Time & Space Travel in Science Fiction

Autumn Semester 20xx

Tuesday, Thursday 4.10pm-5.30pm, Mendenhall Lab 175

Instructor: Clare Simmons. Office: Denney 571; e-mail simmons.9@osu.edu.

Office hours: Tuesday and Thursday 11.30am-12.30pm and by appointment in Denney 571; most Tuesdays and Thursdays I am also available before class.

ABOUT THIS COURSE: Traveling to different lands and times has been a classic trope in science fiction before the term "science fiction" even existed, because it has allowed writers to reimagine our relationships to our lived environments by inviting comparisons to imaginary lands and imaginary times. In this class, we will read literature that invites such comparison thereby allowing us to ask two critical questions. 1) How can this imaginative literature allow us to see our own world—the management of resources and the various arrangements of human life in relationship to the Earth—in an entirely new ways? 2) How can this literature inspire future projects and visions of alternative (and better) ways for humans to interact with their lived environments?

Specific course goals. Successful students will:

- Analyze literature across media, studying each work in its particular historical context.
- Engage in literary analysis (textual citation, close reading, historical contextualization, etc.) in written essays.
- Compare and contrast 1) the lived environments described by the literary works; 2) the lived environments of the authors that created the works; and 3) the lived environments of our contemporary world.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

The main requirements for this course are one paper, a research poster, a collaborative project, and quizzes and a final exam in similar format to the quizzes. We will discuss these in class nearer the due dates; you can also find additional information on Carmen.

Essay: The essay must be on a work we have read for class. Choose one of the following topics and write a 1,000-1,500 word essay showing your own thoughts about one or two of the works that we have read so far. Your essay should have a thesis (the big point you are arguing) supported by evidence from the text. It must include at least some direct quotation from the text, and show how you respond to the environments imagined in the work. If you use any outside sources—you are not required to do so—please include a Works Cited page and ensure that all references to the work of others are fully documented.

Option 1: Compare and contrast specific aspects of the future worlds imagined in two of the texts we have read. (Note: I'm encouraging you here to focus on some of the ideas about the future world, rather than trying to cover everything.) Would you describe these aspects as utopian? Dystopian? A mixture of the two? And do you think the author of the work would agree with your reading of the text?

Option 2: Through the use of specific examples from the text, discuss the representation of gender, race, or economic relations in one, or at the most two, of the works that we have read so far. Even when imagining past or future, can authors escape from the cultural assumptions of their own time and culture?

Research Poster: I am asking everyone to create a poster display serving as an introduction to a work we have not read or viewed for class. You have probably seen many movies and television shows involving time travel; and/or you may have read books or graphic novels about traveling through time. In this course we couldn't sample them all—so this is your opportunity to become an expert on a work not studied for this class. Choose a work, and make a poster presentation (or laptop slide if you prefer) that does the following:

- a) Gives identifying information about the work (for example, writer, publication date, movie date)
- b) Includes a clear summary of the story (150-250 words approx.), explaining how it represents an environment.
- c) Includes something visual that will attract viewers' interest
- d) Tells others in at least 100 words why you are attracted or repelled by its representation of a specific environment.
- e) Includes bibliographical references to at least two outside sources.

Imagined World (group project): I am asking everyone to create an "imagined world"—either what they think the future will be like, or a past that has been messed up by time travel! I'd encourage you to do this in groups (maximum 5 people per group) but if you prefer to work alone, that's fine too. Then create a presentation of up to ten minutes to explain your concept to the class that includes both text and something visual, explaining clearly what kind of environment you imagine, and making it clear whether you regard it as an improvement on our world, or decidedly worse. You can do this through a slide presentation if you wish, but you are welcome to think of other ways to do this—maybe a map or model, a video, or even acting.

