Course Description

This interdisciplinary course explores the relationships between health and gender, race, class, sexuality, citizenship under political, biological, economic, spiritual, cultural and/or socially constructed influences. We will conduct a comprehensive overview of health literature in public health, feminist cultural studies, sociology, anthropology, medicine, and popular literature. Topics include the social construction of gender/sex, feminist critiques of the politics and economics of health care, historical and current dimensions of health movements, inequities and differences in relation to reproductive and sexual health, HIV politics, mental health, addiction and narco-politics, health and disability, aging, and environmental health. The course aims at exploring how health is socially determined and constructed by racism, poverty, homophobia, ageism, attitudes toward disabilities, fat phobia, and other forms of oppression that multiply the effect on health and produce various barriers to access health care. Central to the course materials and discussions will be consideration of how race, ethnicity, class, culture, and gender shape health outcomes. The course will provide a mixture of reading, discussions, media viewing, and critical thinking assignments.

This syllabus may be amended by announcements over email and on Carmen. Please check your email and Carmen online announcements regularly.

Accessibility policies and services

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know via email immediately so that we can privately discuss options. You are also welcome to register with Student Life Disability Services to establish reasonable accommodations. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. Goals:Course Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course, students should successfully be able to:

- Understand the range of perspectives and develop a basic working knowledge of dominant health issues in the United States
- Demonstrate conceptual understanding of the intersections among oppressions that affect health, including sexism, racism, imperialism, homophobia, ableism and classism
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills
- Demonstrate conceptual understanding of the history of health activism in the United States
- Apply critical perspectives to contemporary socio-cultural issues of health
- Construct original critiques of health phenomena from the student's perspective
- Demonstrate the ability to locate health issues within the complex and shifting network of power relations
- Explain and interpret health issues from course readings with critical attention to race, gender, sexuality and nationality
- Use appropriate evidence to develop a strong written argument
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills by evaluating main arguments, evidence, and the chain of reasoning present in a text

Required Course materials:

- All course readings are posted on Carmen Canvas under "Files."
- Videos: Prezi lectures contain videos that are available through YouTube.

Course Technology:

All of your participation in this course will be through our class CARMEN Canvas site. Because this class is entirely online, you will need:

Baseline technical skills for online courses:

- Basic computer and web-browsing skills
- Navigating Carmen: for questions about specific functionality, see the Canvas Student Guide

Required equipment:

- Computer: current Mac (OS X) or PC (Windows 7+) with high-speed internet connection
- Microphone: built-in laptop or tablet mic or external microphone
- Other: a mobile device (smartphone or tablet) or landline to use for BuckeyePass authentication

Required software:

- Microsoft Office 365: All Ohio State students are now eligible for free Microsoft Office 365 ProPlus through Microsoft's Student Advantage program. Full instructions for downloading and installation can be found at go.osu.edu/office365help.

Carmen access:

You will need to use BuckeyePass multi-factor authentication to access your courses in Carmen. To ensure that you are able to connect to Carmen at all times, it is recommended that you take the following steps:

- Register multiple devices in case something happens to your primary device. Visit the BuckeyePass - Adding a Device help article for step-by-step instructions.
- Request passcodes to keep as a backup authentication option. When you see the Duo login screen on your computer, click Enter a Passcode and then click the Text me new codes button that appears. This will text you ten passcodes good for 365 days that can each be used once.
- Download the Duo Mobile application to all of your registered devices for the ability to generate one-time codes in the event that you lose cell, data, or Wi-Fi service.

If none of these options will meet the needs of your situation, you can contact the IT Service Desk at 614-688-4357 (HELP) and IT support staff will work out a solution with you.

For help with your password, university e-mail, Carmen, or any other technology issues, questions, or requests, contact the OSU IT Service Desk. Standard support hours are available at <https://ocio.osu.edu/help/hours>, and support for urgent issues is available 24/7.

- Self-Service and Chat support: <http://ocio.osu.edu/help>
- Phone: 614-688-HELP (4357)
- Email: servicedesk@osu.edu
- TDD: 614-688-8743

Course design:

Mode of delivery: This is an asynchronous class. There are no required sessions when you must be logged in to Carmen at a scheduled time.

Pace of online activities: This course is divided into weekly modules that are released every Monday by 10 am, if not earlier. Our workweek begins on Mondays at 10 am and ends on Sundays at 11:59 pm.

