Course Description

This course is designed to assist and guide independent work. Each semester will focus on special topics in painting and drawing, with a wide emphasis upon current directions, new media, techniques, social issues. Students will be encouraged to explore the use of a wide range of materials in experimental approaches to drawing and painting. Individual work will be augmented by lectures, discussions and field trips

Course Learning Objectives

At the successful completion of the course the student will:

- Create self-driven works of art that engage personal, social, material, thematic, theoretical and historical inquiry.
- Through writing and discussion, describe and express and test ideas in contemporary painting and drawing.
- Draw from a range of historical and contemporary artworks in order to understand the invention of form and the creation of meaning within the field of art.
- Demonstrate visual and material literacies in making artwork.
- Further the development of an individual studio practice.
- Translate conventions of observation, expression, conceptualization, abstraction and other approaches to art making from western and non-western traditions into their own working methods.
- Examine and test the assumed boundaries of disciplines and contexts for art making.

- Explain the connections their own work makes to local and global ideas / movements.
- Challenge and appreciate the influence of ideologies.

How this course works

Format and Mode of delivery

This is a studio course. You will be provided with dedicated workspace in the classrooms. These spaces need to be maintained by you. Maintenance staff will not clean these spaces, because we will keep the doors locked to protect your personal belongings. You are expected to use the dedicated space to work during class periods, but students may elect to work at home between classes. Students have access to the studios at all times. Works will be shared with the instructor for feedback regularly throughout the semester. Group critiques will be conducted at least three times during the semester.

Credit hours and work expectations

The expectation is that your full attention will be given to this course during the scheduled two hour and forty minute long meeting time. In addition, there is an expectation that at least three additional hours of your time each week will be dedicated to completing work associated with this three-credit course in order to earn a C. In simpler terms: you will be expected to work in class and an additional three hours per week of work is required to earn a C. As always, the more you do, the better your grade.

You will be required to create and maintain your own u.edu site to post your work and comments.

There will be several dates when responses to readings are due on Carmen. The response should be in the form of one Question, one Comment and one Quote (QCQ). The schedule below lists dates of readings, critiques, work sessions and when postings on your sites are due.

TEXT (sample, may change according to semester/instructor)

PAINTING Documents of Contemporary Art, MIT Press, edited by Terry R. Myers. It is available now on Amazon for $18.50. Of course, you may purchase it from other booksellers, but Amazon has the lowest price I've found.

Participation and Evaluation

ATTENDANCE:

This is a studio course, so time during class is provided to work. Students in the past that have received an A or A- in this course inevitably had flawless attendance. You are allowed two free absences. Any absence beyond that without a medical or dean's excuse will receive one mark off your top grade (for example A- drops to B+). We will begin right at 11:10, either on Zoom or in class. Lateness will affect your grade: two late arrivals equal one absence. Your Work and Participation grades will be assessed first, and then adjusted for attendance.

According to the Department of Art Attendance Policy, for courses meeting twice per week, students who are absent a sixth (6) time will be expected to withdraw from the course. If the absence maximum is reached after the withdrawal period, a failing (E) grade will be given in the course.

PARTICIPATION:

Discussion requires more than just talk. Please consider how you pay attention and listen to others, ask questions of your peers and me, engage your peers in student-to-student cross talk, take responsibility for picking up the dialogue when we hit silences or points of disagreement, and help keep the conversation on track. This will help keep the discourse moving in a democratic direction, where a variety of ideas, theories, and interpretations coexist and help inform one another. Your participation includes being prepared and offering thoughtful comments throughout the course. Discussion, participation, active engagement in the course materials, and characteristics of comments will be assessed in aggregate. Failing to pay attention, not contributing to discussions, or exhibiting distracted or distracting behavior during class will negatively impact your grade. If there is any reason that you cannot fully participate in class please let me know as soon as possible so we can discuss your options.

Grading

My Role as Instructor:

The instructor in Advanced Painting and Drawing plays a different role than that in more assignment-based courses. The instructor will act as coach, encourage you, help you interpret your work and tell you what they see in it. Often the instructor will see the potential in work, and will almost certainly encourage you to do more, even if you don't see it yet...in fact, they will almost always think you can do more! At times you will receive suggestions in response to what you are doing. These suggestions might be different for different students, depending on their work and the challenges they are facing with it. It may be suggested to make a painting in one day, for example, or to make five drawings of a painting you're struggling with. While an instructor cannot "make" you do any of the things "assigned" to you, you are expected to take them seriously. If you choose to not follow these suggestions, that is your prerogative, but you should be prepared to defend your decision. The instructor is willing to work as hard as you are in order to help you progress in your artwork.

