Course Change Information

What change is being proposed? (If more than one, what changes are being proposed?)

Add GE Citizenship theme designation to this course

What is the rationale for the proposed change(s)?

This current course represents an advanced study of the focal theme of citizenship (please see attached GE Theme Courses file). Adding the Citizenship Theme GE to RS/IS 4873 will highlight the importance of that course in relation to other parts of our curriculum, including other courses such as Religion and American Culture, Religion and Law, Introduction to Comparative Religion, and others that highlight the importance of our work in comparative studies for understanding citizenship in the context of globalization and transnationalism.

What are the programmatic implications of the proposed change(s)?

(e.g. program requirements to be added or removed, changes to be made in available resources, effect on other programs that use the course?)

We anticipate that adding this Theme will encourage greater enrollment. The course itself counts toward course requirements for majors in Religious Studies. Further, the course is cross-listed with International Studies, and International Studies has agreed to the addition of the Citizenship Theme to this course.

Is approval of the request contingent upon the approval of other course or curricular program request? Yes

Please identify the pending request and explain its relationship to the proposed changes(s) for this course (e.g. cross listed courses, new or revised program)

This course is cross-listed with International Studies, which has approved of the addition of the new GE Theme.

Is this a request to withdraw the course? No

Dear Dr. Cohen and Dr. Fredal,

Thank you for your comments on my syllabus for Religious Studies and International Studies 4873, which was proposed for the GE Theme: Citizenship for a Diverse and Just World. I found your suggestions very helpful. Your reviewing faculty asked that I include this cover letter explaining the changes I have made in the revised syllabus. In addition, they also asked that I address one other the contingency and one recommendation:

--The panel asked that bibliographic information for the “Short readings On-line”, as discussed on page 3 of the syllabus, be added to the course syllabus. I have therefore added a bibliography at the end of the syllabus that provides full information, including page numbers or URL, for each of the readings.

-- The recommended removing the letter grade of D- from the grading scale, as this is not a letter grade The Ohio State University officially awards. I have done so.

-- In addition, I have clarified in syllabus when readings are to be completed (noting that they should be completed before the class period) and when films would be viewed (noting that they will be view during the given class period).

Please let me know if I need to make any other changes or if you require any additional information. Thank you again for your feedback.

Best regards,

CONTEMPORARY RELIGIOUS MOVEMENTS
IN A GLOBAL CONTEXT

Purpose and Outline

At the beginning of the twentieth century, many sociologists had predicted that religion would gradually wane in importance as our world became increasingly scientific, rational, and technological. And yet today, at the beginning of the twenty-first century, it would seem that exactly the opposite has happened: new religious movements have proliferated wildly throughout the world in the last century and have become intimately tied to the larger questions of citizenship, identity, and community in a global context.

This course will examine a series of new religious movement that have emerge within the last 150 years, placing them within the larger contexts of globalization, transnationalism, and citizenship. These will include: the Native American Church, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Spiritualism, the Nation of Islam, Rastafari, Vodou, and various forms of religious terrorism (such as al-Qaeda, ISIS, and American-based white supremacist groups). In the course of our discussion, we will ask: why has religion not in fact waned as a global force but instead become even more powerful and relevant in the last century? How is religion tied in complex ways to questions of citizenship, nationalism, and racial and ethnic identity? Why do religious movements often become linked to political violence and terrorism?

In addition to lectures, discussions and films, the class will involve field trips to new religious groups in the Columbus area. Students will be required to write three short papers and develop one group presentation based on some new religious movement not covered in class.

As a General Education course for the Citizenship theme, the class will explore a range of perspectives on local, national, and global citizenship; it will discuss the ways in which these interact with cultural traditions, structures of power and advocacy for social change; and in so doing it will help students acquire the skills needed for intercultural competence as global citizens. As a key aspect of individual and collective identity, religion offers a unique lens through which to examine questions of citizenship in a range of different historical periods and political formations .

GENERAL EDUCATION
GOALS AND LEARNING OUTCOMES

GE Themes: General

Goal 1: Successful students will analyze an important topic or idea at a more advanced and in-depth level than the foundations.

Expected Learning Outcomes: 1.1 Engage in critical and logical thinking about the topic or idea of the theme.

