Course Description

This course is a survey of African American history from Reconstruction through the present. We will also examine the Black experience throughout the Diaspora as it relates to the political and social movements of African Americans.

- Students will be able to identify and analyze important political, social, cultural, religious, and intellectual histories of Black people in the US

General Education

The course fulfills the Historical Studies foundation category of the General Education curriculum.

Goal (Historical Studies)

1A. Successful students will critically investigate and analyze historical ideas, events, persons, material culture and artifacts to understand how they shape society and people.

Expected Learning Outcomes (Historical Studies)

Successful students are able to:

1.1A Identify, differentiate and analyze primary and secondary sources related to historical events, periods or ideas.

1.2A Use methods and theories of historical inquiry to describe and analyze the origin of at least one selected contemporary issue.

1.3A Use historical sources and methods to construct an integrated perspective on at least one historical period, event or idea that influences human perceptions, beliefs and behaviors.

1.4A Evaluate social and ethical implications in historical studies.

Rationale: This course fulfills these learning outcomes by examining primary and secondary sources, actively facilitating course discussions, and having assignments that challenge students to apply the knowledge they are gaining.

Legacy GE Curriculum:

This course also fulfills the Historical Studies category of the legacy GE curriculum.

Goal

Students recognize how past events are studied and how they influence today's society and the human condition.

Expected Learning Outcomes

1. Students construct an integrated perspective on history and the factors that shape human activity.
2. Students describe and analyze the origins and nature of contemporary issues.
3. Students speak and write critically about primary and secondary historical sources by examining diverse interpretations of past events and ideas in their historical contexts.

How This Online Course Works

Mode of delivery: This course is 100% online. There are no required sessions when you must be logged in to Carmen at a scheduled time.

Pace of online activities: This course is divided into weekly modules that are released one week ahead of time. Students are expected to keep pace with weekly deadlines but may schedule their efforts freely within that time frame.

Credit hours and work expectations: This course is worth 3 credit-hours. According to the Ohio State University policy (go.osu.edu/credit hours), all students should expect approximately 3 hours of work per week spent on direct instruction. Such instruction may include the instructor's recorded lectures, supplemental video and listening assignments, and other assigned Carmen activities. In addition, students should expect approximately 6 hours of homework per week. This will usually include approximately 3 hours of reading, 1 hour of participation in discussion boards forums, 1 hour of writing (weekly response papers), and another hour of study (for quizzes and exams) and assignment preparation.

Attendance and participation requirements: Research shows regular participation is one of the highest predictors of success. With that in mind, I have the following expectations for everyone's participation:

- Participating in online activities for attendance: at least twice per week
You are expected to log in to the course in Carmen every week. During most weeks you will probably log in many times. If you have a situation that might cause you to miss an entire week of class, discuss it with me as soon as possible.
- Zoomoffice hours: optional
All live, scheduled events for the course, including my office hours, are optional. I will post recordings of synchronous sessions for those who cannot attend.
- Participating in discussion forums: two or more times per week
As part of your participation, each week you can expect to post at least twice as part of our substantive class discussion on the week's topics.

Grading and Faculty Response

How Your Grade is Calculated

Assignment Category	Points
Discussion Board	25
Weekly Reflections	25
Reading Worksheets	25
Final Paper/Project	25

See Course Schedule for due dates.

Descriptions of Major Course Assignments

Discussion Board (25%)

Every other week you must make at least one initial post and two reply posts. The instructor will also engage in discussion, at times, by posting a topic that students can choose to respond to and engaging with the responses. Each week the instructor will provide a verbal response via a zoom recording that places the discussions in the proper historical context and offer feedback on the topics explored. Your post needs to be original in order to earn full credit (which means you need to read everything posted prior to your submission), and your posts need to be in your own words (not utilizing on-line sources or copy/paste). These are due EVERY OTHER WEEK beginning the first week of the semester.

Length:

Initial posts need to be at least 250 words in length and must be posted by 11:59pm on Friday of each week. You must also include at least one question for classmate to respond to, the question should be well thought out and require some critical thinking skills.

Response posts need to be at least 150 words in length and must be posted by 11:59pm on Sunday of each week. You must complete at least two reply posts each week.

Substance:

A substantive post consists of a well-thought-out response to the question or prompt. It should respond to the prompt in a way that clearly supports a position, begins a new line of thought, or somehow adds to the discussion by critically reflecting on what is being discussed or moving the discussion in a related direction. Replies to classmates' posts should likewise be substantive. Simple replies like, "I agree, your point was well taken" or "I understand your point of view," general comments on the quality of the original post, or simply restating the idea of the person you are responding to do NOT qualify as substantive posts. In addition to being substantive, it is important to recognize that although this is a "discussion," certain linguistic conventions are not appropriate in written form. As our discussion takes place in a written format, it is expected that you will take time to formulate your ideas, organize them, and compose them in the formal style you would use in a term paper.

