Course Description

College and graduate school present opportunities for academic and career development, building new social networks, and being exposed to many new opportunities and experiences. But, the university experience can also be stressful. As students begin their studies, they often experience reduced structure in their day-to-day activities, higher academic demands, and reduced access to important people in their lives. Current students in the U.S. are reporting more stress and symptoms of anxiety and depression than previous cohorts. In this class, we hope to help you develop, refine, and strengthen skills that will prepare you to overcome challenges, recover from set-backs, and make the most of opportunities. Each week we will cover a distinct topic and will highlight how you can put the ideas into practice in your life.

Course Objectives

- Learn about the theories of wellness and the empirical work that has been done to test these theories.
- Develop and utilize skills to promote your personal wellness and mental health.
- Gain a better understanding of your repertoire of personal wellness and mental health skills.

How This Online Course Works

Mode of delivery: This course is in-person. Material will be delivered via lecture in the first half of class and the second half of class will be spent in group discussions of the assignments.

Credit hours and work expectations: This is a 1 credit-hour course. According to Ohio State bylaws on instruction (go.osu.edu/credithours), students should expect around 1 hour per week of time spent on direct instruction (instructor content and Carmen activities, for example) in addition to 2 hours of homework (reading and assignment preparation, for example) to receive a grade of [C] average.

Attendance and participation requirements: Research shows regular participation is one of the highest predictors of success. With that in mind, we have the following expectations for everyone's participation:

- Students are expected to attend class and participate in class discussions and exercises. In order to adequately participate in class discussions, it is important to come to class prepared. This requires that you complete the reading for the week before each class meeting. This class is meant to be a way for you to develop and refine skills you can use to improve your wellness and mental health. As such, the most important aspect of this class is that you are open to learning new skills and engaging in exercises in class.
- Participation grades will be based on points earned through attendance checks, which will consist of a question you can answer at the end of class each meeting. Every week (14 total) there will be an attendance check worth 10 points. Students can earn points for up to 12 attendance checks (120 points total), which allows students to miss two classes without any negative impact on their grade. Because attendance and participation are such a big part of this class and there are opportunities for every student to both miss two classes, there is no need to provide documentation for class absences.

Descriptions of Major Course Assignments

Experiential Exercise Journal. You will be asked to participate in an experiential exercise each week and write short (250 – 500 words) journal entries describing your experience for each. These entries should describe how you implemented the experiential exercise and reflect on how the exercise impacted (or did not impact) you. For some of the exercises, we will give you sheets to track your efforts over the week. In those weeks, turning in your completed homework sheets meets the requirement of the experiential exercise. All journal assignments should be uploaded to the course Carmen page and are due at the beginning of the class period (i.e., the minute class starts). Two points will be deducted for each day (i.e., 24 hour period from the beginning of the class period) an assignment is due. Assignments will not be accepted when they are more than 5 days late. Twelve of the assignments will be used to calculate your grade and we will automatically drop one assignment grade.

Instructor Feedback and Response Time

Other Course Policies

Discussion and Communication Guidelines

The following are our expectations for how we should communicate as a class. Above all, please remember to be respectful and thoughtful.

- Writing style: While there is no need to complete experiential journals as if you were writing a research paper, you should remember to write using good grammar, spelling, and punctuation. A more conversational tone is fine.
- Tone and civility: Let's maintain a supportive learning community where everyone feels safe and where people can disagree amicably. Remember that sarcasm doesn't always come across well.
- Backing up your work: Consider composing your academic posts in a word processor, where you can save your work, and then copying into the Carmen discussion.

Academic Integrity Policy

See Descriptions of Major Course Assignments for specific guidelines about collaboration and academic integrity in the context of this online class.

Ohio State's Academic Integrity Policy

Academic integrity is essential to maintaining an environment that fosters excellence in teaching, research, and other educational and scholarly activities. Thus, The Ohio State University and the Committee on Academic Misconduct (COAM) expect that all students have read and understand the university's Code of Student Conduct (studentconduct.osu.edu), and that all students will complete all academic and scholarly assignments with fairness and honesty. Students must recognize that failure to follow the rules and guidelines established in the university's Code of Student Conduct and this syllabus may constitute "Academic Misconduct."