1.2 Engage in an advanced, in-depth, scholarly exploration of the topic or idea of the theme.

Goal 2: Successful students will integrate approaches to the theme by making Connections to out-of-classroom experiences with academic knowledge or across disciplines and/or to work they have done in previous classes and that they anticipate doing in future.

Expected Learning Outcomes: 2.1 Identify, describe, and synthesize approaches or experiences as they apply to the theme.

2.2 Demonstrate a developing sense of self as a learner through reflection, self-assessment, and creative work, building on prior experiences to respond to new and challenging contexts.

GE Themes: Citizenship for a Just and Diverse World

Goal 1: Citizenship: Successful students will explore and analyze a range of perspectives on local, national, or global citizenship, and apply the knowledge, skills, and dispositions that constitute citizenship.

Expected Learning Outcomes: 1.1 Describe and analyze a range of perspectives on what constitutes citizenship and how it differs across political, cultural, national, global, and/or historical communities.

1.2 Identify, reflect on, and apply the knowledge, skills, and dispositions for intercultural competence as a global citizen.

Goal 2: Just and Diverse World: Successful students will examine notions of justice amidst difference and analyze and critique how these interact with historically and socially constructed ideas of citizenship and membership within societies, both within the US and/or around the world.

Expected Learning Outcomes: 2.1 Examine, critique, and evaluate various expressions and implications of diversity, equity, inclusion, and explore a variety of lived experiences.

2.2 Analyze and critique the intersection of concepts of justice, difference, citizenship, and how these interact with cultural traditions, structure of power, and/or advocacy for social change.

We meet the outcomes by:

--Examining primary and secondary sources from a range of contemporary religious movements, with special attention to their role in questions of citizenship and identity in a global context.

--Conducting cross-cultural, comparative analysis, which will introduce us to a range of perspectives on how religion relates to citizenship in various geographic and political contexts.

--Preparing ourselves for the responsibilities of global citizenship in a diverse and interconnected world by cultivating tools for critical thinking and through assignments that bring insights from the course to bear on contemporary issues.

--Engaging in difficult but civil conversations across our differences about the intersections of religion and citizenship.

REQUIREMENTS AND EVALUATIONS

Evaluations in this class will be based on four things:

1. Attendance and participation (20% of final grade). This means: attendance to all classes and vigorous participation in class discussions. More than two unexcused absences will result in a lower grade (loss of 2 points per additional absence)
2. Generating discussion questions based on the readings (15% of final grade). Students will post 1-2 discussion questions on the readings once a week. Question should be posted on our Carmen site the night before class.
3. Three short written papers (4-6 pages) on assigned topics (45% of final grade). These papers will directly engage the Citizenship theme by examining multiple different perspectives on local, national, or global citizenship and discussing concepts of justice, difference, power, and social change. The third paper in particular will ask students to reflect critically on the content of the course as a whole in order to demonstrate the knowledge, skills, and dispositions for intercultural competence as a global citizen.
4. Group project on a new religious movement not covered in class (20% of final grade). Students will work in groups of 3-5 members and will do a 30-40 minute presentation to the class. The project must also engage the Citizenship theme by reflecting critically on the relationship of religion and questions of justice, difference, power, and social change in the specific example chosen by the group.

GE THEME COURSES

Overview

Courses that are accepted into the General Education (GE) Themes must meet two sets of Expected Learning Outcomes (ELOs): those common for all GE Themes and one set specific to the content of the Theme. This form begins with the criteria common to all themes and has expandable sections relating to each specific theme.

A course may be accepted into more than one Theme if the ELOs for each theme are met. Courses seeking approval for multiple Themes will complete a submission document for each theme. Courses seeking approval as a 4-credit, Integrative Practices course need to complete a similar submission form for the chosen practice. It may be helpful to consult your Director of Undergraduate Studies or appropriate support staff person as you develop and submit your course.

Please enter text in the boxes to describe how your class will meet the ELOs of the Theme to which it applies. Please use language that is clear and concise and that colleagues outside of your discipline will be able to follow. You are encouraged to refer specifically to the syllabus submitted for the course, since the reviewers will also have that document. Because this document will be used in the course review and approval process, you should be as specific as possible, listing concrete activities, specific theories, names of scholars, titles of textbooks etc.

Course subject & number

General Expectations of All Themes

GOAL 1: Successful students will analyze an important topic or idea at a more advanced and in-depth level than the foundations.