Reading Worksheets (25%)

There are scheduled reading worksheets that need to be completed, these are open-book BUT must be in your own words. You cannot copy and paste or simply repeat what the book has offered. These worksheets will guide your reading. The questions will all be open ended and require you to build on details from week to week. These are due every Friday. Your lowest two grades will be dropped at the end of the semester.

Weekly Reflections/Responses (25%)

Each week you must upload a weekly reflection on the readings. These are informal and should be at least 2 pages in length. You want to reflect on the themes presented in the readings (erasure of Black women, resistance, love, strength, family, and so on). You can make connections to current issues but be careful not to inappropriately remove moments from their time and space. Ex: What happens in 1670 Virginia is not EXACTLY the same as what happens in 2020 Ohio and what is happening in 2021 Ghana is not exactly the same as what is happening in 2021 USA. You do not need to spend an immense amount of time editing these as they should really be just a moment for you to process what you have learned that week and will NOT be graded on grammar/style you will ONLY be graded on content (meaning I need to know that you actually read and viewed and what you thought about what you read and viewed). The four lowest scores will be dropped at the end of the semester.

Final Paper/Project (25%)

There are two options for the final paper/project

1. You can write a traditional research paper (6-8 pages in length).
2. You can create a visual media project that is 8-10 minutes in length (with a two-page summary)

Detailed description and guidelines will be posted to Carmen. This project will require a proposal that is worth 10% of the Final paper/project grade. Students without an approved proposal will not be able to upload a final paper/project for the course.

Late Assignments

Please refer to Carmen for due dates. Due dates are set to help you stay on pace and to allow timely feedback that will help you complete subsequent assignments.

[Example: Due to the collaborative nature of class discussions, I am not able to grade posts submitted after the final weekly deadline for this assignment type.]

Instructor Feedback and Response Time

I am providing the following list to give you an idea of my intended availability throughout the course. Remember that you can call 614-688-4357 \(HELP\) at any time if you have a technical problem.

- Preferred contact method: If you have a question, please contact me first through my Ohio State email address. I will reply to emails within 24 hours on days when class is in session at the university.
- Class announcements: I will send all important class-wide messages through the Announcements tool in CarmenCanvas. Please check your notification preferences (go.osu.edu/canvas-notifications) to ensure you receive these messages.
- Discussion board: I will check and reply to messages in the discussion boards once mid-week and once at the end of the week.
- Grading and feedback: For assignments submitted before the due date, I will try to provide feedback and grades within seven days. Assignments submitted after the due date may have reduced feedback, and grades may take longer to be posted.

Discussion and Communication Guidelines

[Example: The following are my expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: While there is no need to participate in class discussions as if you were writing a research paper, you should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation. A more conversational tone is fine for non-academic topics.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across online. I will provide specific guidance for discussions on controversial or personal topics.
- Citing your sources: When we have academic discussions, please cite your sources to back up what you say. For the textbook or other course materials, list at least the title and page numbers. For online sources, include a link.
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your academic posts in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying into the Carmen discussion.

Academic Integrity Policy

See Descriptions of Major Course Assignments for specific guidelines about collaboration and academic integrity in the context of this online class.

Ohio State's Academic Integrity Policy

Academic integrity is essential to maintaining an environment that fosters excellence in teaching, research, and other educational and scholarly activities. Thus, The Ohio State University and the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) expect that all students have read and understand the university's Code of Student Conduct (studentconduct.osu.edu), and that all students will complete all academic and scholarly assignments with fairness and honesty. Students must recognize that failure to follow the rules and guidelines established in the university's Code of Student Conduct and this syllabus may constitute "Academic Misconduct."

The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: "Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the university or subvert the educational process." Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the university's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an excuse for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by university rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the university's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the university. If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact me.

Other sources of information on academic misconduct (integrity) to which you can refer include:

Copyright law must be considered before copying, retaining, or disseminating materials outside of the course.

Creating an Environment Free from Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct

The Ohio State University is committed to building and maintaining a community to reflect diversity and to improve opportunities for all. Ohio State does not discriminate on the basis of age, ancestry, color, disability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (childbirth, false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, or recovery therefrom), race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status, or any other bases under the law, in its activities, academic programs, admission, and employment. Members of the university community also have the right to be free from all forms of sexual misconduct: sexual harassment, sexual assault, relationship violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation.

To report harassment, discrimination, sexual misconduct, or retaliation and/or seek confidential and non-confidential resources and supportive measures, contact the Office of Institutional Equity:

Any human resource professional (HRP); 2. Anyone who supervises faculty, staff, students, or volunteers; 3. Chair/director; and 4. Faculty member.