Weekly modules: Models accumulate the following learning activities: Prezi lectures, readings, and weekly assignments. All the readings for the course will be available at the beginning of the course. You are responsible for completing all learning activities during our workweek, while meeting the deadlines in the Course Schedule and following ALL course policies listed in syllabus.

Attendance and participation requirements: Because this is an online course, your attendance is based on your online participation. You are expected to log in to the course in Carmen every week. Each week you can expect to post at least once as part of our substantive class discussion on the week's topics.

Structure of the Carmen course

On the Carmen course toolbar you can find the main sections that will be used for our weekly communication:

- Files – contains the Readings for the course and Syllabus with Guidelines
- Discussions – forum for weekly discussion posts: Introduction post, weekly Posts and Comments.
 - Q&A – Questions and Answers – Here you can post any question or concerns about course materials or assignments. This forum can be used for emergency questions, clarifications, advice, and tips. Also, you can post useful information relevant to the topic of the course, for example, information about interesting events. Together with the instructor, all students are encouraged to provide answers or comments on questions.
- Assignments – contains tools to upload Ruminations and Final Essay, as well as, detailed descriptions of the all course assignments.
- Quizzes – contains Syllabus Quiz.
- Announcements – Every week I will use the “Announcements” section for introductory posts for each week where you will find the to do list and some comments about the particular workweek.
- Modules – collect the assignments, pages, files, etc. that are necessary for each week.

Please carefully navigate all the sections on Carmen and read instructions in each section!

Assignments:

Syllabus Quiz	5 points	5%
Introduction Post	5 points	5%
Rumination	10 points	10%
Discussion Leading Post	15 points	15%
4 Comments	40 points (10 points each)	40%
Final Essay	25 points	25%

There is a total of 100 possible points for course assignments; therefore, the total points possible for each assignment also equals its weight (%) in the overall grade.

- Syllabus Quiz (5 points) – due by May 17, Sunday 11:59 pm
- Introduction post (5 points) – due by May 17, Sunday 11:59 pm
- Rumination (10 points) – due by May 24, Sunday 11:59 pm

For this assignment, you should answer a specific question that I post on Carmen (go to Assignments). Your rumination should be between 400-450 words. In your rumination, you should cite at least 2 articles assigned for the weeks 1 and 2 (one citation should be from week 1 and one – from a week 2) AND provide specific real-world examples or connections to your life experiences. You should upload your Rumination also through the toolbar’s section “Assignments” on Carmen.

- Discussion Leading Post (15 points) - due every Wednesday by 11:59 pm (starting from week 3)

Starting from week 3, a group of students will be assigned to write Discussion Leading Posts, which function as ‘discussion starters’ for each week of content. Posts should be posted in the toolbar’s section “Discussions” – “week # - Discussion Leading Posts and Comments.” Post should be between 500-600 words. You should complete ONE Discussion Leading Post over the course of the semester. At the beginning of the course each student will sign up for a week to do a Post.

Discussion Leading Post should provide critical analysis of the reading/s or other material/s for that particular week. Post should grapple with a particular question, problem, or paradigm present in the assigned reading/s or material/s. In the Discussion Leading Post you can highlight the issues that seem central to you and identify questions that provoke thought, unsettle or remain uncertain for you. You should address specific reading or readings for the week. I also encourage you to draw parallels between the readings. Your post should end with a specific question/questions for the class.

Your Post may focus on the following things:

- Choose a passage of interest and analyze it.
- Elaborate how the reading relates to your experience.
- Discuss what is convincing about the author’s claims, and where they could be developed.
- Say what lingering questions or points of confusion remain for you.
- Describe how the reading contributes to the section of the course we are in.
- Provide a summary of the main argument of the reading, identifying and defining key concepts and ideas.

- Comments on Discussion Leading Posts (40 points) - due every Sunday by 11:59 pm (starting from week 3)

All students must respond to the Discussion Leading Posts by posting Comments. You should post your comment as a reply to the particular Post in the toolbar’s section “Discussions” – “week # - Discussion Leading Posts and Comments.” For the week when you do a Post, you should still write a Comment to the Post of your classmate. You should complete FOUR Comments (one comment per week) on Posts over the course of the semester (each 10 points). In your Comment you should address the particular ideas and questions in the Post, supporting your Comment by the readings and other evidence. Your comment should be between 350-400 words.

