Good morning,

On Monday, March 27th, the Race, Ethnicity and Gender Diversity Panel of the ASC Curriculum Committee reviewed a course proposal for International Studies/NELC 2200.

The Panel unanimously approved the request with two comments:

- a. Comment: The Panel felt that this class was an excellent example of an REGD course, and they ask if the unit(s) would allow the Panel to share their proposal as an exemplar on the Arts and Sciences Curriculum and Assessment Services website (ascas.osu.edu). Should the units/instructor(s) be amenable, please email Rachel Steele (steele.682@osu.edu) to grant permission.
- b. Comment: The Panel noticed that the Online Participation Requirements (syllabus pg. 7) ask that students log into the course every day; they offer a friendly comment that this is unusual for an online course, and they wonder if the units might have intended students to log in each weekday or even each day that class is in session.

International Studies/NELC 2200 will continue through the approval process to OAA. My office will advance the course.

Should you have any questions about the feedback of the Panel, please feel free to contact Richard Fletcher (faculty Chair of the REGD Panel; cc'd on this e-mail), or me.

Best,
Rachel

I acknowledge that the land that The Ohio State University occupies is the ancestral and contemporary territory of the Shawnee, Potawatomi, Delaware, Miami, Peoria, Seneca, Wyandotte, Ojibwe and Cherokee peoples. Specifically, the university resides on land ceded in the 1795 Treaty of Greenville and the forced removal of tribes through the Indian Removal Act of 1830. I honor the resiliency of these tribal nations and recognize the historical contexts that has and continues to affect the Indigenous peoples of this land.
