Good afternoon,

On Wednesday, Nov. 26th, the Arts and Humanities 1 Subcommittee of the ASC Curriculum Committee reviewed a course change proposal for Latin 6891

The Subcommittee unanimously approved the request with two recommendations:

- The Subcommittee recommends providing additional information on the course assignments, especially the research paper, found on page 2 of the syllabus. Specifically, they recommend providing more information on the specific requirements of each assignment and the process for students to work with the instructor to determine their research paper topic.
- The Subcommittee recommends updating several course policy statements, as they have been recently updated. All statements can be found on the ASC Curriculum and Assessment Services website:
 - Student Life – Disability Services (page 6 of the syllabus)
 - Mental Health (page 6 of the syllabus)
 - Diversity (page 5 of the syllabus)

As a reminder, recommendations (in italics above) should be implemented when the course is next taught. Latin 6891 will continue through the approval process to the Graduate School.

Should you have any questions about the feedback of the Subcommittee, please feel free to contact Tom Dugdale (faculty Chair of the Arts and Humanities 1 Subcommittee; cc'd on this e-mail), or me.

Best,
Rachel

I acknowledge that the land that The Ohio State University occupies is the ancestral and contemporary territory of the Shawnee, Potawatomi, Delaware, Miami, Peoria, Seneca, Wyandotte, Ojibwe and Cherokee peoples. Specifically, the university resides on land ceded in the 1795 Treaty of Greenville and the forced removal of tribes through the Indian Removal Act of 1830. I honor the resiliency of these tribal nations and recognize the historical contexts that has and continues to affect the Indigenous peoples of this land.
