- Updated syllabus based on feedback. Resubmitting. (by Carmichael, Phoebe Cullen on 12/09/2022 11:38 AM)
- Please see feedback emails sent 11-21-22 RLS (by Steele,Rachel Lea on 11/21/2022 11:08 AM)
- Please consult with Ila Nagar. This course has been resubmitted incorrectly for the second time. She is having the necessary conversations and has indicated that:

Dear Bernadette,

The debate on this course continued for a while. We concluded that we would submit the course for only REGD for now.

Since Noah has left, once Natasha has access to the system, we will send this one back to the que.

Thanks so much for your guidance on this.

IIa (by Vankeerbergen, Bernadette Chantal on 08/31/2022 05:21 PM)

 Resubmitting with just LVPA and REGD, as originally intended, no HCS, as internal conversation with the department determined we are okay without HCS. (by Blacker, Noah on 08/30/2022 08:45 PM)

Arabic 2241: Contemporary Arab Cultures: Arts, Mass Media, Society

This course explores the intersecting political, artistic, and intellectual currents and practices that have shaped contemporary Arab cultures. It is organized as a survey of different social realities, cultural practices, and expressions of identity in Arab societies and diasporas including: the Arabic language and its varieties, music, poetry, television & cinema, theatre and more. We will critically examine various meanings of Arab identity and ethnicity through the lens of gender and ethnicity, explore different frameworks for understanding the notion of "culture," and appreciate the diversity of ways that Arab cultures are understood and expressed. We will read overview chapters from The Cambridge Companion to Modern Arab Culture and engage with literature, film, mass media, cuisine, art, and music from Arab regions. Through readings, lectures, and discussions we will cultivate a learning community that supports the dignity, self-reflection, and intellectual development of each member and the whole. This course is taught in English and no knowledge of Arabic is required.

Course Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course, students should successfully be able to:

- appreciate and understand some of the complexity of modern Arab cultures and the ways that they have changed over time
- analyze Arab identity in different contexts and through a variety of intersection categories, including ethnicity, language, religion, national identity, race, and gender
- discuss and analyze artistic and cultural practices in the Arab world within dynamic political, historical, aesthetic, and intellectual contexts
- identify regional, national, and ethnic borders and specificities in the region while recognizing the fluidity between those categories
- understand and compare key theories of culture and critically assess them in a variety of contexts
- identify and examine their own implicit beliefs about culture and social identities
- locate, evaluate, and synthesize appropriate information sources on topics in Arab cultures

General Education

GEN Foundations: Race, Ethnicity, and Gender Diversity Historical and Cultural Studies. GEL: Global Studies; Cultures and Ideas

GEN Foundation: Race Ethnicity Gender Diversity Goals and ELOs

GOAL 1: Successful students will engage in a systematic assessment of how historically and socially constructed categories of race, ethnicity, and gender, and possibly others, shape perceptions, individual outcomes, and broader societal, political, economic, and cultural systems

ELO 1.1: Successful students are able to describe and evaluate the social positions and representations of categories including race, gender, and ethnicity, and possibly others.

ELO 1.2: Successful students are able to explain how categories including race, gender, and ethnicity continue to function within complex systems of power to impact individual lived experiences and broader societal issues.

ELO 1.3: Successful students are able to analyze how the intersection of categories including race, gender, and ethnicity combine to shape lived experiences.

ELO 1.4: Successful students are able to evaluate social and ethical implications of studying race, gender, and ethnicity.

GOAL 2: Successful students will recognize and compare a range of lived experiences of race, gender, and ethnicity

ELO 2.1: Successful students are able to demonstrate critical self- reflection and critique of their social positions and identities

ELO 2.2: Successful students are able to recognize how perceptions of difference shape one's own attitudes, beliefs, or behaviors

ELO 2.3: Successful students are able to describe how the categories of race, gender, and ethnicity influence the lived experiences of others

How this course addresses these goals:

During the semester, students will engage with different understandings and expressions of Arab culture and consider the role of intersecting social identities such as race, ethnicity, and gender in shaping and interpreting cultures. We will read overviews of different forms and practices of culture and discuss a variety of primary sources such as novels, poetry, visual art, architecture, and film. In learning about the history and present of arts, mass media, and culture of the modern Arab world we will appreciate their diversity and the way that intersecting social identities contribute to them. Students will inquire into their own understandings of race, gender, and ethnicity and put these in dialogue with those they encounter in readings, class discussions, and other course materials. Throughout the semester we will be attentive to local, regional, and global constructions of race, gender, and ethnicity and how they shape lived experience and social structures in the Arabic-speaking region and their diasporas. As active participants in the process, students will reflect on their own beliefs individually and in dialogue with other members of the learning community.

