Course description

How has women's activism changed the world? How have cisgender and transwomen's struggles for political, social, sexual, and economic rights transformed the course of global history? How have women's movements shaped revolutions and redefined concepts of rights?

This course examines the history of women's activism from a global perspective. We will investigate women's participation in a wide range of movements, including struggles for suffrage and voting rights, nationalism and anti-imperialism, reproductive and sexual rights, and ecofeminism and environmental justice. We will take examples from many parts of the world, and also ask how women's activism has transcended and challenged national boundaries.

Course learning outcomes

1. Analyze how women's struggles (including of cisgender and transgender women) for political, social, sexual, and economic rights have transformed the course of global history.
2. Analyze how women's movements have redefined concepts of rights.
3. Study the history of how "woman" became a political category that motivated activism and struggle.

4. Examine challenges to the category of “woman” based on race, ethnicity, gender, and other systems and institutions of power.
5. Investigate points of commonality and difference in women’s struggles across diverse geographies.

Attendance and engaged classroom participation

I expect students to participate thoughtfully, respectfully, and consistently in our shared learning environment. Participation in this course will involve being prepared for discussions by completing all assignments and required readings prior to class.

Participation will be evaluated based on active participation in class discussions (e.g. asking questions, deep listening, offering thoughtful comments), attendance checks based on assigned readings, and other classroom activities.

Discussion posts (5 total)

The course is structured around weekly reading assignments and discussions of those readings. To prepare for class discussions, students are required to write a weekly discussion post (200 words) for assigned readings, on Carmen in advance of our class meetings. Students are encouraged to read each other's posts prior to class discussion. Please note that there are 13 posts throughout the semester; students need to submit 5 posts in total to earn full credit. Discussion post due dates will be posted on carmen.

Response Essays:

Throughout the semester, students will write two essays in response to course material. Students will be given writing prompts and asked to address the major themes and arguments of the assigned readings. Essays should be 5-6 pages, double-spaced.

Final Project:

Students' final projects will analyze an example of women's activism. Detailed final project guidelines will be distributed in class and posted to carmen.

Late assignments

All assignments lose 5% of the total grade for every day they are late. If there are extenuating circumstances, please contact me as soon as possible.

GE Foundation Courses

Overview

Courses that are accepted into the General Education (GE) Foundations provide introductory or foundational coverage of the subject of that category. Additionally, each course must meet a set of Expected Learning Outcomes (ELO). Courses may be accepted into more than one Foundation, but ELOs for each Foundation must be met. It may be helpful to consult your Director of Undergraduate Studies or appropriate support staff person as you develop and submit your course.

This form contains sections outlining the ELOs of each Foundation category. You can navigate between them using the Bookmarks function in Acrobat. Please enter text in the boxes to describe how your class meets the ELOs of the Foundation(s) to which it applies. Because this document will be used in the course review and approval process, you should use language that is clear and concise and that colleagues outside of your discipline will be able to follow. Please be as specific as possible, listing concrete activities, specific theories, names of scholars, titles of textbooks etc. Your answers will be evaluated in conjunction with the syllabus submitted for the course.

Accessibility

If you have a disability and have trouble accessing this document or need to receive the document in another format, please reach out to Meg Daly at daly.66@osu.edu or call 614-247-8412.