- Final Essay (25 points) – due by June 24, Wednesday 11:59 pm
Guiding questions or prompts will be provided to you separately.

Grades:

This course is graded using the OSU standard grading scheme:

93–100: A	87–89.9: B+	77–79.9: C+	67 –69.9: D+	Below 60: E
90–92.9: A-	83–86.9: B	73–76.9: C	60 –66.9: D
	80–82.9: B-	70 –72.9: C-

Late assignments:

You are required to submit ALL assignments by the published deadline. Late assignments will not be accepted unless confirmed by me prior to the due date. Since due dates are made explicit on the syllabus, please plan accordingly.

Faculty feedback and response time

- For all assignments, you can generally expect feedback within 7-10 days.
- I will reply to e-mails within 24 hours on school days.

- Please check your email daily and reply to emails within 24 hours. Email is the best way to contact me.

Discussion and communication guidelines

The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: You should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online.
- Citing your sources: When we have academic discussions, please cite your sources to back up what you say. (For the course materials, list at least the title and page numbers. For online sources, include a link.)
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your posts and comments in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying them into the Carmen discussion.

Time Management

Research indicates that distance education courses require self-disciplined time management skills and that web-based courses require a greater time commitment from students than traditionally structured courses. Because you're not having a lot of "time in class," our class will be more reading and writing based. Therefore, do not underestimate the time commitment that you will have to make to be successful in this class. In addition, it is important to recognize that you may need to be more self-motivated to keep up with the reading and completing assignments, since you will not have the pressures of face-to-face class sessions to motivate you to complete the work.

Other course policies

Copyright disclaimer

The materials used in connection with this course may be subject to copyright protection and are only for the use of students officially enrolled in the course for the educational purposes associated with the course. Copyright law must be considered before copying, retaining, or disseminating materials outside of the course.

Content warning

Some contents of this course may involve texts or media that may be triggering to some students due to descriptions of and/or scenes depicting acts of violence, acts of war, or sexual violence and its aftermath. If needed, please take care of yourself while watching/reading this material (taking a break, debriefing with a friend, contacting a Sexual Violence Support Coordinator at 614-292-1111, or Counseling and Consultation Services at 614-292-5766, and contacting the instructor if needed).

Statement on title IX

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at <http://titleix.osu.edu> or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator, Kellie Brennan, at titleix@osu.edu

Mandatory Reporter Statement

As an instructor, one of my responsibilities is to help create a safe learning environment on our campus. I also have a mandatory reporting responsibility related to my role as an instructor. It is my goal that you feel able to share information related to your life experiences in classroom discussions, in your written work, and in our one-on-one meetings. I will seek to keep information you share private to the greatest extent possible. However, I am required to share information regarding sexual misconduct or information about a crime that may have occurred on Ohio State's campus with the University. Students may speak to someone confidentially by calling 1-866-294-9350 or through the Ohio State Anonymous Reporting Line.

Your mental health

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you find yourself feeling isolated, anxious or overwhelmed, please know that there are resources to help: ccs.osu.edu. You can reach an on-call counselor when CCS is closed at (614) 292-5766 and 24-hour emergency help is also available through the 24/7 National Prevention Hotline at 1-(800)-273-TALK or at suicidepreventionlifeline.org. The Ohio State Wellness app is also a great resource available at go.osu.edu/wellnessapp.

Ohio State's academic integrity policy

Academic integrity is essential to maintaining an environment that fosters excellence in teaching, research, and other educational and scholarly activities. Thus, The Ohio State University and the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) expect that all students have read and understand the University's Code of Student Conduct, and that all students will complete all academic and scholarly assignments with fairness and honesty. Students must recognize that failure to follow the rules and guidelines established in the University's Code of Student Conduct and this syllabus may constitute "Academic Misconduct."

The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: "Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the University, or subvert the educational process." Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the University's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an "excuse" for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by University Rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the University's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the University.

If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact me.