GEL: Global Studies; Cultures and Ideas

This course fulfills the General Education (GE) requirement for non-western / global studies and cultures and ideas, which will help students become educated, productive, and principled citizens of their nation in an increasingly globalized world.

Global Studies: Students understand the systematic study of human behavior and cognition; the structure of human societies, cultures, and institutions; and the processes by which individuals, groups, and societies interact, communicate, and use human, natural, and economic resources.

ELO.1 Students understand some of the political, economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects of one or more of the world's nations, peoples and cultures outside the U.S.

ELO 2. Students recognize the role of national and international diversity in shaping their own attitudes and values as global citizens.

Cultures and Ideas: Students evaluate significant cultural phenomena and ideas in order to develop capacities for aesthetic and historical response and judgment; and interpretation and evaluation.

ELO 1. Students analyze and interpret major forms of human thought, culture, and expression. ELO 2. Students evaluate how ideas influence the character of human beliefs, the perception of reality, and the norms which guide human behavior.

How this course addresses these goals:

Arabic 2241 critically evaluates the term culture and delves into the fields of study associated with it. Students study Arabic-speaking societies on their local, regional, and global scales. On the one hand. This means studying some of the "economic, cultural, physical, social, and philosophical aspects" that have converged to create modern understandings of Arab cultures and identity. On the other, it means analyzing and contextualizing different forms of cultural practices and forms of artistic expression that are present in the Arabic-speaking region. Throughout the course, we learn about specific art forms and cultural practices while engaging with specific examples (such as a novel, poetry, visual art, humor) in order to appreciate the aesthetics and politics within each individual articulation of an art form and how they participate in larger trends and conversations.

All other materials will be provided on Canvas or on OSU Library streaming services.

Course requirements:

Weekly assignments 15%

Description: In a typical week students will complete and turn in an assignment that engages course materials in different ways. We will use a variety of formats, for example, quizzes, participation in discussion board, and creative work.

Academic integrity and collaboration: Students are encouraged to study together but will only submit their own work. Collaboration is not allowed on quizzes.

Participation 15%

Participation is an important component of the learning process. It helps you activate your knowledge and process course materials. We recognize that participation may mean different things to different learners. In this course, participation can include a variety of practices, such as contributing to group and class discussion, listening to and responding to your peers, and reflecting on ideas through in-class writing and reflection assignments. In some classes, you will be asked to turn in written reflections on texts or discussions.

Regular attendance is essential for success in this course. You have three absences allotted before they start affecting your participation grade. After that, 3% of your grade will be deducted for each additional missed class. Please talk to the instructor if you have an extended situation that is preventing your from being in class. Excellent attendance can only improve your participation grade!

Academic integrity and collaboration: You are encouraged to collaborate with your peers during our synchronous Zoom discussions.

Written Reflections 30% (2x15%)

At the end of the middle two units, there will be a written or assignment or creative / hands-on project due that aims to synthesize and develop your knowledge of the topics studied.

Academic integrity and collaboration: Reach out to your instructor or the Middle East Librarian for inquiries.

Map + Concept Quiz 10%

Knowing your geography and the foundations of Arab cultural studies is important. Early on in the semester, you will be quizzed on the natural and political geography of the Arab World as well as the culture concepts and intersecting categories of identities we have read about and discussed.

Academic integrity and collaboration: Students are encouraged to study together, but not collaborate with others in taking the quiz.

Group Input for end of unit conversations 5%

The course is divided into smaller collaboration groups. These groups will each be responsible for giving their input and co-planning end of unit conversations with instructor.

Attend an event 5%

Attend an event of your choosing (in-person or online) that relates to the themes of the class. I will share events such as lectures, webinars, online film streaming with you as I find out about them. One option is to create your own event (for example, watch a film and organize an online conversation with friends / members of the class. Write a brief reflection on the event and post on Carmen.