Grading:

Your grades are based on three categories:

Your Artwork 70%
Participation/Readings/Lectures/Discussions/ Critiques 20%
u.osu.edu site 10%

Grades will be given after the midterm critique and at the end of the semester.

Your Artwork will be graded by my assessment of two qualities:

- Seriousness: This means how hard and consistently you work and translate your ideas into work. Needless to say, the people that get the best grades are always those that do the most work. To get an A or B, you should plan to spend at least as many hours outside of class working as you do inside of class.
- Progress: This is necessarily relative to the skills and experience of each student as they enter the class. I will assess your progress by how you as an individual develop with the ideas and materials you are engaging during the arc of the course. How you exhibit ambition is one way to think about progress.

You will receive a midterm grade. Otherwise, I will discuss your work with you on a nearly weekly basis so you should feel like you are getting regular feedback. This feedback will not be in the form of a tangible grade, but I will let you know if you are not putting enough effort into your work. If you are concerned at any time, please speak to me during these discussions or make an appointment for office hours.

Grading Scale

A (93–100)	Work, initiative, and participation of exceptional quality.
A- (90–92.9)	Work, initiative and participation of very high quality.
B+ (87–89.9)	Work, initiative and participation of high quality which reflects higher than average abilities.
B (83–86.9)	Very good work, initiative and participation that satisfies the goals of the course.
B- (80–82.9)	Slightly above average work, initiative and participation that satisfies the goals of the course.
C+ (77–79.9)	Average work, initiative and participation which reflects an understanding of course material.
C (73–76.9)	Adequate work; student has a less than average level of initiative and participation.
C- (70–72.9)	Passing but below good academic standing; student has a less than average level of work, initiative and participation.
D+ (67–69.9)	Below average work, initiative and participation.
D (60–66.9)	Well below average work, initiative and participation.

Commented [LL1]: The grading breakdown feels like remote learning scale, particularly the video assignment. Perhaps 20% for participation, readings, etc. – including crits?

College Policies

Academic Misconduct

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations and artwork created in studio courses. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct at <https://studentconduct.osu.edu/for-students/understanding-the-student-conduct-process/>. The Department of Art adheres to all aspects of this Code of Conduct especially in matters relating to the following: Academic Misconduct, Endangering Health or Safety, Sexual Misconduct, Destruction of Property, and Theft/Unauthorized Use of Property.

Reusing past work

In general, you are prohibited in university courses from turning in work from a past class to your current class, even if you modify it. If you want to build on past research or revisit a topic explored in previous courses, please discuss the situation with your me at the start of the assignment/project.

Disability Services

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Student Life Disability Services. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion.

Grade Forgiveness

The Grade Forgiveness Rule allows undergraduate students to petition to repeat up to three courses. The grade in the repeated course will permanently replace the original grade for the course in the calculation of the student's cumulative GPA.

Only a first repeat can be used this way; all other repeats of the same course will be included under the general course repeatability rule.

The original grade will remain on the student's transcript and some graduate/professional school admission processes will re-calculate the student's GPA to include the original grade. See: <https://advising.osu.edu/grade-forgiveness-0> for more information.

Diversity

The Ohio State University affirms the importance and value of diversity in the student body. Our programs and curricula reflect our multicultural society and global economy and seek to provide opportunities for students to learn more about persons who are different from them. We are committed to maintaining a community that recognizes and values the inherent worth and dignity of every person; fosters sensitivity, understanding, and mutual respect among each member of our community; and encourages each individual to strive to reach ~~his or her~~ their own potential. Discrimination against any individual based upon protected status, which is defined as age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status, is prohibited. Sexual Misconduct/Relationship Violence

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at <http://titleix.osu.edu> or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator, Kellie Brennan, at titleix@osu.edu

Mental Health Services

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know are suffering from any of the aforementioned conditions, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) by visiting ccs.osu.edu or calling 614-292-5766. CCS is located on the 4th Floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th Floor of Lincoln Tower. You can reach an on call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766 and 24 hour emergency help is also available through the 24/7 National Suicide Prevention Hotline at 1-800-273-TALK or at suicidepreventionlifeline.org.

Trigger Language Warning

Some content of this course may involve media that may be triggering to some students due to descriptions of and/or scenes depicting acts of violence, acts of war, or sexual violence and its aftermath. If needed, please take care of yourself while watching/reading this material (leaving classroom to take a water/bathroom break, debriefing with a friend, contacting a Sexual Violence Support Coordinator at 614-292-1111, or Counseling and Consultation Services at 614-292-5766, and contacting the instructor if needed). Expectations are that we all will be respectful of our classmates while consuming this media and that we will create a safe space for each other. Failure to show respect to each other may result in dismissal from the class.
