Course description

This is a co-taught in-person course in Film Studies and Development Studies that explores relationships between the lived environments of the developing world and their representations in film. In this course, which is designed to satisfy the requirements of the General Education “Lived Environments” theme, students will view narrative and documentary films from around the world and engage the stories they tell by way of readings on global poverty, inequality, environmental degradation, among other themes. This course engages a diverse range of approaches to studying the developing world, focusing on the production of knowledge and structures of perception that shape relations between social groups at different spatial scales.

The goals of this course are as follows:

- (1) to deepen students' understanding of critical approaches to the study of the so-called developing world
- (2) to develop students' analytical skills in interpreting different modes of representation in film and their corresponding social stakes, and
- (3) to advance students' critical thinking skills through engagement with a variety of texts.

Course learning outcomes

By the end of this course, successful students should be able to:

- Understand the problems of global poverty and inequality from a variety of perspectives
- Assess historical patterns of economic and social development
- Critically interpret representations of poverty and inequality in film
- Analyze the way lived environments are depicted on screen
- Understand the role of representation in shaping development realities and perceptions
- Identify cinematic codes and representational strategies in film
- Use advanced concepts in film interpretation to analyze films
- Articulate how filmic modes of representation shape attitudes, beliefs, values, and behaviors

The course goals and learning outcomes align with the general goals of GE Themes courses provided here:

GE Themes: General
Goal 1: Successful students will analyze an important topic or idea at a more advanced and in-depth level than the foundations.	Successful students are able to 1.1 Engage in critical and logical thinking about the topic or idea of the theme.
	1.2 Engage in an advanced, in-depth, scholarly exploration of the topic or idea of the theme.
Goal 2: Successful students will integrate approaches to the theme by making connections to out-of-classroom experiences with academic knowledge or across disciplines and/or to work they have done in previous classes and that they anticipate doing in future.	2.1 Identify, describe, and synthesize approaches or experiences as they apply to the theme. 2.2 Demonstrate a developing sense of self as a learner through reflection, self-assessment, and creative work, building on prior experiences to respond to new and challenging contexts.

The course goals and learning outcomes align with the GE goals of the “Lived Environment” theme provided here:

GE “Lived Environment”
Goals
Goal 1: Successful students will explore a range of perspectives on the interactions and impacts between humans and one or more types of environments (e.g., agricultural, built, cultural, economic, intellectual, natural) in which humans live.	Successful students are able to 1.1 Engage with the complexity and uncertainty of human-environment interactions.
	1.2 Describe examples of environmental change and transformation over time and across space.
Goal 2: Successful students will analyze a variety of perceptions, representations and/or discourses about environments and humans within them.	2.1 Analyze how humans’ interactions with their environments share or have shaped attitudes, beliefs, values, and behaviors. 2.2 Describe how humans perceive and represent the environments with which they interact. 2.3 Analyze and critique conventions, theories, and ideologies that influence discourses around environments.

GRADING AND INSTRUCTOR RESPONSE

How your grade is calculated

ASSIGNMENT CATEGORY	POINTS
Weekly Written Responses	40
Film Analysis (8-10 pages) / Audio-Visual Essay (8-10 minutes)	40
Attendance and Participation (including weekly Discussion Posts)	20
Total	100

Explanation of graded assignments

Written Reflection Posts: These entries are intended as short, reflective essays (about 1 page, single-spaced, or about 500 words) about the readings or films. Prompts will be provided for each assignment.

Film Analysis/Audio-visual essay: The film analysis is a final written project intended to enable you to apply the analytical tools we employ in the course to a selected film. Essays are expected to be 8-10 pages in length and must include the use of at least five background sources related to the topic. The essay can be an extended movie review or a review of a set of films linked thematically around a single topic. Essay topics will be decided by the eighth week of the course, with the final draft due at the end of the semester.

Students may also choose to create an audio-visual essay of 8 to 10 minutes in length as a final project. Audio-visual essays must address a theme covered in the class but can take a creative or interpretive approach to doing so. Students must advise the instructors by week 8 that they plan to do an audio-visual essay and must explain, in writing, how they will complete the assignment, which technologies they intend to use, and what theme the essay will explore. This assignment will be graded on a 0-100 scale.

Attendance and Participation: Students are expected to attend all classes and participate actively in large and small group discussions. The participation grade will also include weekly contributions to the course's online Discussion board on Carmen.

Late assignments

We allow two late Weekly Written Response submissions without deducting grade points. Starting with the third late response assignment, five percentage points will be deducted for each day of lateness. Family or medical emergencies (with documentation) are acceptable excuses for lateness and will not result in point deductions. Please provide documentation so we can record an excused lateness.

HOW THIS COURSE WORKS

Mode of delivery: This course is offered in person.

Communication: The instructors will communicate with the class about assignments, deadlines, and any other crucial information for the course through Carmen Announcements. It is the responsibility of students to read Announcements promptly to keep pace with the class.

Pace of online activities: This course is divided into modules that are arranged around specific themes. Materials and assignments for each module will be available in Carmen. Students are expected to keep pace with deadlines, which are provided in the syllabus. Students will also receive alerts through Carmen to notify them of assignments and deadlines.