Final Project 20%

Our final project consists of a short (approximately 500 words) review of a cultural object (book, film, poetry collection, album) or event (concert, dance performance, public discussion, etc.) that relates to Arab cultures. The review should be engaging and target a general audience while also being anchored in the field of Arab cultural studies. You will select and image to accompany the review. We will post the reviews to a shared course blog: https://u.osu.edu/arabic2241/

Academic integrity and collaboration: Reach out to your instructor or the Middle East Librarian for inquiries.

Late assignments: Please contact your instructor if you believe you will have trouble meeting a deadline.

Final grades will be calculated as follows:

Academic Misconduct:

It is the responsibility of the Committee on Academic Misconduct to investigate or establish procedures for the investigation of all reported cases of student academic misconduct. The term "academic misconduct" includes all forms of student academic misconduct wherever committed; illustrated by, but not limited to, cases of plagiarism and dishonest practices in connection with examinations. Instructors shall report all instances of alleged academic misconduct to the committee (Faculty Rule 3335-5-487). For additional information, see the Code of Student Conduct http://studentlife.osu.edu/csc/.

Disability Services:

The University strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability (including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions), please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Student Life Disability Services. After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. SLDS contact information: slds@osu.edu; 614-292-3307; slds.osu.edu; 098 Baker Hall, 113 W. 12th Avenue.

Mental Health:

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. The Ohio State University offers services to assist you with addressing these and other concerns you may be experiencing. If you or someone you know are suffering from any of the aforementioned conditions, you can learn more about the broad range of confidential mental health services available on campus via the Office of Student Life's Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) by visiting ccs.osu.edu or calling 614-292-5766. CCS is located on the 4th Floor of the Younkin Success Center and 10th Floor of Lincoln Tower. You can reach an on call counselor when CCS is closed at 614-292-5766 and 24 hour emergency help is also available 24/7 by dialing 988 to reach the Suicide and Crisis Lifeline.

Sexual misconduct / relationship violence:

Title IX makes it clear that violence and harassment based on sex and gender are Civil Rights offenses subject to the same kinds of accountability and the same kinds of support applied to offenses against other protected categories (e.g., race). If you or someone you know has been sexually harassed or assaulted, you may find the appropriate resources at http://titleix.osu.edu or by contacting the Ohio State Title IX Coordinator at titleix@osu.edu

Diversity:

The Ohio State University affirms the importance and value of diversity in the student body. Our programs and curricula reflect our multicultural society and global economy and seek to provide opportunities for students to learn more about persons who are different from them. We are committed to maintaining a community that recognizes and values the inherent worth and dignity of every person; fosters sensitivity, understanding, and mutual respect among each member of our community; and encourages each individual to strive to reach his or her own potential. Discrimination against any individual based upon protected status, which is defined as age, color, disability, gender identity or expression, national origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status, is prohibited.

Land Acknowledgement

We would like to acknowledge the land that The Ohio State University occupies is the ancestral and contemporary territory of the Shawnee, Potawatomi, Delaware, Miami, Peoria, Seneca, Wyandotte, Ojibwe and many other Indigenous peoples. Specifically, the university resides on land ceded in the 1795 Treaty of Greeneville and the forced removal of tribes through the Indian Removal Act of 1830. As a land grant institution, we want to honor the resiliency of these tribal nations and recognize the historical contexts that has and continues to affect the Indigenous peoples of this land.

GE Foundation Courses

Overview

Courses that are accepted into the General Education (GE) Foundations provide introductory or foundational coverage of the subject of that category. Additionally, each course must meet a set of Expected Learning Outcomes (ELO). Courses may be accepted into more than one Foundation, but ELOs for each Foundation must be met. It may be helpful to consult your Director of Undergraduate Studies or appropriate support staff person as you develop and submit your course.

This form contains sections outlining the ELOs of each Foundation category. You can navigate between them using the Bookmarks function in Acrobat. Please enter text in the boxes to describe how your class meets the ELOs of the Foundation(s) to which it applies. Because this document will be used in the course review and approval process, you should use language that is clear and concise and that colleagues outside of your discipline will be able to follow. Please be as specific as possible, listing concrete activities, specific theories, names of scholars, titles of textbooks etc. Your answers will be evaluated in conjunction with the syllabus submitted for the course.

Accessibility

If you have a disability and have trouble accessing this document or need to receive the document in another format, please reach out to Meg Daly at daly.66@osu.edu or call 614-247-8412.