Student Academic Resources and Services:

❖ ACADEMIC ADVISING AT OHIO STATE

<http://advising.osu.edu/welcome.shtml>

Undergraduate academic advising at Ohio State (Columbus campus) is provided by the colleges and/or the departments that offer the programs—the degree(s), the major(s), the minor(s)—a student is pursuing. Academic advisors are professional staff members who are trained to help undergraduate students navigate the complexities of the University, the academic curriculum in your major, and serve as a resource for you during your time as a student. You can expect your advisor to provide accurate, helpful information in regard to degree planning and curriculum requirements, refer you to appropriate University resources when necessary, and help you understand your role and responsibilities as an undergraduate student at The Ohio State University. Advisors can help plan your academic journey, navigate policies and requirements, identify internships and careers and more.

Since there is not a central advising office at Ohio State's Columbus campus, you will need to select the college(s), school(s), and/or program(s) you are interested in to schedule an advising appointment, learn how to declare a major, have transfer credit evaluated, apply to graduate, and more

(http://advising.osu.edu/colleges_schools_programs.shtml).

Course Description

This interdisciplinary course explores the relationships between health and gender, race, class, sexuality, citizenship under political, biological, economic, spiritual, cultural and/or socially constructed influences. We will conduct a comprehensive overview of health literature in public health, feminist cultural studies, sociology, anthropology, medicine, and popular literature. Topics include the social construction of gender/sex, feminist critiques of the politics and economics of health care, historical and current dimensions of health movements, inequities and differences in relation to reproductive and sexual health, HIV politics, mental health, addiction and narco-politics, health and disability, aging, and environmental health. The course aims at exploring how health is socially determined and constructed by racism, poverty, homophobia, ageism, attitudes toward disabilities, fat phobia, and other forms of oppression that multiply the effect on health and produce various barriers to access health care. Central to the course materials and discussions will be consideration of how race, ethnicity, class, culture, and gender shape health outcomes. The course will provide a mixture of reading, discussions, media viewing, and critical thinking assignments.

This syllabus may be amended by announcements in class, over email, and on Carmen. Please check your email and Carmen online announcements prior to each class.

Accessibility policies and services

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know via email immediately so that we can privately discuss options. You are also welcome to register with Student Life Disability Services to establish reasonable accommodations. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. SLDS contact information: slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307; slds.osu.edu; 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue.

Goals:Course Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course, students should successfully be able to:

- Understand the range of perspectives and develop a basic working knowledge of dominant health issues in the United States
- Demonstrate conceptual understanding of the intersections among oppressions that affect health, including sexism, racism, imperialism, homophobia, ableism and classism
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills
- Demonstrate conceptual understanding of the history of health activism in the United States
- Apply critical perspectives to contemporary socio-cultural issues of health
- Construct original critiques of health phenomena from the student's perspective
- Demonstrate the ability to locate health issues within the complex and shifting network of power relations
- Explain and interpret health issues from course readings with critical attention to race, gender, sexuality and nationality
- Use appropriate evidence to develop a strong written argument
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills by evaluating main arguments, evidence, and the chain of reasoning present in a text

Attendance policy:

Each student will be allowed three absences to account for sick days, religious holidays, and the like. After three absences, your grade will be lowered by three points for each additional absence. Three tardies equals one absence. Arriving significantly late or leaving significantly early counts as an absence. If you have extenuating circumstances, please discuss them with me ahead of time.

Please turn cellular phones OFF during class

Required Course materials:

- All course readings are posted on Carmen Canvas under "Files."

I expect that students complete all assignments and readings prior to class to allow for engaging, productive class discussions.

During the course we will practice a close reading of the texts. Therefore, I expect you to obtain all required texts in time for you to read and make notes so that you will be prepared for class. All texts are available electronically. Whether you print out the texts or read electronic copies from a computer, you need to develop a note taking method. Bring your notes to class, as well as, readings. You will be referring to them during our class discussions.

Assignments:

This course will utilize a mix of evaluative methods, including in-class assignments and participation, writing assignments, and a final term paper.

Participation	20 points	20%
2 Ruminations	16 points (8 points each)	16%
Midterm	15 points	15%
8 Reading Response Posts	24 points (3 points each)	24%
Presentation	5 points	5%
Final Essay	20 points	20%

You may notice that there is a total of 100 possible points for course assignments; therefore, the total points possible for each assignment also equals its weight (%) in the overall grade.

- Attendance and Engaged Classroom Participation (20 points)

I expect students to participate thoughtfully and consistently in our shared learning environment. This is a discussion-based class. Therefore, you are required to come to class having read the materials assigned, with materials and your notes in hand, and ready to discuss them. You are required to bring the assigned texts to class each day; they may be printed out or viewed on laptops or tablets, but not cell phones. Participation will be evaluated based on active participation in-group discussions (e.g. asking questions, deep listening, offering thoughtful comments).

