throughout the semester. The essays directly assess their understanding and improvement with respect to ELO 1 and ELO 2:
  - a. ELO 1 Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.

Essay 2 Prompt:

IMMIGRANTS AND IMMIGRATION IN THE NEWS

For Essay 2, first you will watch:

The Immigration Paradox - Diverse Stories Reveal Root Causes of Mass Migration by Lourdes Lee Vasquez (2014).

<https://osu.kanopy.com/video/immigration-paradox> (Links to an external site.)

Then, you will analyze ONE of the following controversial issues regarding immigrants and immigration policies in the United States:

- 1) Undocumented migrants brought by their parents when they were children and the immigration policy that allowed them to remain in this country, known as DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals).
- 2) Asylum-seekers from Central America and the Trump administration's family separation policy.
- 3) Donald Trump's description of undocumented Mexicans as criminals and rapists on June 2016, when as a businessman and television personality he formally announced his presidential candidacy and the current debate about the wall on the border with Mexico.

In the central part of your essay, you are required to analyze the topic you chose from the perspective of immigrants. You are required to use news articles, publications, or the internet to look for interviews or testimonies provided by the immigrants themselves. You are free to follow your own interests and organize this section around your own argument. But the main goal of this assignment is to try to understand the events from the immigrant's perspective. You can use the following questions to organize your ideas:

- What social or personal realities pushed them to leave their places of origin?
- How was their journey to get to the United States?
- How do they describe their experiences with immigration authorities, border patrol, policies, or laws in Mexico and the United States?
- How do they justify their decision to migrate to the United States, sometimes without proper documentation?
- What are their hopes or fears?

To support your analysis and argument, you are required to use some of the concepts or ideas from five sources: 1) at least two readings discussed in this class (the textbook can count as one); 2) at least two sociological articles published in an academic journal, not discussed in this class; and 3) the film, The Immigration Paradox.

- b. ELO 2 Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

Essay 1 Prompt:

For Essay 1, you will write an immigrant autobiography. Even if you are not an immigrant yourself, we are all descendants of immigrants, especially in the United States. The purpose of this assignment is to encourage you to identify and search for your own immigrant origins and connect them to the broader historical and social forces shaping them. You can choose to focus on one or both sides of your family (paternal or maternal). There will obviously be different degrees of knowledge about one's own origins. I encourage you to discuss your family's history with your parents/guardians and with other older relatives as you try to connect their (and your own) story to the immigration patterns we have learned from the readings.

For those whose ancestors were forcibly brought to this country (e.g. slavery or indentured servitude) or whose ancestors include Native Americans, your paper will include a substantive discussion of these realities along with any internal migration patterns, for example, the "Great Migration" of African-American families from the South to the North.

In addition to an accounting of where your ancestors migrated from -- including why they migrated, with whom, approximately when they arrived, where in the U.S. they settled, and any subsequent internal migration within the U.S. -- you will also provide an account of their (or your own) immigrant assimilation experiences, as well as any experiences with racism or xenophobic reactions from other groups.

In short, THIS IS AN AUTOBIOGRAPHICAL ESSAY. The goal of this paper is for you to explore your own immigrant roots, or your own immigration experience, to document how individual life experiences are shaped by broader social forces.

2. 3 Quizzes will be used to assess student progress. Several short answer questions may be repeated across the quizzes, using slightly changed wording, in order to assess achievement of ELO 1 and ELO 2, such as those listed below:

- a. ELO 1 Students describe and evaluate the roles of such categories as race, gender and sexuality, disability, class, ethnicity, and religion in the pluralistic institutions and cultures of the United States.

Sample Quiz Questions:

- Describe the role that “ethnic capital” plays in how immigrants integrate themselves into the host society.
- Does the concept of “transnationalism” accurately describe the experiences of most migrants, or only of a minority of migrants? Explain.

- b. ELO 2 Students recognize the role of social diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values regarding appreciation, tolerance, and equality of others.

Sample Quiz Questions:

- Explain why the US’ recent immigration policies discussed in this class have not, according to the readings, achieved their goals.
- Describe how, according to Douglas S. Massey, the US’ recent immigration policies could be fixed for the benefit of both immigrants and the native-born population.

Student responses will be evaluated annually by the Director for Undergraduate Studies and the faculty who teach the course in the Department of Sociology. The Director and instructors will confer to determine if students are meeting the learning outcomes and if improvements could be made to better the course or assignments on the learning outcomes. Two different reviews will be conducted, one for in-person and one for online offerings. These evaluations will be archived and evaluated for further review of both the online and the in-person courses to ensure learning outcomes are being met regardless of the method of delivery.