Please briefly identify the ways in which this course represents an advanced study of the focal theme. In this context, “advanced” refers to courses that are e.g., synthetic, rely on research or cutting-edge findings, or deeply engage with the subject matter, among other possibilities. (50-500 words)

Course subject & number

ELO 1.1 Engage in critical and logical thinking about the topic or idea of the theme. Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met. (50-700 words)

ELO 1.2 Engage in an advanced, in-depth, scholarly exploration of the topic or idea of the theme. Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met. (50-700 words)

Course subject & number

GOAL 2: Successful students will integrate approaches to the theme by making connections to out-of-classroom experiences with academic knowledge or across disciplines and/or to work they have done in previous classes and that they anticipate doing in future.

ELO 2.1 Identify, describe, and synthesize approaches or experiences as they apply to the theme.

Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met. (50-700 words)

ELO 2.2 Demonstrate a developing sense of self as a learner through reflection, self-assessment, and creative work, building on prior experiences to respond to new and challenging contexts. Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met.

(50-700 words)

Course subject & number

Specific Expectations of Courses in Citizenship

GOAL 1: Successful students will explore and analyze a range of perspectives on local, national, or global citizenship, and apply the knowledge, skills, and dispositions that constitute citizenship.

ELO 1.1 Describe and analyze a range of perspectives on what constitutes citizenship and how it differs across political, cultural, national, global, and/or historical communities. Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met. (50-700 words)

ELO 1.2 Identify, reflect on, and apply the knowledge, skills and dispositions required for intercultural competence as a global citizen. Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met. (50-700 words)

Course subject & number

GOAL 2: Successful students will examine notions of justice amidst difference and analyze and critique how these interact with historically and socially constructed ideas of citizenship and membership within societies, both within the US and/or around the world.

ELO 2.1 Examine, critique, and evaluate various expressions and implications of diversity, equity, inclusion, and explore a variety of lived experiences. Please link this ELO to the course goals and topics and indicate specific activities/assignments through which it will be met. (50-700 words)

2.2 Analyze and critique the intersection of concepts of justice, difference, citizenship, and how these interact with cultural traditions, structures of power and/or advocacy for social change. Dear Mark,

Our faculty director, Marcus Kurtz.61, concurs. You can send the proposal to Richard Meltz.2@osu.edu, our curriculum person and he will ensure we submit the proposal at the same time.

I'm excited!

Cheers,

Good afternoon, Karlene,

Hugh has put together a proposal to associate RS 4873 with the Citizenship Theme. Could you please confirm that IS would agree to adding this distinction? If we're all in agreement, I will send you (or someone else if they're submitting forms to the curriculum site) the Theme proposal, syllabus, and PDF copy of the change course request.

Best,
Mark Anthony

Ps/ If there's any information you might need at this time, do let me know!

Hi Mark,

If your department is interested in submitting either the 3661 or 4873 under a new GE/Theme category, we are definitely open to that suggestion. These are the only two classes we have cross-listed.

Neither are currently approved as GEs so we had not planned to submit them either as foundation or theme.

The City and culture I believe would fit nicely under the Lived Environments theme.

If you decide to submit either we are happy to add them as such on this side as well.

Karlene

1. Do you know of any other courses that are currently cross-listed with our department, which I have not listed above?
2. Do you plan to propose 4873 as a new GE? If so, Foundation or Theme?
3. If you plan to propose it, would it be under the new GE rubric proposed by ASC on their spreadsheet? And/or under the REGD rubric?
4. Regarding 3661, is this a course you know of that exists among current/recent offerings? Or should it be deleted?

Good afternoon, Karlene,

I don't think we've yet met, but I am the new Academic Program Coordinator in Comparative Studies.

We are currently in the process of looking through our cross-listed courses and beginning to figure out how they might be (re)categorized with the new GE system. This would include COMPSTD/INTSTDS 4873 Contemporary Religious Movements in Global Context. I also have on my list COMPSTD/INSTDS 3661 The City & Culture.

Some questions we have for you at this time:

1. Do you know of any other courses that are currently cross-listed with our department, which I have not listed above?
2. Do you plan to propose 4873 as a new GE? If so, Foundation or Theme?
3. If you plan to propose it, would it be under the new GE rubric proposed by ASC on their spreadsheet? And/or under the REGD rubric?
4. Regarding 3661, is this a course you know of that exists among current/recent offerings? Or should it be deleted?

Best,
Mark Anthony