! No more than three unexcused absences are permitted. Each additional absence will result in a penalty of three (3) points from your attendance and participation grade.

20 points – You make regular contributions to discussion. You encourage, expand or discuss others' ideas and readings;

15 points – You thoughtfully contribute to class discussions occasionally;

10 points – You attend but don't participate in class discussions.

If you are anxious about speaking in class, please prepare written questions about the texts and possible comments about sections you deem particularly important before class. If this insufficient, please talk to me early in the semester.

- Ruminations (16 points)

During the first weeks of classes, students should write ruminations on two topics out of four. You should choose TWO topics from the following list:

- #1 Inequalities and Health – due January 20, Sunday 11:59
- #2 The Economies of Health – due February 3, Sunday 11:59
- #3 Historical Dimensions – due February 10, Sunday 11:59
- #4 Environment and Health – due February 17, Sunday 11:59

Your rumination should be between 400-450 words. You should complete TWO ruminations over the course of the semester (each 8 points). In each essay (400-450 words) you will do the following: critically reflect on the idea/s (discussed in the class or/and in the readings for the topic). Support your rumination by citing at least 2 articles assigned for the topic (a video is not considered for a citation of the article) and by providing specific real-world examples or connections to your life experiences (you can use video as an example). You should upload your Ruminations through the toolbar's section "Assignments" on Carmen.

- MIDTERM (15 points) – TBA
- Reading Response Posts (24 points) - due almost every Tuesday and Thursday by 7:00 pm (starting from Friday 02/15, week 6)

Before almost each class, starting from week 6, students should post in the toolbar's section "Discussions" on Carmen. See the Course Schedule for the detailed deadlines. In general, there are 11 classes for which you may do a post. You need to choose and post only for eight classes. It means that you should complete EIGHT posts over the course of the semester.

The goal of reading responses is to prepare you for class by encouraging you to read for ideas, identify the key concepts and the main argument, and identify provocative passages relevant to the main argument. In the post, you can highlight the issues that seem central to you or identify questions that provoke thought, unsettle or remain uncertain for you.

Your responses should be at least 150 words in length and comment on (at least) one of the following things:

- Choose a passage of interest and analyze it.
- Elaborate how the reading relates to your experience.
- Discuss what is convincing about the author's claims, and where they could be developed.
- Say what lingering questions or points of confusion remain for you.
- Describe how the reading contributes to the section of the course we are in.
- Provide a summary of the main argument of the reading, identifying and defining key concepts and ideas.

Reading responses should focus on one reading or the set of readings for the certain class. Therefore they must be posted on the Carmen discussion forum a day before the class (Tuesday or Thursday) by 7:00 p.m.

See the Course Schedule for specific deadlines.

A student may turn in only 1 reading response per class.

No late responses will be accepted

- Final Essay

There are two parts to this assignment:

- Presentation (5 points): week 15 is devoted to the presentations of students' ideas for the final essay. In the presentation you should articulate your general idea for the paper, what sources are you going to use, your opinion on why the topic of choice is important. Guiding information about the presentations will be provided to you separately.
- Paper (20 points) - due April 26, Friday 11:59

This paper will consist of 800-900-word essay. For this paper you will need to select one issue/ problem/ data on health. Clearly identify this problem in your paper and provide a detailed description and analysis of that information along with your assessment about the possible effects of such information. Explain and interpret health problem with critical attention to race, gender, sexuality and nationality, ability, etc. Support your answer by using the readings. You should cite passages or ideas from at least 2 different readings read in class. Guiding questions or prompts will be provided to you separately. You should upload Essay through the toolbar's section "Assignments."

Grades:

This course is graded using the OSU standard grading scheme:

93–100: A	87–89.9: B+	77–79.9: C+	67 –69.9: D+	Below 60: E
90–92.9: A-	83–86.9: B	73–76.9: C	60 –66.9: D
	80–82.9: B-	70 –72.9: C-

Ruminations and Reading Response Posts are graded according to the principle Pass/Failure. If your assignment meets the requirements you will get points. The grading rubrics for the Midterm, and Final Essay will be provided separately.