Quizzes/Exams: There will be no in-person exams for this course; I will post quizzes and exams to Carmen and you can complete them in your own time. They are designed not only to test your reading knowledge but also to give you scope to express your own thoughts about the environments represented in the texts. In most instances I will provide a passage from readings discussed in class, then ask you specific questions that ask you to demonstrate your knowledge of how poetry works. The questions will also give you an opportunity to express your own opinions on how the environment is imagined. The final exam will ask you to combine a reading response and a short essay that makes comparisons between worlds represented in the course. You are welcome to make use of the texts, your notes, and my PowerPoints in completing your responses.

Careful reading in advance, regular attendance, and active participation are required to ensure that we have good class discussions. It is my intention to make a note of who attends and who does not, whether we meet in person or online. I am making the attendance policy more generous than usual in the current circumstances, but more than 4 absences will affect your participation grade, and anyone who is absent more than 8 times without notifying me will receive a fail for the course. Please try not to be late: missing more than 10 minutes of a class counts as half an absence. If you know you must miss a class, please let me know in advance; after-the-fact absences require documentation such as a doctor's note. Conversely, if I have to miss a class unexpectedly (I haven't done this in 30 years, but there could always be a first time), I'll send you an e-mail as early as I can.

CURRENT EMERGENCY

I am hoping that by the time this class begins we will all be vaccinated and physically able to attend the In-person class sessions. Nevertheless, everyone in the class should obey local and Ohio State-specific mandates regarding mask wearing and social distancing. If you are feeling unwell, please do not come to class; I will provide a Zoom link if necessary.

PLAGIARISM AND ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT

Plagiarism is the unauthorized use of the words or ideas of another person by presenting them as one's own. You are not required to use secondary sources for your journal and portfolio; if you choose to do any research done for the assignments in this course, any words and ideas that you use must be properly documented. Committing plagiarism constitutes a serious offense that could result in a failing grade on the assignment or in the course or (depending on the circumstances) even suspension or dismissal from Ohio State.

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/.

Disability statement

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. In light of the current pandemic, students seeking to request COVID-related accommodations may do so through the university's request process, managed by Student Life Disability Services. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Student Life Disability Services. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. SLDS contact information: slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307; slds.osu.edu; 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue.

Title IX:

All students and employees at Ohio State have the right to work and learn in an environment free from harassment and discrimination based on sex or gender, and the university can arrange interim measures, provide support resources, and explain investigation options, including referral to confidential resources.

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at http://titleix.osu.edu or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator at titleix@osu.edu

Further Resources

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know are suffering from any of the aforementioned conditions, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) by visiting ccs.osu.edu or calling 614-292-5766. CCS is located on the 4th Floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th Floor of Lincoln Tower. You can reach an on call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766 and 24 hour emergency help is also available 24/7 by dialing 988 to reach the Suicide and Crisis Lifeline.

Finally:

If you have any questions or concerns, do let me know. I'm looking forward to having you in this class.

GE THEME COURSES

Overview

Courses that are accepted into the General Education (GE) Themes must meet two sets of Expected Learning Outcomes (ELOs): those common for all GE Themes and one set specific to the content of the Theme. This form begins with the criteria common to all themes and has expandable sections relating to each specific theme.

A course may be accepted into more than one Theme if the ELOs for each theme are met. Courses seeing approval for multiple Themes will complete a submission document for each theme. Courses seeking approval as a 4-credit, Integrative Practices course need to complete a similar submission form for the chosen practice. It may be helpful to consult your Director of Undergraduate Studies or appropriate support staff person as you develop and submit your course.

Please enter text in the boxes to describe how your class will meet the ELOs of the Theme to which it applies. Please use language that is clear and concise and that colleagues outside of your discipline will be able to follow. You are encouraged to refer specifically to the syllabus submitted for the course, since the reviewers will also have that document Because this document will be used in the course review and approval process, you should be as specific as possible, listing concrete activities, specific theories, names of scholars, titles of textbooks etc.

Accessibility

If you have a disability and have trouble accessing this document or need to receive the document in another format, please reach out to Meg Daly at daly.66@osu.edu or call 614-247-8412.