Credit hours and work expectations: This is a 4-credit-hour course. According to Ohio State policy, students should expect around 4 hours per week of time spent on direct instruction through Zoom in addition to 8 hours of homework (reading and assignment preparation, for example) to receive a grade of (C) average.

Attendance and participation requirements: The following is a summary of participation expectations:

- Attend lecture periods: TWICE PER WEEK
You are expected to attend in-person lectures during our two designated class times. After three unexcused absences, final grades will drop by a percentage point per class period missed.
- Participate in class-time discussions: We urge everyone to speak voluntarily during class times, and will call on students, as well.
- Office hours: OPTIONAL
We will hold office hours by appointment. Please simply send an email to us with three half-hour periods convenient to you and one of us will respond with a preferred time or a request to provide a few more options in case we're having a particularly busy week.

- Download the Duo Mobile application to all of your registered devices for the ability to generate one-time codes in the event that you lose cell, data, or Wi-Fi service.

If none of these options will meet the needs of your situation, you can contact the IT Service Desk at 614-688-4357 (HELP) and IT support staff will work out a solution with you.

OTHER COURSE POLICIES

Discussion and communication guidelines

The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful. A fruitful learning environment is achieved when everyone knows that their contributions to discussions are welcomed and that their peers are ready to listen with open hearts and minds to what we each have to say.

- Writing style: In any written communications and assignments, you should remember to write using correct grammar, spelling, and punctuation. A crucial part of this course is learning to be a better writer.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels they can express themselves freely and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online. Though it has never occurred in any of my classes and Buckeyes are invariably a kind and thoughtful bunch, I would like to put here an obvious reminder that intentionally demeaning language will not be tolerated in the class.
- Citing your sources: Please make it a regular practice to cite sources whenever appropriate. Use parenthetical citations, which look like this: "Globalization is characterized by a process known as a 'time-space compression' (Harvey, 2005)." If a citation is made in the text, you must also include the full bibliographical reference at the end of your document.

Academic integrity policy

POLICIES FOR THIS COURSE

- Written assignments: Your written assignments should be your own original work. In formal assignments, you should follow MLA style to cite the ideas and words of your research sources. You are encouraged to ask a trusted person to proofread your assignments before you turn them in—but no one else should revise or rewrite your work. Written assignments may undergo review through Turnitin, an online system that checks for plagiarism.
- Reusing past work: In general, you are prohibited in university courses from turning in work from a past class to your current class, even if you modify it. If you want to build on past research or revisit a topic you've explored in previous courses, please discuss the situation with us.
- Falsifying research or results: All research you will conduct in this course is intended to be a learning experience; you should never feel tempted to make your results or your library research look more successful than it was.

OHIO STATE'S ACADEMIC INTEGRITY POLICY

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term “academic misconduct” includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct <http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/>.

Academic integrity is essential to maintaining an environment that fosters excellence in teaching, research, and other educational and scholarly activities. Thus, The Ohio State University and the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) expect that all students have read and understand the university's Code of Student Conduct, and that all students will complete all academic and scholarly assignments with fairness and honesty. Students must recognize that failure to follow the rules and guidelines established in the university's Code of Student Conduct and this syllabus may constitute “Academic Misconduct.”

The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: “Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the university or subvert the educational process.” Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the university's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an excuse for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If we suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, we are obligated by university rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the university's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the university. If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact us.

Your mental health

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you find yourself feeling isolated, anxious or overwhelmed, please know that there are resources to help: ccs.osu.edu. You can reach an on-call counselor when CCS is closed at (614) 292-5766 and 24 hour emergency help is also available through the 24/7 National Prevention Hotline at 1-(800)-273-TALK or at suicidepreventionlifeline.org. The Ohio State Wellness app is also a great resource available at go.osu.edu/wellnessapp.

GE THEME COURSES

Overview

Courses that are accepted into the General Education (GE) Themes must meet two sets of Expected Learning Outcomes (ELOs): those common for all GE Themes and one set specific to the content of the Theme. This form begins with the criteria common to all themes and has expandable sections relating to each specific theme.

A course may be accepted into more than one Theme if the ELOs for each theme are met. Courses seeking approval for multiple Themes will complete a submission document for each theme. Courses seeking approval as a 4-credit, Integrative Practices course need to complete a similar submission form for the chosen practice. It may be helpful to consult your Director of Undergraduate Studies or appropriate support staff person as you develop and submit your course. .

Please enter text in the boxes to describe how your class will meet the ELOs of the Theme to which it applies. Please use language that is clear and concise and that colleagues outside of your discipline will be able to follow. You are encouraged to refer specifically to the syllabus submitted for the course, since the reviewers will also have that document. Because this document will be used in the course review and approval process, you should be as specific as possible, listing concrete activities, specific theories, names of scholars, titles of textbooks etc.

Accessibility

If you have a disability and have trouble accessing this document or need to receive the document in another format, please reach out to Meg Daly at daly.66@osu.edu or call 614-247-8412.
