No change in content or prerequisites, only the course title change by appending II at the end. We also plan to offer E841 Advanced Econometrics I, which we have long offered under E970 (Econometrics Seminar). A separate new course request for E841 will be submitted later. E841 will not be a prerequisite to E842, as the two courses will focus on different topics. Students can take either E841 or E842 after E742 in econometrics. Adding II at the end makes the existing E842 course title match actual sequencing and orientation of our graduate econometrics program.