Late assignments:

You are required to submit ALL assignments by the published deadline. Late assignments will not be accepted unless confirmed by me prior to due date. Since due dates are made explicit on the syllabus, please plan accordingly.

Faculty feedback and response time

- For all assignments, you can generally expect feedback within 7-10 days.
- I will reply to e-mails within 24 hours on school days.
- Please check your email daily and reply to emails within 24 hours. When emailing me, YOU MUST INCLUDE WGSST 2325 in the subject line. Email is the best way to contact me.

Discussion and communication guidelines

The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: You should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online.
- Citing your sources: When we have academic discussions, please cite your sources to back up what you say. (For the course materials, list at least the title and page numbers. For online sources, include a link.)
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your academic posts in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying them into the Carmen discussion.

Copyright disclaimer

The materials used in connection with this course may be subject to copyright protection and are only for the use of students officially enrolled in the course for the educational purposes associated with the course. Copyright law must be considered before copying, retaining, or disseminating materials outside of the course.

Content warning

Some contents of this course may involve texts or media that may be triggering to some students due to descriptions of and/or scenes depicting acts of violence, acts of war, or sexual violence and its aftermath. If needed, please take care of yourself while watching/reading this material (taking a break, debriefing with a friend, contacting a Sexual Violence Support Coordinator at 614-292-1111, or Counseling and Consultation Services at 614-292-5766, and contacting the instructor if needed).

Statement on title IX

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at <http://titleix.osu.edu> or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator, Kellie Brennan, at titleix@osu.edu

Mandatory Reporter Statement

As an instructor, one of my responsibilities is to help create a safe learning environment on our campus. I also have a mandatory reporting responsibility related to my role as an instructor. It is my goal that you feel able to share information related to your life experiences in classroom discussions, in your written work, and in our one-on-one meetings. I will seek to keep information you share private to the greatest extent possible. However, I am required to share information regarding sexual misconduct or information about a crime that may have occurred on Ohio State's campus with the University. Students may speak to someone confidentially by calling 1-866-294-9350 or through the Ohio State Anonymous Reporting Line.

Ohio State's academic integrity policy

Academic integrity is essential to maintaining an environment that fosters excellence in teaching, research, and other educational and scholarly activities. Thus, The Ohio State University and the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) expect that all students have read and understand the University's Code of Student Conduct, and that all students will complete all academic and scholarly assignments with fairness and honesty. Students must recognize that failure to follow the rules and guidelines established in the University's Code of Student Conduct and this syllabus may constitute "Academic Misconduct."

The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: "Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the University, or subvert the educational process." Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the University's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an "excuse" for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by University Rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the University's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the University.

If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact me.

Student Academic Resources and Services:

❖ ACADEMIC ADVISING AT OHIO STATE

<http://advising.osu.edu/welcome.shtml>

Undergraduate academic advising at Ohio State (Columbus campus) is provided by the colleges and/or the departments that offer the programs—the degree(s), the major(s), the minor(s)—a student is pursuing. Academic advisors are professional staff members who are trained to help undergraduate students navigate the complexities of the University, the academic curriculum in your major, and serve as a resource for you during your time as a student. You can expect your advisor to provide accurate, helpful information in regard to degree planning and curriculum requirements, refer you to appropriate University resources when necessary, and help you understand your role and responsibilities as an undergraduate student at The Ohio State University. Advisors can help plan your academic journey, navigate policies and requirements, identify internships and careers and more.

Since there is not a central advising office at Ohio State's Columbus campus, you will need to select the college(s), school(s), and/or program(s) you are interested in to schedule an advising appointment, learn how to declare a major, have transfer credit evaluated, apply to graduate, and more (http://advising.osu.edu/colleges_schools_programs.shtml).

❖ OSU STUDENT ADVOCACY CENTER

Phone: 614-292-1111

<http://advocacy.osu.edu/>

Helps students navigate campus policies and connect them to important resources if they are facing an academic, financial, health, or personal crisis.

❖ OSU COUNSELING & CONSULTATION SERVICES

Phone: 614-292-5766
<http://www.ccs.ohio-state.edu/>

Provides counseling and consultation to currently enrolled undergraduate, graduate and professional students through individual & group counseling, psychiatry, nutritional counseling, couple's counseling, outreach and workshops, crisis support and debriefing, and community referrals.