The Ohio State University's Code of Student Conduct (Section 3335-23-04) defines academic misconduct as: "Any activity that tends to compromise the academic integrity of the university or subvert the educational process." Examples of academic misconduct include (but are not limited to) plagiarism, collusion (unauthorized collaboration), copying the work of another student, and possession of unauthorized materials during an examination. Ignorance of the university's Code of Student Conduct is never considered an excuse for academic misconduct, so I recommend that you review the Code of Student Conduct and, specifically, the sections dealing with academic misconduct.

If I suspect that a student has committed academic misconduct in this course, I am obligated by university rules to report my suspicions to the Committee on Academic Misconduct. If COAM determines that you have violated the university's Code of Student Conduct (i.e., committed academic misconduct), the sanctions for the misconduct could include a failing grade in this course and suspension or dismissal from the university. If you have any questions about the above policy or what constitutes academic misconduct in this course, please contact me.

Creating an Environment Free from Harassment, Discrimination, and Sexual Misconduct

The Ohio State University is committed to building and maintaining a community to reflect diversity and to improve opportunities for all. All Buckeyes have the right to be free from harassment, discrimination, and sexual misconduct. Ohio State does not discriminate on the basis of age, ancestry, color, disability, ethnicity, gender, gender identity or expression, genetic information, HIV/AIDS status, military status, national origin, pregnancy (childbirth, false pregnancy, termination of pregnancy, or recovery therefrom), race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status, or any other bases under the law, in its activities, academic programs, admission, and employment. Members of the university community also have the right to be free from all forms of sexual misconduct: sexual harassment, sexual assault, relationship violence, stalking, and sexual exploitation.

To report harassment, discrimination, sexual misconduct, or retaliation and/or seek confidential and non-confidential resources and supportive measures, contact the Office of Institutional Equity:

1. Online reporting form at equity.osu.edu,
2. Call 614-247-5838 or TTY 614-688-8605,
3. Or email equity@osu.edu

The university is committed to stopping sexual misconduct, preventing its recurrence, eliminating any hostile environment, and remedying its discriminatory effects. All university employees have reporting responsibilities to the Office of Institutional Equity to ensure the university can take appropriate action:

- All university employees, except those exempted by legal privilege of confidentiality or expressly identified as a confidential reporter, have an obligation to report incidents of sexual assault immediately.
- The following employees have an obligation to report all other forms of sexual misconduct as soon as practicable but at most within five workdays of becoming aware of such information: 1. Any human resource professional (HRP); 2. Anyone who supervises faculty, staff, students, or volunteers; 3. Chair/director; and 4. Faculty member.

Your Mental Health

As a student you may experience a range of issues that can cause barriers to learning, such as strained relationships, increased anxiety, alcohol/drug problems, feeling down, difficulty concentrating and/or lack of motivation. These mental health concerns or stressful events may lead to diminished academic performance or reduce a student's ability to participate in daily activities. No matter where you are engaged in distance learning, The Ohio State University's Student Life Counseling and Consultation Service (CCS) is here to support you. If you find yourself feeling isolated, anxious or overwhelmed, on-demand mental health resources (go.osu.edu/ccsondemand) are available. You can reach an on-call counselor when CCS is closed at 614- 292-5766. 24-hour emergency help is available through the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline website (suicidepreventionlifeline.org) or by calling 1-800-273-8255\(TALK\). The Ohio State Wellness app (go.osu.edu/wellnessapp) is also a great resource.

Accessibility Accommodations for Students with Disabilities

Requesting Accommodations

The university strives to make all learning experiences as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience academic barriers based on your disability including mental health, chronic or temporary medical conditions, please let me know immediately so that we can privately discuss options. To establish reasonable accommodations, I may request that you register with Student Life Disability Services \(SLDS\). After registration, make arrangements with me as soon as possible to discuss your accommodations so that they may be implemented in a timely fashion. In light of the current pandemic, students seeking to request COVID-related accommodations may do so through the university's request process, managed by Student Life Disability Services.