Your Mental Health

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. No matter where you are engaged in distance learning, The Ohio State University's Student Life Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) is here to support you. If you find yourself feeling isolated, anxious or overwhelmed, on-demand mental health resources (go.osu.edu/ccsondemand) are available. You can reach an on-call counselor when CCS is closed at 614- 292-5766. 24-hour emergency help is available through the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline website (suicidepreventionlifeline.org) or by calling 1-800-273-8255\(TALK\). Instructor Presence

For more on instructor presence: <https://teaching.resources.osu.edu/teaching-topics/online-instructor-presence>

Students should have opportunities for regular and substantive academic interactions with the course instructor. Some ways to achieve this objective:

- Regular instructor communications with the class via announcements or weekly check-ins
- Instructional content, such as video, audio, or interactive lessons, that is visibly created or mediated by the instructor
- Regular participation in class discussion, such as in Carmen discussions or synchronous sessions

IXI Regular opportunities for students to receive personal instructor feedback on assignments

Please comment on this dimension of the proposed course (or select/explain methods above):

The following will be shared with all students enrolled in the courses.

If students have a question, they can contact me first through my Ohio State email address. I will reply within 24 hours on days when class is in session at the university.

Class announcements: Each week, I will send all important class-wide messages through the Announcements tool in CarmenCanvas.

Discussion board: I will check and reply to messages in the discussion boards once mid-week and once at the end of the week.

For assignments submitted on time, I will provide individual feedback in 7 days. Assignments submitted after the due date may have a reduced grade, less feedback, and take longer to post. For students who have missed more than one assignment, I will send them an email to check in.

I will also email my students at least twice during the term to see how things are going for them and include meaningful comments based on their progress to date.

Workload Estimation

For more information about calculating online instruction time: ODEE Credit Hour Estimation

Course credit hours align with estimated average weekly time to complete the course successfully. Yes

Course includes direct (equivalent of “in-class”) and indirect (equivalent of “out-of-class”) instruction at a ratio of about 1:2. Yes

Provide a brief outline of a typical course week, categorizing course activities and estimating the approximate time to complete them or participate:

This course is worth 3 credit-hours. According to the Ohio State University policy (go.osu.edu/credithours), all students should expect approximately 3 hours of work per week spent on direct instruction. Such instruction may include the instructor’s recorded lectures, supplemental video and listening assignments, and other assigned Carmen activities. In addition, students should expect approximately 6 hours of homework per week. This will typically include approximately 3 hours of reading, 1 hour of participation in discussion boards forums, 1 hour of writing (weekly response papers), and another hour of study (for quizzes and exams) and assignment preparation.

In the case of course delivery change requests, the course demonstrates comparable rigor in meeting course learning outcomes. Yes

Accessibility

For tools and training on accessibility: Digital Accessibility Services

Instructor(s) teaching the course will have taken Digital Accessibility training (starting in 2022) and will ensure all course materials and activities meet requirements for diverse learners, including alternate means of accessing course materials when appropriate. Yes

Information is provided about the accessibility of all technologies required in the course. All third-party tools (tools without campus-wide license agreements) have their accessibility statements included. Yes

Description of any anticipated accommodation requests and how they have been/will be addressed.
Enter comments...

I expect I will have students who will have a positive Covid test or other medical concerns. I will help these students contact the appropriate campus health care services, and I will work with these students on a case-by-case basis to give them a fair chance to succeed. That may, for example, mean that I will extend a deadline for assignments due during the period of concern and provide additional instruction. To establish reasonable accommodations, I will request that a student with apparent ongoing similar concerns register with Student Life Disability Services (SLDS).

Academic Integrity

For more information: <https://go.osu.edu/teaching-resources-academic-integrity>

The course syllabus includes online-specific policies about academic integrity, including specific parameters for each major assignment: Yes

Assignments are designed to deter cheating and plagiarism and/or course technologies such as online proctoring or plagiarism check or other strategies are in place to deter cheating: Yes

Frequent, Varied Assignments/Assessments

For more information: <https://teaching.resources.osu.edu/teaching-topics/designing-assessments-student>

Student success in online courses is maximized when there are frequent, varied learning activities. Possible approaches:

Opportunities for students to receive course information through a variety of different sources, including indirect sources, such as textbooks and lectures, and direct sources, such as scholarly resources and field observation

Variety of assignment formats to provide students with multiple means of demonstrating learning

Opportunities for students to apply course knowledge and skills to authentic, real-world tasks in assignments

Comment briefly on the frequency and variety of assignment types and assessment approaches used in this course (or select methods above):

Students will be asked to participate in discussion boards, weekly reflections, complete reading worksheets, and complete a final project. For the final projects, the students will choose a topic relevant to the content of the course. This will provide the student with room to explore a topic that interests them more than another. Students are also allowed to create a visual media project as opposed to a traditional paper. In terms of "the weekly readings", some of the assignments will be documentaries and videos that I will ask students to watch. Some students may learn better through seeing a video or film as opposed to reading a paper or book. I will also provide written, video recorded, and individualized feedback to students.

Community Building

For more information: <https://teaching.resources.osu.edu/teaching-topics/student-interaction-online>

Students engage more fully in courses when they have an opportunity to interact with their peers and feel they are part of a community of learners. Possible approaches:

Opportunities for students to interact academically with classmates through regular class discussion or group assignments

Opportunities for students to interact socially with classmates, such as through video conference sessions or a course Q&A forum

Attention is paid to other ways to minimize transactional distance (psychological and communicative gaps between students and their peers, instructor, course content, and institution)

Transparency and Metacognitive Explanations

For more information: <https://teaching.resources.osu.edu/teaching-topics/supporting-student-learning-your>

Students have successful, meaningful experiences when they understand how the components of a course connect together, when they have guidance on how to study, and when they are encouraged to take ownership of their learning. Possible approaches:

Instructor explanations about the learning goals and overall design or organization of the course

Context or rationale to explain the purpose and relevance of major tasks and assignments

Guidance or resources for ancillary skills necessary to complete assignments, such as conducting library research or using technology tools

Opportunities for students to take ownership or leadership in their learning, such as by choosing topics of interest for an assignment or leading a group discussion or meeting

Opportunities for students to reflect on their learning process, including their goals, study strategies, and progress

Opportunities for students to provide feedback on the course

Please comment on this dimension of the proposed course (or select methods above):

As students are working on their final projects, they will be encouraged to reach out to their peers and share plans and ideas for their project. This will be a particular discussion board prompt on Carmen Canvas. While each of the projects should be unique, there are many ideas and approaches that students will be able to offer and share with each other. Moreover, when students participate in the weekly discussion board forum, they will be responding to each other's thoughts, opinions, and comments. There are also six question and answer forums to address any concerns students have about the course, exams, projects, and/or assignments. If the students decide to attend, then this will be an additional opportunity for them to interact with me and their peers. The forums will be recorded for those students who are unable to attend.

I have completed and signed off on the preliminary distance learning review for the AFANST 2081 African American History 1877-Present Syllabus course approval proposal (see signed Cover Sheet attached). This syllabus includes all required syllabus elements and provides an overview of the course expectations. I have a few recommendations that I think will improve the course design, add clarity to the syllabus, and support a successful review by the faculty curriculum committee:

- On page 2, under “General Education Expected Learning Outcomes”, I do not recognize these ELOs and suspect they are actually course specific and not the prescribed GE ELOs. I know this course has already been approved for the Historical Studies category of the Legacy GE and I assume converted to the same category in the New GE. If this is the case, you should simply copy and paste the predefined Goals and ELOs for this category in the New GE. You can find these here: <https://oaa.osu.edu/ohio-state-ge-program>. If you wish to also include the goals and ELOs from the Legacy GE historical studies category (since you will likely have students fulfilling both programs with the course for the next few transition years), you can find these here: <https://asccas.osu.edu/curriculum/general-education-goals-and-expected-learning-outcomes>. In the event that you’d like to propose this course for the new REGD category, you can find those same GE Goals/ELOs in the same place. You can view some excellent examples of what this should look like here: <https://asccas.osu.edu/new-ge-sample-proposals>
- When reviewing the course proposal, the amount of Direct Instruction is difficult to access. I think it likely the faculty panel will request additional information about this for an asynchronous course, to verify that the course plan includes 3 hours per week of direct instruction. In the DL Cover Sheet, you mention a weekly video recording response to discussion. I recommend clarifying this by specifying the average length of weekly lectures/commentary and fleshing out the Workload Estimation section of the Cover Sheet to include specific expectations of student workload (ie... 90 minutes viewing recording, 3 hours independent reading, 1 hour writing and responding to discussion questions, etc...). These should add up to 9 total hours per week of instruction for a 3-credit course, 3 of which considered “direct instruction”. I also recommend including a summarized version of this in the “How This Online Course Works” section of the course syllabus, to increase transparency and encourage student metacognitive reflection on what success looks like in this asynchronous course.
- When considering the course design from the perspective of facilitating student interaction and a community of learners, it seems the course would benefit from structured activity that will support this, in addition to the discussion board activities. I wonder if a peer review assignment in between the paper/project proposal and final submission might be worthwhile. The TLRC recently published an informative article on how to structure this within Carmen: <https://teaching.resources.osu.edu/teaching-topics/implementing-peer-review-your>

- There are several different types of writing assignments for this course (Discussion forums, Reading Worksheets, Weekly Reflections, and Final Paper). Providing rubrics for each assignment would greatly benefit student understanding of course expectations. Our office recently published a great article that provides a guide to using Rubrics in Carmen:
<https://ascode.osu.edu/guide-using-carmen-rubrics>
